

ALDERMEN VOTE MEASURE FIXING
DANIEL BOONE
ROUTE INTO CITY

Also Adopt Ordinance
Authorizing Contracts With State Highway Department on Expressway.

An ordinance establishing the route of the Daniel Boone Expressway from the St. Louis city limits to its proposed terminus downtown was passed today by the Board of Aldermen.

Also enacted was an ordinance authorizing the city to enter into contracts with the State Highway Department for completion of that portion of the highway between the city limits and the connection with the Express Highway in Forest Park.

The Highway Department said negotiations would start in the next two or three months on acquisition of the 6-mile of right-of-way covered by the contract.

County Already Has Acted.
Since the St. Louis County Council has enacted similar legislation with respect to the county portions of the expressway, the route has now been officially fixed from its present end at Brentwood boulevard and Eager road to the downtown area.

The city route, beginning at the city limits near West Park avenue, crosses McCausland avenue between Berthold and Wise avenues and spans Clayton avenue at Central avenue. It crosses Oakland avenue near Grand View place and makes a connection with the present Express Highway at Grand View place.

Following the Express Highway to Tower Grove avenue, the route angles southwardly under Boyle avenue and up onto an overpass that will bring it into Market street at Spring avenue.

Continuing along Market to Compton avenue, the route swings southeast, crossing Jefferson avenue and Twenty-first street near Randolph street, crossing Eighteenth street south of Clark avenue, crossing Sixteenth street at Spruce street and crossing Fourteenth street between Spruce and Clark. Twelfth street is crossed just north of Clark and the route ends on Tenth street between Walnut street and Clark.

Also enacted were two appropriation measures. One was a supplemental appropriation of $25,000 for replacement of the expansion joints in the roadway of MacArthur Bridge. The sum of $100,000 is being appropriated for this purpose, but bids received exceeded this amount and the job was enlarged later.

The other bill appropriates $6000 for the acquisition of three radio-equipped automobiles for the office of Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd, who had requested this measure. The measure was opposed by Alderman William A. Stolar, Twenty-eighth Ward Republican, but it was passed, 18 to 2.

Two vetoes by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker were sustained by the Board. Alderman Alfred L. Harris's measure to close Maffitt avenue from Clara avenue west to the west boundary of St. Edward's School had been disapproved by the Mayor. The advice of the City Counselor on the ground that it constituted an improper use of the city's police powers.

When Harris realized that only 22 aldermen were present and that overriding of the veto would require at least 20 votes, he sought to interrupt the roll call but was unsuccessful.

The vote in favor of overriding was 15 to 7, five short of the number needed. Harris had contended the street closing, which would have been in effect only from 7 to 9 a.m. and from noon to 1:30 p.m., was needed for the protection of the school children.

The second bill vetoed was one by Alderman Everett Taylor to establish stop signs at four intersections. Mayor Tucker said one intersection at North Pointe boulevard and Vivian avenue was already covered by making North Pointe a major street recently.

The other intersections were Harney and Beacon avenues, Harney and Claxton avenues and Gladys avenue and Park Lane. The Mayor said that traffic counts showed the stop signs were unnecessary. Taylor, absent because of illness, had sent word he favored sustaining the veto.

135 SUN SPOTS
OBSERVED IN NEW MAGNETIC STORM

SACRAMENTO PEAK OBSERVATORY, N. M., Feb. 17 (AP)—A new burst of magnetic storms, believed to be among the largest ever observed, has broken out on the sun. Howard D. Mastus, Harvard University observer at this Air Force installation, said there was a huge flare seen on the sun's rim yesterday, and then a vast rash of 135 sun spots was observed.

It was almost triple the number of magnetic storms he reported when the current rash broke out last Friday. At that time, the scientist reported 51 magnetic storms were seen on the sun.

The 135 storms covered half the visible disk of the sun, he said, and the area was half a million miles across. The Sacramento Peak observatory, atop a 9200-foot mountain, about eight miles from Alamogordo, is the only one in the United States keeping a continuous watch on solar activity.

U.S. HALTS TANK SHIPMENT TO SAUDI ARABIA
AFTER PROTEST

Democratic Senators, Israel Object to Sale of 18 Vehicles—
State Department Holds Up License.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—With the White House taking a hand, the State Department early today canceled a shipment of 18 American light tanks destined for Saudi Arabia.

Announcement just nine hours earlier that the tanks were to be shipped from New York today had drawn denunciations from a number of Democrats in the Senate and a cry of protest from the Israeli Embassy.

The State Department has been delaying action on Israel's request to buy $50,000,000 worth of American arms for several months, pleading it wanted to avoid an arms race in the Middle East.

Ordered Last Spring.

The Department explained Saudi Arabia had ordered the tanks last spring under a 1951 arms assistance agreement with this country, and that the sale had been approved early last fall. Press officer Lincoln White said they were to be used in connection with a United States military training mission's operations there.

The State Department has taken the position that the sale of arms to Egypt by Communist Czechoslovakia tended to upset the power balance in the Middle East. Opponents of the sale of tanks to Saudi Arabia argued any shipment of American weapons to an Arab country would give Russia a tailor-made argument that it was all right for the Reds to supply arms to the Arabs since the United States was doing the same thing.

Apparently with these considerations in mind, the State Department backtracked quickly.

Shortly after midnight it announced: "All export permits of arms to the Middle East are being temporarily suspended pending further examination."

In response to a query, press officer White said he knew of no such pending permit except that covering the tanks scheduled for shipment on the S. S. James Monroe for Damman, Saudi Arabia.

At about the same time, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty called in newspaper men covering President Eisenhower's vacation retreat at Thomaston, Ga.

The President understands that the Department of State is suspending export licenses to that area," Hagerty said, adding that by "that area" he meant Saudi Arabia.

He said in response to a question that in saying Mr. Eisenhower "understands" the action was being taken, he meant suspension was being ordered.

Hagerty had said earlier he was trying without success to get in touch with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who is vacationing in the Bahamas.

Whether he did reach Dulles or whether Mr. Eisenhower took direct action either personally or through aids with him in Georgia—was not clear.

Hagerty referred all questions seeking clarification to the State Department.

Meeting Arranged.

Saudi Arabia's ambassador, Abdullah Al-Khayyal, arranged a conference with Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen, the department's top expert on the Middle East, late today.

GAS BILL AUTHOR
SAYS VETO CAN'T BE OVERRIDDEN

Representative Harris Doubts Attempt Will Be Made—Opponents
Are Jubilant.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (UP)—Representative Oren Harris (Dem., Ark.) co-author of the natural gas bill, conceded today that Congress cannot override President Eisenhower's veto of the measure.

Harris said he doubts if Congressional leaders will even attempt to override the veto, "because it can't be done."

He accused Mr. Eisenhower of "one of the rankest kinds of demagogues" in his veto message.

"The President has made a dastardly attack on the Congress," Harris said, "and put a stain on one of the greatest industries in our country because the representative of one company made a stupid mistake."

This was an obvious reference to the $200,000 contribution proffered to Senator Francis Case (Rep., South Dakota), by a representative of the Superior Oil Co. of California.

Opponents Jubilant.

Opponents of the bill were jubilant. Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wisconsin), danced what he called "a jig" for photographers. He told newsmen, "I think it's an indication that he (Mr. Eisenhower) has fully recovered his health—and that he is not a special pleader for any group."

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep., Vermont), another opponent, said Mr. Eisenhower "couldn't have done anything else."

"In full accord with the President's views and action," Aiken said. He added that the veto kills the measure for the present session of Congress "and conceivably for longer than that."

Far from overriding a veto Aiken said, supporters of the measure would be lucky to get a majority if the measure were to be voted on again in the House and Senate.

WET WEATHER
DARKENING CITY'S STREET LIGHTS

The city's electricians groaned today at the prospect of still more snow for St. Louis, because snow spells street-light trouble.

Melting snow and general wet weather have caused numerous short circuits over a period of weeks, plunging many downtown and residential streets into darkness. One circuit serves approximately 50 street lamps, and as many as 100 circuits have failed per night.

Moisture seeps into the 30-year-old underground cables, many of which have been damaged through excavation for sewers, it was explained. The problem has been aggravated by an increase in voltage to provide more illumination. Candelpower of street lights in residential areas has been increased from 100 to 150, and circuits with increased voltage are quicker to short out.

There are 52,000 street lights in the city. Last night 63 lines serving about 3150 lights were short-circuited. Electricians repaired 28 lines, but by this morning 15 more had failed.

HEAVY FOG HALTS
NIGHT OPERATIONS
AT LAMBERT FIELD

Heavy fog and a light drizzle in the St. Louis area last night halted all operations at Lambert-St. Louis Field and stopped truck traffic on county highways. No serious accidents were reported.

No planes left the airport after 6 p.m. yesterday and none landed until 5:18 a.m. today. However, the pall lifted about 1:30 o'clock this morning. Visibility at one time was reduced to one-fourth of a mile with a ceiling of 200 feet at the airport.

Truck traffic ceased on county highways after drivers were asked by the State Highway Patrol to stay off the roads until the fog lifted. In the city, fog last night reduced visibility to less than a block in many areas.

CALLS FOR NEW LEGISLATION TO PROTECT RIGHTS OF CONSUMERS

President Says He Is 'in Accord' With Principles of Measure—Cites Inquiries Under Way.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 17—President Eisenhower vetoed today the controversial bill freeing natural gas producers from direct federal controls.

In a message to Congress he said he was withholding his approval because of the "highly questionable activities" of private persons in behalf of the bill.

The President plainly was referring to the disclosure by a special Senate committee that a lawyer for an oil company interested in the bill sought to give a $2500 cash contribution to Senator Francis Case (Rep., South Dakota).

At the same time Mr. Eisenhower said he was "in accord" with the "basic objectives" of the bill, and for this reason, he added, he regretted having to veto it.

Calls for New Bill.

He called for new legislation embodying these basic aims and said a new bill "should include specific language protecting consumers in their right to fair prices."

The Senate approved the bill by a 53-38 vote earlier this month, and the House approved by a 209-203 margin last year. Both votes are short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a presidential veto and it was considered highly unlikely supporters of the bill could muster a two-thirds majority.

The veto message was interpreted by some observers as strong evidence that Mr. Eisenhower intends to run again. They speculated that the veto would provide a strong campaign argument that the Republican Administration was protecting the consumer.

Text of Message.

The text of the veto message follows: "I am unable to approve H.R. 6645 as amended. The natural gas act as amended. This I regret because I am in accord with its basic objectives.

"Since the passage of this bill, a body of evidence has accumulated indicating that private persons, apparently representing only a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by highly questionable activities. These include efforts that I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt within which the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes.

"Legally constituted agencies of government are now engaged in investigating this situation. These investigations cannot be concluded before the expiration of the 10-day period within which the President must act upon the legislation under the Constitution.

Disserve to People.

"I believe I would not be discharging my own duty were I to approve this legislation before the full activities in question have been fully investigated by the Congress and the Department of Justice. To do so under such conditions could well create long-term apprehension in the minds of the American people. It would be a disservice both to the people and to their Congress. Accordingly, I return H.R. 6645 without my approval.

"At the same time, I must make quite clear that legislation conforming to the basic objectives of H.R. 6645 is needed. It is needed because the type of regulation of producers of natural gas which is required under present law will discourage individual initiative and incentive to explore for and develop new sources of supply.

"In the long run this will limit supplies of gas, which is contrary not only to the national interest but especially to the interest of consumers.

"I feel that any new legislation, in addition to furthering the long-term interest of consumers in plentiful supplies of gas, should include specific language protecting consumers in their right to fair prices."

Angry Language.

Veteran reporters agreed that the President used the angriest language he has employed in any veto message in referring to the activities of "persons" interested in the bill.

A White House source, who declined to be identified by name, told reporters the second gas bill was "a small R."

"Republican," the teacher sang out.

No trouble at all there, and the same member advocated a "capital R."

"Bureau," was next, followed by "associate." Then came the faux pas.

"Spell Eisenhower," Mrs. Sabin commanded.

"E-I-S-E-N-H-O-U-R," replied Mrs. Eskew.

"Next?"

When the horrified committee member heard the correct spelling, she exclaimed: "What did I say?" and when told, gasped, "Oh, no!"

In Spelling With 'Eisenhour'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 17 (INS)—Mrs. Dovie Eskew, fifteenth ward Republican committeewoman, was spelled down last night in a spelling bee following a meeting—and the error was very embarrassing.

Mrs. Helen M. Sabin, who acted as "teacher," divided the 20 members into two teams, one headed by Committeewoman John W. Lee and the other by Mrs. Eskew.

"Spell 'pretty boy'—Adlai," commanded the teacher.

The member called on replied correctly.

"Now spell Democrat," said Mrs. Sabin.

PRESIDENT PLAYS GOLF IN DRIZZLE, HIS FIRST GAME SINCE ATTACK

Tells Companion Afterward He Is 'A Little Frightened' About Possible Effect on His Health.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 17.—President Eisenhower played nine holes of golf in a drizzling rain today, his first golf game since his Sept. 24 heart attack, and afterward told a companion he was "a little frightened" about the possible effect on his health.

Winding up a 90-minute game at Glen Arven Country Club here, Mr. Eisenhower sank a final putt, then turned to his partner, John Walter, golf professional at the club.

Reporters heard the President say: "I'm a little frightened, not only about my strokes, but also I'm a little frightened about myself."

Doctor Not Alarmed. However, the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, who accompanied him over the golf course, told correspondents he was not unduly concerned about the physical effect of the game.

"That's the hell of a heart attack," Snyder said. "It takes longer to get over the psychological effect than it does to get over the physical damage."

Snyder said the President appeared "all right" after the game, "but I've got to look him over." Referring to reporters and photographers who watched Mr. Eisenhower play the first and ninth holes, the physician said: "You fellows may have gotten him down."

Snyder indicated he would give Mr. Eisenhower a physical check-up later in the afternoon, to gauge his reactions to the first golf game he has played since Sept. 23.

On that day, he played 27 holes at Cherry Hills golf club in Denver. Early on the morning of the next day he suffered a coronary thrombosis.

Rusty on His Shots. Mr. Eisenhower, understanding a little rusty on his drives and iron shots after the long layoff, joined a foursome on the 18-hole course to resume his favorite sport. Despite threatening weather, he played the nine holes as he had intended.

Mr. Eisenhower and Walter took one up over their opponents, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and Lloyd Megaw, president of the country club.

For the nine holes, Mr. Eisenhower carded a 47, eleven over par for the first nine holes. However, Walter had a 37, only one over par.

The President had par on only one hole, the sixth, where he carded a four. Megaw had a 40 and Hagerty a 44.

The President took the course in an electric cart, a "golfmobile," and he seemed careful not to over-exert himself in hitting the ball.

Another "golfmobile" carried the President's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, who accompanied him over the course.

Reporters and photographers, about 40 of them—formed a "gallery" as the Eisenhower party teed off. The President, appearing fit and in good spirits, although a little pale, exchanged banter with his companions as they posed for pictures.

Turning to Walter, he remarked: "They ought to handicap fellows according to whether or not they've had a coronary." Then he asked his partner whether he had had one, and Walter told him no.

The President took a couple of practice swings and apparently was not too satisfied. He remarked to reporters: "This is probably as bad as I'll get."

He was the last to tee off, and his first two drives, although on the fairway, were low and slightly hooked to the left. He took "mulligans" and his third drive was about 220 yards straight down the middle.

Still obviously thinking of his illness, the President walked over to his electric cart after driving off the tee, saying: "I think I'd better try riding right away."

He was six, two over par, on the first hole.

The President, accompanied by Secretary Humphrey and his golfing companions, arrived shortly after 10 a.m. He was wearing a red and white checkered golf hat, tan sweater and shirt and brown trousers.

A drizzle began falling before he arrived, and a brisk wind made the weather seem chilly, despite a 68-degree temperature.

Discussing Mr. Eisenhower's activities thus far on his vacation, Hagerty yesterday painted a picture of an active man "thoroughly enjoying" the respite which has permitted him

U.S. LAWYER QUILTS POST; LINKED WITH LOBBYIST NEFF

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 17 (AP)—United States Attorney Donald R. Ross announced today he is resigning his office immediately.

Ross said in a statement that although his resignation had not been requested, it was prompted by speculation concerning his relations with John M. Neff, Lexington attorney and lobbyist whose offer of a $250,000 campaign contribution to Senator Francis Case (Rep.), South Dakota, touched off a Senate investigation.

"I have decided it would be best for me to resign," Ross said.

Ross said he had "violated no law" and had "done nothing dishonest."

Senators Roman Hruska and Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska Republicans, said earlier that Neff had urged them to vote for the gas bill last fall. Ross reportedly arranged the meetings.

He was a former mayor of Lexington, Mo., who has been United States Attorney in Omaha for the last 2½ years, said he would return to private practice.

to resume the outdoor life he likes.

Politics were pushed into the background yesterday as the President and Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, his host on this vacation trip, went on a quail hunt on the plantation.

Altogether, the President bagged 12 birds, the legal daily limit in Georgia, while Humphrey got eight. Mr. Eisenhower was using a 20-gauge shotgun, one of two he brought with him.

While the two men were out in the field—three hours in the morning and three in the afternoon—their wives and Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver, Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, drove around the plantation for an hour and a half, then spent the rest of the day indoors.

Two of the President's friends and golfing companions, William E. Robinson and John Hay (Jock) Whitney, came over in the evening to join Mr. Eisenhower and Humphrey in a bridge game after dinner.

Robinson, president of the Coca-Cola Co., is visiting Whitney, a financier and sportsman who has a plantation near Humphrey's.

There was immediate speculation that the two men, Robinson in particular, might discuss with Mr. Eisenhower the decision he must make on whether to run again.

Hagerty denied this emphatically. Robinson and Whitney, he said, were visiting the President as personal friends only. Hagerty said he doubted that anything but bridge was discussed at the bridge table.

Mr. Eisenhower has said he would consult his "trusted advisers" in making up his mind on a second term, a decision he is expected to reach on this vacation. Hagerty said he doubted that Robinson and Whitney fell in the category of "trusted advisers."

YOUTH FOUND DEAD AFTER HAZING STUNT

Body Discovered in Reservoir Week After Fraternity Initiation.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 17 (UPI)—The body of a college student who disappeared seven days ago during a fraternity "hell week" stunt was found in a reservoir today.

Divers using portable underwater lights found the body of Thomas L. Clark, 18 years old, of Harvey, Ill., a freshman at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Police said the student drowned apparently while heading back to his fraternity house after being left by members of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity on a lonely road a week ago. Clark and nine other D.K.E. pledges were let out of an automobile and told to make their way back to school as part of an initiation ceremony. The others returned safe.

NEWSMEN ON TRIP WITH EISENHOWER THINK HE WILL RUN

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 17.—A second poll of reporters traveling with President Eisenhower shows that a majority now believes he will run again. The correspondents reversed the opinion they expressed in Key West, Fla.

Sixteen of the 20 reporters who accompanied Mr. Eisenhower here voted "yes" when asked if they thought he would seek a second term. Four voted "no." The poll was taken shortly after the President arrived here.

A check made in Key West Jan. 8, just before Mr. Eisenhower left the resort city, showed that 11 reporters thought he would not run again. Only three thought he would.

The favorable medical report given by the President's doctors earlier this week obviously was the chief factor behind the switch in opinion.

There is a growing belief among some reporters that the President, when he announces his decision, may not say flatly that he will run again but may leave himself open to be "drafted" by the Republican convention.

FILES OF FIGURE IN CUBA NICKEL CASE MISSING

Project Manager Says Papers Vanished After GSA Man Photographed Them.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—A House Government Operations subcommittee investigating a Government nickel project in Cuba looked into a report today that some of a witness's private files are missing.

Randall Cremer, project manager for a $43,000,000 expansion of the Government-owned nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba, testified yesterday some of his "private, personal" business files were missing after a Government agent photographed his records last summer.

He named the agent as Arthur G. Corr, a New York investigator for the General Services Administration. Baron I. Shacklette, chief of compliance for GSA, testified the agency does not have Cremer's files.

Chairman Jack Brooks (Dem.), Texas, subpoenaed Cremer's private files and ordered Corr called as a later witness.

Repeats Earlier Testimony. Cremer yesterday repeated earlier testimony that GSA Administrator Edmund F. Mansure had suggested a Chicago political friend for insurance brokerage stemming from the project.

Mansure denied this before the subcommittee a month ago, saying neither he nor GSA steered the brokerage to the firm of his Chicago friend, Republican William J. Balmer. He said he had suggested Cremer might get advice from Balmer on midwestern brokerage firms.

Mansure last week resigned his GSA post for what he called purely personal reasons. GSA says he is staying on temporarily at White House request.

Cremer, a vice president of the Frederick Snare Corp., which was awarded half of the big construction contract, stood by his previous testimony.

"He (Mansure) said that Mr. Balmer was in the insurance business and he was a good man to go to," Cremer added.

"If Mr. Mansure had not suggested Balmer as a broker, would you have appointed a firm of Balmer and Moore for the insurance?" asked Brooks.

"No," Cremer replied.

Got Into Private Files. Telling of his missing files, Cremer said Corr had been sent ostensibly to photograph his official records connected with the insurance deal, but that Corr also got into the private files when he was outside of his office. He said Corr later assured him the private file microfilm would not get outside of GSA.

Shacklette said GSA had none of Cremer's original documents and that he had not known part of the microfilm were private files. He said he found "allegations" in the files so serious that he and Mansure sent them on to the Justice Department.

The GSA official said the "allegations" concerned the nickel project, but not the insurance end of it. He stressed that the GSA-FBI investigation may not be aimed at Cremer.

"Is all this mess possibly vengeance on the part of Mr. Mansure?" asked Representative Younger (Rep.), California.

"It is not," Shacklette said.

Malenkov Backs Soviet Program That Cost Him Job as Premier

Former Supporter of Consumer Production Indorses Heavy Industry Work at Red Congress.

MOSCOW, Feb. 17 (UPI)—Former Premier Georgi Malenkov, delivering his first major address since quitting his job a year ago, today indorsed his successor's heavy industry program as the "foundation of foundations" for the Soviet economy.

It was Malenkov's emphasis on increasing consumer industry as opposed to heavy industry that led to his resignation Feb. 8, 1955, and his confession of incompetence as Premier.

Malenkov also gave his firm support to the new Siberian power development program unveiled by Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Russian Communist party, on Tuesday.

Malenkov addressed the twentieth congress of the Communist party, which Khrushchev's speech had opened.

Three Main Points. It was learned authoritatively that Malenkov made three main points in his meeting to the closed congress session today. They were:

1. Collective leadership is an established principle in Soviet politics. (Khrushchev and other speakers have put special emphasis on this principle.)

2. Heavy industry is the "foundation of foundations" of the Soviet economy.

3. Peaceful coexistence is the basic principle of Soviet foreign policy.

Malenkov devoted most of his speech to his new job as minister for power stations, and to the electrification of the Soviet Union.

He admitted that Russia lags behind the United States in power production, but Russia's rate of increase is much higher, he said.

Malenkov emphasized the enormous power potential of Siberia. There, he said, are virtually untapped resources which are now going into exploitation with the harnessing of mighty rivers.

Khrushchev Supported. By the Associated Press. Khrushchev's assault on one-man rule is receiving loud support from the Soviet hierarchy. Echoing Khrushchev's keynote speech, Deputy Premier Mikhail Suslov leveled an attack on the cult of "one leader" before yesterday's session of the congress.

First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan also was reported to have assailed government by the individual and extolled the merits of collective leadership. Mikoyan's remarks were not reported in any detail, however.

Khrushchev had delivered a strong attack against the personality cult. Without naming the late Joseph Stalin, he said Lenin's principle of collective leadership had been violated up until a few years ago.

(Western newspaper commentators abroad felt that, despite Khrushchev's trumpeting of the collective principle, his overshadowing role before the congress showed him to be a full-fledged dictator.)

Damage Before 1952 Cited. The Soviet news agency Tass, only agency allowed in the meeting room, quoted Suslov as saying that up until the last congress in 1952, considerable damage had been inflicted on the party by practice of the one-person cult.

"Under this role," he declared, "the masses and the party in general were belittled and the idea of collective leadership lowered."

"Internal party discipline was undermined and the independence, activity and the initiative of individual party members were suppressed. This led to lack of control and lack of responsibility and even arbitrariness of separate persons."

"The principle of collective leadership at all levels . . . is now being successfully revived," Suslov asserted. "This is testified to by the increasingly growing campaign of criticism and self-criticism and, indeed, by collective discussion and settling of most important problems by party organs."

"It may be said without the least doubt that within the (party) central committee the principle of collective leadership has been recovered completely."

Further study of Khrushchev's speech of last Tuesday showed that he told the congress that "manifest distrust" of state security agencies—the secret police—exists in the Soviet Union. He said this distrust is incorrect and very harmful.

"We know," he said, "that the overwhelming majority of our state security personnel are honest people devoted to the common cause, and we trust them."

B-52 EXPLODES IN AIR; FIRST OF TYPE TO CRASH

Four Crewmen Parachute to Safety in California—3 Dead, One Missing.

THACV, Calif., Feb. 17 (AP)—An all-jet B-52 bomber exploded high over northern California late yesterday, killing at least 3 of the 8 crewmen aboard. It was the first crash of a B-52. The Air Force's new $8,000,000 intercontinental nuclear weapon carrier. There was no explanation.

Four men parachuted to safety. Three bodies were recovered in the widespread, burned wreckage. Another airman was missing.

The Air Force identified the dead and missing as:

Col. Patrick Fleming, 38 years old, deputy wing commander of the Ninety-third Bomb Wing at nearby Castle Air Force Base.

Maj. Albert K. Brown, 39, instructor pilot.

Maj. Edward L. Stefanski, 35, aircraft commander, Merced, Calif.

Capt. James Fredrickson, 32, navigator, Atwater, Calif.

The Air Force said none of the three bodies recovered had been identified and that all four were listed as missing.

The big plane, based at Castle Air Force Base, was on a training flight to familiarize crewmen of the earlier B-36 propeller-jet bombers with the newer and faster craft.

There was an explosion when we were over Sacramento," said Maj. Harold F. Karger of Atwater, Calif., one of the survivors. "It knocked out the inter-com system. A few minutes later there was a second explosion. I bailed out. We were at 32,000 feet."

Delayed Opening Shuttle. "I didn't open my chute until I had dropped quite a distance because I had stripped off my helmet and had no oxygen supply."

Karger, suffering burns and a fractured arm, was interviewed at San Joaquin General Hospital in Stockton, 20 miles northeast of here. He had landed 11 miles southwest of Stockton after bailing out.

William Dedini of Hope, Calif., who saw the bomber explode, picked up Karger and rushed him to Stockton.

The other three survivors parachuted to safety in this area, about 65 miles southeast of San Francisco. They are Maj. Michael Shay, co-pilot, of Gary, Ind.; Maj. Billie M. Beardsley of Merced, and Sgt. Willard M. Lucy of Sacramento, Calif.

Their injuries were minor. After treatment at Tracy Memorial Hospital—where they were interviewed by Maj. Gen. William E. Eubank Jr., Castle AFB commander—they were transferred to the air base hospital.

EGYPTIAN SNIPERS ACCUSED

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Feb. 17 (AP)—An Israeli army spokesman said Egyptian snipers opened fire three times yesterday on an Israel position near Kisufim east of the Gaza strip. The spokesman said the third time the fire was returned. There were no casualties on the Israeli side.

GOVERNOR CALLS SPECIAL SESSION FEB. 27 TO ACT ON BOND PROGRAM

Legislature Will Divide $75,000,000 Building Fund Among State Schools and Other Institutions.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 17—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly late yesterday called a special session of the Missouri legislature to begin Monday, Feb. 27, to adopt a building program under the $75,000,000 bond issue approved by voters last month for rehabilitation of state penal, eleemosynary and higher educational institutions.

The proclamation limited the assembly to legislation dividing the bond program money among the three classes of institutions except for 10 minor items chiefly involving appropriations overlooked in the 1955 regular legislative session.

Donnelly opened no other avenues for enactment of general legislation in the special session, and indicated he would not do so later. However, he has constitutional power to extend the purposes of the session by issuing supplemental messages.

No Recommendations.
No specific recommendations were submitted to the Legislature by Donnelly as to apportionment of the proceeds of the $75,000,000 among the three classes of institutions authorized to receive benefits under the constitutional amendment voted last Jan. 24, authorizing the bond issue.

The Governor further indicated he would not make any specific building recommendations to the legislature. He said he would transmit to the Legislature later the fund requests submitted to him by the institutions, and a simple budget prepared by assistant budget director W. B. McGreor, with a total within $75,000,000.

However, Donnelly said, that "budget" will not be his and will be for information only. The actual division of the money available would be up to the legislature, he said.

In regular legislative sessions the Governor transmits to the lawmakers a state budget report, listing the fund requests of departments for operating funds for a biennial period, the estimated revenue, and the Governor's recommendations on amounts to be appropriated. He may vote to reduce but not increase appropriations passed by the Legislature.

Requests Exceed Funds.
Requests by the institutions for bond issue funds, submitted to the Governor and division of the budget and comptroller, totaled $129,674,262, or $54,674,262 greater than the bond issue money to be available.

The session is expected to develop considerable pressure on the legislators for appropriations, with additional requests greatly exceeding the available money.

The greatest pressure strength lies in the educational lobby and the least in the penal institutions, whose plight after disastrous riots in September and October of 1954 was the major reason for the bond issue proposal.

Major Requests.
Major requests submitted to Donnelly and the division of budget and comptroller were: University of Missouri, $31,475,000, including $4,925,000 for

Cable Stretched Across Road In Fog Wrecks Three Vehicles

Driver Was Trying to Get Truck Back on Highway 50 Near Trenton, Ill.—One Man Hurt.

A man was slightly injured, three motor vehicles were wrecked and two trucks were forced off a highway last night when Emory Weddel, a Tulsa (Okla.) truck driver, stretched a one-inch steel cable across busy U.S. Route 50, near Trenton, Ill., in an effort to get his tractor-trailer out of a ditch. Illinois State Police said Weddel ran off the road in a heavy fog about 30 miles east of St. Louis. Without lighting flares, they said, he pulled the cable, which was attached to a winch on the truck, across the highway to a tree on the opposite side. The taut cable was about four feet above the ground. Charles Briles of Bedford, Ind., driving another tractor-trailer, crashed into the cable. His motor was driven back against the cab, pinning Briles inside. He later was removed by other motorists and treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, Breese, Ill., for minor injuries. The abrupt crash yanked Weddel's tractor-trailer onto the highway where it jackknifed and overturned. Seconds later an automobile driven by R. J. Smith of Trenton was wrecked when it struck the trucks. Two other truck drivers drove into ditches to avoid striking the wreckage of the three vehicles. Weddel walked away from the scene, police said, but was arrested when he reappeared two and one-half hours later as the last of the wreckage was being cleared. He was booked at the St. Clair county jail at Belleville on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, obstructing traffic and illegal transportation of liquor. Police explained he had a bottle of whiskey with the seal broken in his cab.

YOUTH CLINGING TO 150-FT. BLUFF HERE RESCUED

Robert Emerson Ferguson, 19 years old, was rescued by firemen yesterday afternoon from a precarious perch on the side of a 150-foot bluff in the 3800 block of South First street. After losing his footing in mud while walking atop the bluff, the youth began to slide down hill but managed to grab a tree 30 feet below the base, saving himself from a sheer drop to rocks and debris at the base. Police said he would have been killed had he fallen all the way. Ferguson's calls for help attracted the attention of Jerry Farris, 13 years old, 3830 First, who ran for aid. Police, the fire department rescue squad and members of Hook and Ladder Co. 16 responded. Two firemen were lowered on ropes to the tree to which Ferguson was clinging. They tied a rope around him and he was pulled up, uninjured. The youth, who is unemployed, lives at 3838 South Main, with his mother, Mrs. Martha Ferguson.

ARRESTS TO START MONDAY FOR LACK OF AUTO STICKERS

Arrests for failure to display 1956 St. Louis automobile license stickers will begin on Monday, City License Collector Joseph T. Hayden reminded motorists today. His office in City Hall will remain open tonight until 9 o'clock and tomorrow until 5 p.m. Persons seeking licenses must bring titles to their motor vehicles and exhibit proof that personal taxes for 1955 are paid or that none is owing. About 150,000 licenses have been sold so far, or 5000 more than were sold last year at the same time.

$12,150,000 IN CITY BONDS TO BE PUT ON SALE MARCH 6

The City of St. Louis plans to sell bonds totaling $12,150,000 on March 6 to finance projects to be started during the first year of its $110,639,000 public improvements program, it was announced today.

Advertisements for bids will specify that the bond interest rate is not to exceed 2 1/2 percent a year. The bonds, maturing between 1962 and 1975, will be retired at the rate of $800,000 to $900,000 annually.

Under the bond issue program approved by the voters last May 26, the city intends to spend about $12,000,000 annually through 1960. By staggering sale of bonds in this way, the public improvements would be financed without raising the property tax rate more than 5 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation, as promised during the campaign for passage of the bond issue.

Expenditures recommended by a citizens' committee and authorized by the Board of Aldermen for the first year of this program include $1,015,000 for widening and $500,000 for resurfacing streets, $1,250,000 for new street lights, $1,875,000 for a new incinerator and $273,000 for a new garbage-grinding plant.

ARMED WOMAN ROBS SOUTH SIDE THEATER OF $70

A woman robber, armed with a revolver and wearing a green head scarf and lavender coat, took $70 from the Michigan theater last night after telling two employees she would "blow your brains out" if they resisted. The woman, about 35 years old, appeared at the lobby door of the theater office, where Albert Rinne, assistant manager, and Miss Louise Rodgers, cashier, were counting receipts. Displaying the revolver, she said "Hurry up, put the money in the bag. If you don't I'll blow your brains out." Rinne put $70 in the red-and-white striped paper shopping bag she was carrying. The woman, described as tall and slender, walked out of the theater at 7224 Michigan avenue, and disappeared around the corner on Robert avenue.

BOND ORDINANCE DUE FEB. 29 IN COUNTY COUNCIL

$10,725,000 Sale Proposed — Executive Group, Matthews Agree on Projects.

A proposed ordinance for sale of $10,725,000 in St. Louis county bonds, under the program tentatively approved by the Citizens Public Works Advisory (Watchdog) Committee yesterday, will be prepared for introduction in the County Council Feb. 29, Council Chairman Harold D. Carey said today. The council meets next Tuesday, but the citizens committee recommendations will not become final until next Friday. Committee members have until then to object to the executive committee report made public yesterday. If 25 per cent or more of the 59 members of the full committee file objections, proposals objected to would have to be reconsidered.

Yesterday's executive committee report, signed by Donald L. Barnes Sr., co-chairman, concurred in proposals by Supervisor Luman F. Matthews for expenditures this year and next year from bond issues approved by county voters in February 1954 and last November.

Items in Program.
Matthews submitted his recommendations to the council Jan. 19 and the council forwarded them to the citizens committee the following week. Items included in the program are:

$5,000,000 for the county's half share of expressway right-of-way costs.
$3,790,000 for 58 road, bridge and grade separation projects under the supplementary road program.
$675,000 for voting machines.
$800,000 for health and hospital building construction.
$250,000 for a preliminary survey, engineering costs and acquisition of "critical" right-of-way for the Innerbelt Highway.
$200,000 for park and playground acquisition.
$100,000 for land acquisition for sanitary landfills.
$100,000 for the county's share of the joint city-county civil defense center and related expenditures.
$10,000 for a study of children's welfare needs in connection with plans for a welfare center and detention home.

Staff Building Urged.
The executive committee, in addition to recommending sale of the $600,000 in health and hospital bonds, urged also that another $550,000 in funds already available from the 1954 issue be appropriated to permit work to start on a hospital staff apartment building and a morgue and rehabilitation of equipment.

Of the $3,790,000 for the supplementary road program, the committee said: "This is a realistic amount which can be spent efficiently and economically if diligent efforts are made."

The detailed recommendations would be "subject to such minor revisions as to priority and locations as may be indicated as final plans are developed."

Of the $200,000 for parks and playgrounds, $5000 would go immediately to finance completion of a survey by the Social Planning Council to determine needs for additional facilities, their size and location, the report said. The survey now is complete in three of 13 county districts.

The $10,000 study of children's welfare needs also would be spent under Social Planning Council direction.

Judge Sartorius Asks to Retire, On Circuit Bench for 21 Years

Bases His Request on Disability—Wants to Be Relieved by End of March.

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.
JUDGE EUGENE J. SARTORIUS

Circuit Judge Eugene J. Sartorius, who has served 21 years on the bench, today asked the Missouri Supreme Court for permission to retire because of disability.

In a letter received by Marion Spicer, clerk of the Supreme Court, Judge Sartorius requested the court set a hearing on his application before the committee on retirement of judges and magistrates. He asked that his retirement begin at the end of March.

In a medical statement accompanying the letter, Dr. Ralph J. Kinsella said Sartorius had recovered from a severe "circulatory failure," which, however, has left partial blindness. The physician said the blindness was a source of total "and most likely permanent" disability insofar as his work as a circuit judge was concerned.

Payment of $4000 to Judge Sartorius by John J. Nangle, attorney and special master by appointment of Sartorius in the Hazlett Kyle Campbell estate case has been investigated by the advisory committee of the Missouri Bar but no action has been taken.

Sartorius said the money was a loan while Nangle said it was a political contribution. The payment, made through a third party, occurred in December 1942.

If retirement is granted, Sartorius would draw one-half his annual salary of $14,000 for the remainder of his current term, which expires Dec. 31, 1956. Thereafter, he could ask to be appointed a special court commissioner for assignment to occasional duties as the court might select. In that capacity he would receive one-third of his present salary. A lawyer for 46 of his 72 years, Judge Sartorius is serving his fourth consecutive six-year term on the circuit court bench. He has been a controversial figure much of that time.

He was criticized by four of his fellow judges in August 1943 for granting paroles without obtaining a report of the parole officer as required by circuit court rules. However, again in 1950, he granted a bench parole to an admitted embezzler of $16,000 without notice to the parole officer or to the embezzler's victim.

In his first election to the bench in 1924, before the non-partisan court plan went into effect, Judge Sartorius was ranked sixteenth among the 18 candidates of both parties in a pre-election lawyers' poll. In the election of 1946 members of the Bar Association of St. Louis voted 368 to 213 against endorsing him for retention in office.

Judge Sartorius lives at 6490 Westway road.

MOVE TO CUT ACCIDENTS NEAR HOUSING PROJECT

60 Persons Hit by Autos in 8 Years on Streets Bounding Clinton-Peabody Units.

Sixty pedestrians, including 47 children, have been struck by automobiles in the last eight years on four streets bounding the Clinton-Peabody housing project, a study by the Traffic Division disclosed yesterday. Director of Streets Frank Kriz said this was an unusually high accident rate.

The study was made in connection with a measure introduced in the Board of Aldermen by Raymond Leisure, Seventh Ward Democrat, to reduce the speed limit in the area of the project from the present 30 miles an hour to 20 miles an hour.

During the period, there were 159 motor vehicle accidents in the area. In addition to those involving pedestrians, seven of the accidents involved persons on bicycles. There were four fatalities, two of them children.

Kriz, who announced the results of the study, said he was not in favor of changing the speed limit in the area, however. He said some other means of reducing the accident rate must be found.

He said the study had indicated a general disregard of the existing speed limit in the area and that the police radar patrols in a recent three-day period had found 34 drivers going in excess of 30 miles an hour on the streets bounding the project.

The project is bounded by Chouteau avenue, Grattan street, Park avenue and Fourteenth street. It has slightly more than 600 dwelling units.

The new Dart housing project, which will have 1200 dwelling units, and a new school building are being constructed adjoining the Clinton-Peabody project on the east.

U.S. HALTS TANK SHIPMENT TO SAUDI ARABIA

Senator George (Dem.) Georgia, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said his committee would investigate the matter. Describing the proposed sale of the tanks to Saudi Arabia as "unwise," George said he was never consulted on the sale agreement. He told reporters Secretary Dulles would be asked to explain it when he returns from his vacation.

The United States is about to enter negotiations with Saudi Arabia for renewal of an agreement under which this country maintains an air force base at Dhahran in that country. That 1951 agreement expires in four months, but it has a provision for a five-year renewal.

United States private interests also have extensive oil developments in Saudi Arabia. The State Department's original announcement said the 25-ton M-41 Walker Bulldog tanks—which it described as training vehicles—were loaded on the Monroe, preparatory to its departure this afternoon.

Actually, the tanks had not been loaded last night but were on two barges tied up near the vessel. Apparently they had not been loaded early today.

It was understood here that suspension of the export permit would provide legal grounds to prevent the freighter from sailing or, if necessary, to order it to return to port. It is operated by the Hellenic lines.

The wisdom of going through with the commitment now was vigorously questioned by Senate Democrats last night in an hour-long attack which kept the Senate in session overtime. Republicans, including G.O.P. leader Knowland of California, listened in silence.

'Sale Incredible.'

"This sale," said Senator Humphrey (Dem.), of Minnesota, "looks incredible when Israel has been begging to buy arms and has been repeatedly refused—it's incredible. . . . The Soviets must be laughing out loud."

Noting that Mr. Eisenhower was in Georgia, he said "it seems every time something like this is done, it's done when there is no proper supervision on hand to double check it."

Democratic Senators O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Douglas of Illinois, Symington of Missouri and Lehman of New York joined in the criticism. O'Mahoney demanding an explanation "before the vessel leaves port."

No sooner had the impending shipment been announced than Israeli Ambassador Abba Eben called on Assistant Secretary Allen to seek clarification. He declined to say what Allen told him, but called the proposed shipment a "departure of principle."

The United States, Britain and France have been concentrating ever since Mr. Eisenhower's talks here with British Prime Minister Eden on an effort to stabilize the Middle East area and to avoid, if possible, any action which would inflame Israeli or Arab feelings.

The United States has sold arms to various Middle Eastern countries in past years, so the proposed shipment was in line with established policy.

Since it became known last fall that Czechoslovakia had agreed to sell arms to Egypt, however, the Western powers have developed a policy of refusing to furnish weapons to either the Arabs or Israel unless they had long-standing commitments to do so.

In line with this policy, the United States has put on the shelf Israel's bid to buy American arms.

By the United Press.

Members of two Zionist youth organizations began picketing the Brooklyn pier shortly after midnight but broke up and went home when reporters told them about the Government order halting the shipment.

Members of the ship's crew were reported grumbling about the nature of the cargo before they learned of the Government's action. The cargo included the tanks, a number of jeeps, jeep trailers, truck bodies and cartons and drums of parts and supplies.

France Stops All Arms Shipments to Foreigners.

PARIS, Feb. 17 (AP)—France announced today it had suspended all light arms shipments to foreign buyers in view of the tense situation in North Africa and the Middle East.

A Foreign Office spokesman indicated suspension of sales—which have been channeled mainly to Middle East countries—has two main aims:

1. To avoid an arms race between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

2. To insure that rebel elements in French-held Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco cannot procure French weapons from the Arab states.

The spokesman said France still had some contracts for heavy armaments "but is not in a hurry to fulfill them." He referred to a statement by Foreign Minister Christian Pineau that a contract still is pending with Egypt for heavy items that could not be used by the rebels in North Africa.

Britain to Continue Selling Arms for Present.

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Britain will continue selling arms to the Middle East, at least for the time being, the Foreign Office disclosed today.

Informed officials reported, however, the Eden government may be compelled to reconsider its policy if the United States and France decide to prolong their embargoes. The Washington and Paris announcements appeared to have caught British diplomats by surprise.

A Foreign Office spokesman told a daily news conference the first word he had of the American and French moves was when he read the morning newspapers. In reply to a question he said:

"There is no change in Britain's policy."

Britain sells arms to both Israel and the Arab nations. Its official policy is to discourage any arms race between the feuding sides.

The spokesman disclosed that the United States notified Britain of Saudi Arabia's application to buy 18 modern tanks. He did not say if the original American decision to sell the tanks—now embargoed—had been made with Britain's knowledge.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Feb. 17 (AP)—An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman expressed satisfaction today at reports that shipment of United States tanks to Saudi Arabia has been suspended.

"The planned United States arms deliveries to Saudi Arabia were only likely to encourage the belligerency of a state refusing to make peace and which is allied with Egypt in an offensive pact against Israel," he said.

"However, not sending arms to Saudi Arabia does in no way solve the question of the ever-growing gap in armed strength between Israel and Egypt arising from the Egyptian-Czechoslovak arms deal. The Israeli request for arms is as urgent as ever," he said.

GAS BILL VETOED, PRESIDENT POINTS TO 'ACTIVITIES'

paragraph of the veto message, in which the President condemned the "questionable activities" in behalf of the measure, reflected the President's strong feelings.

The spokesman said the veto message caused Mr. Eisenhower "considerable concern" because he "supported the principle" of the bill.

The White House source emphasized that the activities of "some" oil industry agents in behalf of the bill were responsible for the veto. He described Mr. Eisenhower as "feeling very strongly" about these activities.

The White House spokesman said Mr. Eisenhower believed that the bill as passed by the Senate and House did not contain adequate safeguards to protect natural gas consumers from unwarranted price increases.

The veto message was delivered to the clerk of the House of Representatives in Washington at 2 p.m. The President had until Saturday night to veto or sign the bill. After that it would have become law without his signature.

By the United Press.

Inquiry by Special Group.

Senator Case's statement that he had been offered the campaign contribution precipitated an investigation by a special Senate committee headed by Senator Walter F. George (Dem.), Georgia.

The inquiry brought out that John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., a lawyer and lobbyist for Superior Oil Co. of California, attempted to give Case the $2500 contribution, which came from the personal funds of Howard B. Keck, president of the oil company.

Despite this disclosure, the Senate approved the exemption bill. Later a federal grand jury in Washington opened an investigation of the matter, and the Department of Justice assigned two of its top prosecutors to work on the inquiry.

Keck's activities in support of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, also have been brought into the investigation.

Another Senate subcommittee, this one on Privileges and Elections, has announced it will go farther into Keck's attempted donation to Case. The committee had been headed by Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (Dem.), Missouri, who stepped down in favor of Senator Albert Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, also an opponent of the gas bill.

Hennings had said he would press for a broadened inquiry into the activities of large oil companies with respect to the natural gas bill.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters Mr. Eisenhower had worked on his veto message on the bill to Thomasville, where the President is vacationing on the plantation of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

Mr. Eisenhower continued to work on the message in the evenings at the plantation, Hagerty said. It has been widely reported that the President was considering vetoing the bill, and Humphrey was reported to have flatly predicted the veto.

Implications of Veto.

The political implications of the veto have two sides. On the one hand, Republicans now can point to a blow struck on behalf of consumers, while on the other hand, the action could cost the party the support of the large oil interests.

By his stand in favor of the bill which gave states the rights to offshore oil deposits, the so-called "Tidelands" deposits, Mr. Eisenhower gained the support of the oil companies in his 1952 campaign.

The bill exempting natural gas producers from "well-head" regulation by the Federal Power Commission had a stormy career in Congress.

Former President Harry S. Truman vetoed the measure when it was passed by Congress under the sponsorship of Senator Robert W. Kerr (Dem.), Oklahoma, who heads the Kerr-Magee Oil Co.

In 1954, the Supreme Court ruled, in the Phillips Petroleum case, that the FPC had jurisdiction over so-called "independent" producers of natural gas, those not affiliated with pipeline concerns. The bill vetoed by Mr. Eisenhower had sought to legislate against this decision.

The fight over the bill crossed party lines in the Senate with Democrats and Republicans from northern "consumer" states aligned against the measure and Senators of both parties from gas-producing states favoring the bill.

Opponents of the measure charged that it would be a gigantic "give-away" enabling oil companies, which control most of the nation's natural gas deposits, to increase prices if Federal regulation was removed.

Proponents argued that competition among producers would protect consumers against unreasonable rate increases as well as encourage greater production to meet the growing demand for gas.

Congressional action on the legislation was accompanied by what veteran legislators described as the most intense lobbying campaign witnessed in recent years.

The pressure on the legislators came from both directions—from oil and gas companies favoring the bill and from local utilities and mayor and governors of gas-consuming areas opposing the bill.

'PRESSURE' USED, LEHMAN CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (UP)—Senator Herbert H. Lehman (Dem.), New York, charged today that a New York state manufacturing concern "pressured" its employees to urge some Senators to vote for the natural gas bill.

Lehman said he was supplying pertinent details of the incident to the Senate Elections subcommittee. His information provided the first volunteered lead to the subcommittee for its wide-ranging investigation of attempts to exert "undue influence" on legislation, particularly through campaign contributions.

The subcommittee's broad inquiry is an outgrowth of the disclosure by Senator Francis Case (Rep.), South Dakota, that he had rejected a $2500 campaign contribution offered by an attorney and oil lobbyist who was interested in passage of the gas bill.

Lehman, an opponent of the bill, said in a radio broadcast to his constituents today that during Senate debate on the measure he received communications from some "working men and women" urging him to vote for the bill.

He said he considered this puzzling because the communications came from "people who, as I saw it, stood only to lose by passage of the legislation." Then, he added, he found that "at least one company, a manufacturer of machinery, had been putting the pressure on its employees to put the pressure on some of us in the Senate to vote for the bill."

"Each employee of this company received a letter from the management," the Senator said. "This letter, bore the scare-words 'your job is at stake,' and proceeded to tell the worker why he ought to vote in favor of the Harris-Fulbright (gas) bill."

Lehman said the management had a right to "propagandize" its employees. But he said the "kicker" was that the management letter had an enclosed postcard for signature by each employee. The employee was then to return the cards to his superior for stamping and mailing.

Lehman said he does not know whether there was a suggestion of discipline for employees who did not sign. He said he does not know "how much pressure actually was applied." He said the elections subcommittee should find out. "I am inclined to think that, at best, this was an unfortunate nate practice. At worst, depending on the facts and circumstances, it was improper," the Senator said.

ASTOR'S MEXICAN DIVORCE NOT PROPER, COURT RULES

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (UPI)—A New York Supreme Court justice ruled today that John Jacob Astor was never properly divorced from his second wife and thus was improperly married for 46 days to Dolores (Dolly) Fullman of Florida.

Justice Owen McGivern granted Astor's second wife, Mrs. Gertrude Gretsch Astor, a permanent separation from the multi-millionaire with custody of the couple's 8-year-old daughter, Mary Jacqueline, and $3000 a month for their support.

McGivern ruled that the Mexican divorce Astor obtained in July, 1954, was invalid because Mrs. Astor was never properly served with legal papers and was not represented at the proceedings.

Astor and Miss Fullman were married in Arlington, Va., the month following the Mexican divorce decree. They rushed home from a European honeymoon some six weeks later to end their marriage.

U.S. ENGINEERS FIRM ON FLOOD WORK FUND

Stick to $101,000, but Say More Could Be Spent in St. Louis.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—A sum of $500,000 for design and planning could be spent in the next fiscal year on the $130,987,000 St. Louis flood control project, but an amount larger than the budgeted $101,000 for the work cannot be allotted, Maj. Gen. E. C. Iitschner said today.

Gen. Iitschner, assistant chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, said new data had been prepared for the project that would justify a five-fold increase in funds to be spent next year for initial planning, but he repeated an earlier statement that St. Louis could not give more than $101,000 of the $5,360,000 budgeted for advance planning.

He added, however, that perhaps $50,000 might be diverted to the St. Louis project during the year. This sum could come through a request for a supplemental appropriation, or Congress could take the initiative and provide the money to be added to the $101,000.

Representative Thomas B. Curtis (Rep., St. Louis), said, "I am very hopeful, now that the engineers have prepared new data and it is in presentable form, that an item for $550,000 for this project will be included in the appropriations."

Representative Frank M. Karsten and Senator Stuart Symington, St. Louis Democrats, have sharply criticized the $101,000 figure as being insufficient for the work. They noted that the Corps said last fall it needed at least $200,000 and could use $600,000 next year on the job.

HOUSE HIT BY LIGHTNING BURNS DOWN AN HOUR LATER

A 70-year-old two-story frame residence at 9823 Olive Street road was destroyed by a fire that broke out one hour after the building was struck by lightning yesterday.

Mrs. Donald F. Aylward, the occupant, said the lightning bolt broke a window but at the time could see no other damage. After she left home, the fire apparently started inside a wall near the broken window, firemen said. Damage was estimated by the Creve Coeur Fire Department at $20,000 to the building and $3000 to contents.

Lost 6 Hours in County Forest, Boy Is Found Shivering in Tree

Searching Party Finds Bicyclist at Night in Rugged Country Near Allenton.

A frightened, shivering boy was found perched in a tree by a search party late last night six hours after he became hopelessly lost in a rugged fogbound forest near Allenton in western St. Louis county.

The boy, 13-year-old Steven Dick, who lives near the unincorporated community of Holow, had ridden his bicycle into the forest, part of a 1734-acre tract which belonged to the late A. P. Greensfelder. He was seen about 3:30 p.m. at a state fire tower in the woods.

When he had not returned home by 6 p.m., his mother, Mrs. C. E. Schollmeyer, became alarmed and notified George B. Brewer, a state forester living nearby. He quickly organized a searching party of five which included Mrs. Schollmeyer.

By this time the fog had reduced visibility to less than 100 feet. The party, using a jeep and a light truck, divided into two groups and began following trails in which, they could see marks of bicycle tire treads. They kept in touch with each other by two-way radio.

Hour after hour the search went on as the searchers drove over rocks and stumbled through thick underbrush. About 9 p.m. they discovered signs in the underbrush that indicated the boy had left a trail and headed blindly across country.

The searchers left their vehicles and began pushing through briars and bushes, shouting and flashing lights. They covered about a mile in two hours and then heard a faint voice in the distance.

It was Steven. He was perched on a limb of a large oak tree about 10 feet from the ground. The tree was near the top of a steep bluff, the face of which dropped nearly a quarter of a mile almost straight down. The bicycle, with one flat tire, was leaning against the trees. "I was scared to death," said the boy, who was exhausted and drenched with the heavy moisture. "I tried to find my way out but I finally realized I was completely lost. I climbed up the tree because I've heard there are coyotes and panthers around here."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH Fri., Feb. 17, 1956 5A

It took the successful searchers another hour to find their way out of the woods.

The searchers left their vehicles and began pushing through briars and bushes, shouting and flashing lights. They covered about a mile in two hours and then heard a faint voice in the distance.

CITY CAPTURED IN PERU, ARMY REBELS CLAIM

of Nation Is Quiet, Declares Modified Martial Law.

LIMA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Rebel army troops claimed control of the east Peruvian city of Iquitos today, but the government said the rest of the nation was quiet and "everything goes perfectly."

The revolt at Iquitos, a major Amazon river port 640 miles northeast of Lima, erupted yesterday. President Manuel Odría's government immediately declared modified martial law throughout the country.

A government spokesman said other armed forces throughout the nation—army, navy, air force and police—remained loyal.

The spokesman indicated also that some government forces were still holding out in the Iquitos region. He said naval forces on the Amazon, which have a base just south of Iquitos, are "not participating in the subversive movement."

Political Unrest.

The outbreak came at a time of political confusion and unrest in Peru. National elections are only three and a half months away, but no definite candidates have emerged. Efforts to organize a national convention of various political groups to pick a standard bearer have failed. Under the constitution Odría cannot succeed himself. His term expires July 28.

A rebel-held radio station at Iquitos claimed the insurgent forces were in complete control of the city of 35,000. It said the revolt was led by Brig. Gen. Marcial Merino, commander of the Second Army division with headquarters at Iquitos. Merino was a member of the military junta that ruled Peru after an Odría-led revolt in 1948. He later served as minister of justice and labor under Odría, who was elected President in 1950.

Merino's division rebelled, the broadcast said, "in order to return to the people the right of self-government." Another rebel broadcast accused Odría of being a dictator.

A government communique said a political group of extreme rightists known as the "nationalist coalition" is backing Merino.

Government Taking Action. Lima's Radio Nacional said the government was taking "immediate action" against the rebels. The broadcast termed the uprising part of a campaign aimed at disrupting the June 3 elections.

In addition to a president, the elections will name first and second vice presidents and members of both houses of Congress.

Thailand People Show Wonder As 6 Nations Hold War Exercise

Faces at Bangkok Airport Reflect Impression Made by Forces That Defend Southeast Asia Treaty Nations.

By ROBERT ALDEN
The New York Times News Service.
(Copyright, 1956, by The New York Times Co.)

BANGKOK, Feb. 17 — The sky above this oriental city of gilded temples and jewel-encrusted Buddhas was filled yesterday with the roar of the engines of modern war.

The Thai people were sobered and filled with wonder as six allied nations joined forces here to put on a military demonstration of impressive proportions.

Thai and United States Army paratroopers descended on Bangkok's Don Muang airport by parachute. The Honest John rocket and its launcher were wheeled into view and its crew simulated putting it into action. This weapon is capable of delivering a missile with an atomic warhead to a target 20 miles away.

Marines 'Destroy' Strongpoints.

In a mock exercise, United States Marines using flame-throwers and high explosive satchel charges, assaulted and "destroyed" strongpoints. Marine helicopters evacuated those presumed to be wounded and also ferried rations and heavy weapons to the troops, utilizing cargo hooks slung under the craft.

Trucks and 105-mm. howitzers were parachuted from planes. Minutes later the guns were fired by the paratroopers and the trucks put into tactical use.

British, New Zealand and United States jet and turbojet fighter-bombers wheeled in tight aerial combat maneuvers above the crowd.

A More Poignant Spectacle.

But the expression on the faces of the Thai people—many of them simple rice farmers—was as much a spectacle as the military demonstration itself, only more poignant. The police said there were 250,000 Thais in the vicinity of Don Muang airport.

The people clustered around a C-124 Globemaster, which can carry 200 men. They touched the plane's tires and gazed up into its cavernous insides.

Children looked up to their fathers for explanations. But there were no explanations.

How could a rice farmer explain why such a heavy machine was able to fly like a bird? How could a rice farmer explain to his child how a truck as big as their house could be thrown out of the sky and then be driven away?

Impression Made.

It was evident in the faces of the Thai people that they were impressed by the men and the forces the countries of the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty could bring to their support in the event of trouble.

The parachute drop by 601 members of the United States Army's 508th Regimental Combat Team was particularly impressive, and provided special unplanned thrills for the spectators.

In several instances, while the spectators gasped, parachutes failed to open properly and the men had to use their emergency parachutes to save themselves.

In one instance, when a paratrooper's main chute failed to open, another trooper grabbed his line in the air. The two of them descended together on one chute, one trooper dangling 20 feet below the other. Both were dazed momentarily by a hard landing, neither was injured.

In the Gulf of Siam, units of the Australian, New Zealand, British and United States fleets continued their joint exercises.

BROTHER PREDICTS EISENHOWER WILL SEEK RE-ELECTION

EN CENTRO, Calif., Feb. 17 (UP)—President Eisenhower's older brother predicted last night that "Ike" would run for re-election.

"I think he will run," said Edgar Eisenhower, Tacoma (Wash.) lawyer, to reporters at a political dinner at which Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was the principal speaker.

He said his statement was not based on any recent conversations with the President.

"Knowing (us) Eisenhowers and knowing something of the way his mind works, I believe he hasn't finished his job, and until he does finish that job, I think he will run," Edgar Eisenhower said. He listed three factors which favored Mr. Eisenhower's running clean bill of health, present involved, I think he will run," world conditions and all factors he said.

BOYS ORDERED TO WRITE ANTI-GAMBLING ESSAYS

Forrest Criger, 18 years old, and David Stout, 17, paid $23 fines and were ordered to write 500-word essays on "Why I Should Not Gamble" when they were convicted today on gambling charges.

Magistrate Raymond I. Harris at Clayton fined the youths $250 each, but stayed $225 of the amount. He directed that the essays be submitted by next Friday.

Criger, who lives in the 10,000 block of Bon Oak drive, and stout, 500 block of Leeton avenue, both in St. Louis county, were arrested with two other younger boys Sunday when a county policeman reported finding them playing poker in a confectionery at 10119 Imperial drive. The proprietor, Mrs. Gertrude Pope, has been charged with permitting gambling on her premises and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

LONG NAMES POLICE PENSION COMMITTEE

Proposals to Modernize and Liberalize System to Be Submitted.

Appointment of a committee to suggest changes to modernize and liberalize the pension system of the St. Louis police department was announced yesterday by I. A. Long, president of the board of police commissioners.

The group, a subcommittee of the board of trustees, of the Police Retirement Association, consists of Lt. Thomas Moran and Patrolman Cornelius Powers, both of the police department, and N. A. Sweets, Negro, publisher of the St. Louis American, and Comptroller Milton Carpenter.

Function of the subcommittee, Long said, will be to study the present provisions of the retirement system, receive recommendations for its improvement and survey police pension plans of other cities of comparable size.

Representatives of the various police districts and divisions are soliciting recommendations and suggestions from the department personnel for changes in the pension system. These will be submitted to the trustees for consideration and eventual presentation to the next session of the General Assembly, Long said.

Under the present system, established by the State Legislature in 1928, police officers must retire at the age of 70 and may do so at 60. It has been suggested the mandatory retirement age be lowered to 65 and the voluntary age to 55. Other proposals include basing the monthly pension on the last five years of the officer's service instead of the last 10 years as at present.

The subcommittee will report its findings and recommendations to the full board of trustees for submission to the board of police commissioners. Because the city of St. Louis contributes about $3 for every $1 paid by members of the retirement system, the approval of the board of estimate and apportionment will be sought before the proposals are submitted to the state Legislature at its next session, Long said.

Stevenson Says the Presidency Can't Be Taken as Part-Time Job

He Thinks No Conscientious Man Could So Consider It—Notes Eisenhower Has 'Hard Decision' to Make.

The New York Times News Service. (Copyright, 1956, by the New York Times Co.)

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 17.—Adlai E. Stevenson said yesterday he did not know President Eisenhower's intentions about seeking re-election, but he thought no conscientious man would look on the presidency as a part-time job. The aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination replied at Boise, Idaho, to a question about "the prospect of Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Eisenhower heading their party tickets in the fall campaign."

"As to Mr. Stevenson's prospects," Stevenson responded, "I won't comment because I might be suspected of being prejudiced."

"As to the President, I don't know what President Eisenhower intends to do, but I do know his is a hard decision. I don't believe any conscientious man would think of the presidency of the United States, with its burdens and problems, as a part-time job."

Stevenson had a press conference at Boise just before coming to Salt Lake City, where he makes the concluding address of his western tour tonight.

Asked whether he thought the presidency had been considered a part-time job in the last three years, he said he did not know. Then he referred the questioner to his "conscientious man" statement and said it applied to the past, present and future.

He refused to commit himself specifically on whether the presidency had been a part-time job since President Eisenhower's heart attack last September.

"I am not too informed on that," Stevenson said. "The President has been very ill." Stevenson said he was "shocked" by Vice President Richard M. Nixon's mention in a New York speech Monday of the "Republican" Chief Justice, Earl Warren, in connection with the desegregation decision of the Supreme Court. Stevenson said in his opinion it was a "very calculated statement" on Nixon's part. "You don't attach any criticism to the Chief Justice," he was asked. "No, on the contrary," he replied.

QUEMOY SHELLED BY REDS

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 17 (AP)—Communist Chinese guns on the mainland fired 103 shells at Quemoy this afternoon, the Nationalist Chinese Central

PLANE COMPANY DESCRIBED AS U.S. 'SUBSIDIARY'

North American Has Guaranteed Profit, Free Rent, House Members Say.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (UPI)—House investigators today described North American Aviation, Inc., as a Government "subsidiary" using Government-owned property to pay practically guaranteed profits to private owners.

Representative F. Edward Hebert (Dem.), Louisiana, chairman of the House Armed Services subcommittee investigating whether there are excessive profits on military plane production, told North American President J. L. Atwood: "You are Government employees. You are a Government subsidiary, working entirely for the Government."

Atwood objected to the use of the word "subsidiary." Hebert changed it to "subsidiary."

Representative Leon H. Gavin (Rep.), Pennsylvania, questioned the Government's policy of letting North American use, rent-free, more than $95,000,000 in Government facilities on military production. Gavin said North American has a "guaranteed profit" in its business with the Government. He demanded that the Air Force and Navy be summoned to explain why "the Government is not getting a little better break."

Services to Be Called. Hebert said the armed services will be called later to explain his policies.

Hebert said testimony has shown that North American paid its net worth from $6,000,000 to $94,000,000. He said North American was "taking off Government-owned facilities... profits in the form of salaries and dividends." He described the firm as a Government subsidiary "paying dividends to private owners."

Hebert asked Atwood if he is familiar with Air Force regulations which require specific approval of salaries and bonuses of more than $25,000 if they are charged against Government contracts. Atwood said he is not.

Hebert asked Atwood if he would know if the Air Force had challenged his $110,000 salary or $80,000 bonus.

"I don't believe I would know," he replied.

Records Not Open. Atwood said the final settlement between the Government and the firm takes into account such matters, but the records of the settlement officer are not open to him.

Gavin told Atwood yesterday his firm should pay rent for using Government facilities. He said rent-free use makes it difficult for competitors, who don't have that advantage, to bid for Government orders.

Hebert said, however, that if the firm paid rent, it would just be charged back to the Government in the form of higher prices for the planes.

GENERAL SHOE CO. AGREES TO CURTAIL ITS EXPANSION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (UPI)—The General Shoe Corp., one of the nation's five largest shoe manufacturers, agreed today to curtail its expansion program over the next five years in settlement of an antitrust suit.

The Department of Justice, announcing the agreement, said it was contained in a consent judgment filed in the corporation's home city of Nashville, Tenn.

The Government charged the firm, beginning in June 1950, with acquisition of 18 different firms engaged in the manufacture, distribution and sale of shoes. Total sales of the acquired firms was $67,000,000, the Government said.

Under the agreement, General cannot acquire any shoe firm until next Oct. 1. After that period, the firm must seek Government approval of any acquisition until February 1961. General also must dispose within two years of any stock it owns in shoe firms other than subsidiaries.

The agreement provides that after next Oct. 1 General may acquire other firms without Government approval if such firms face bankruptcy or replace a retail outlet which General lost.

NO TOOTHPASTE CONTROLS TOOTH DECAY, DENTISTS SAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (UPI)—The American Dental Association today disputed claims that any toothpaste or tooth powder has been developed to control tooth decay. Dr. Harold Hillenbrand, A.D.A. secretary, made the statement in an appeal to Congress to boost funds for dental research.

In testimony prepared for a House appropriations subcommittee, Hillenbrand said "no toothpaste or powder to date has been shown to be effective in controlling tooth decay in spite of claims that are made."

He added, "but dental research holds out hope that this objective can eventually be achieved."

Hillenbrand urged the subcommittee to recommend $6,026,000 for dental research in fiscal 1957—more than double what the Administration has requested.

Opposition Developing in G.O.P. To Nixon as 1956 Running Mate

Some Party Leaders Trying to Persuade Eisenhower to Shift Vice President to Cabinet in Second Term.

By JAMES RESTON

The New York Times News Service. (Copyright, 1956, by the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—A movement is developing in the Republican party, so far without support from the White House, to persuade the President to accept another vice-presidential running mate if he decides to seek a second term.

The idea being discussed among some Republican leaders, including some of the President's most intimate political and personal associates, is to transfer Vice President Richard M. Nixon to a regular Cabinet post in any second Eisenhower Administration.

Even those high in the Administration who have been in on these discussions and who favor a switch concede, however, that Nixon has powerful support within the White House and with many key Republican leaders, including former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Controversy Over Nixon.

Nevertheless, the increasing belief that President Eisenhower will run and the controversy over some of Nixon's activities—notably his contention that "a great Republican Chief Justice, Earl Warren," entitled the Republicans to take political credit for the Supreme Court's desegregation decision—have increased the discussion about a different Republican vice-presidential nominee in 1956.

It is understood that Nixon's future was discussed by President Eisenhower and several of his associates in the last three weeks when the President was weighing the pros and cons of running again.

In at least three conversations, according to reliable information, one of the reasons put forward was that Nixon could not win the election if he were nominated.

The President was shown a prominent election poll last weekend indicating that while his margin of popularity over Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois was increasing, Nixon was dropping farther and farther behind the former Illinois Governor.

Eisenhower Listens Silently.

One Cabinet member who was at these discussions asserted that President Eisenhower had been told during the "big decision" preliminaries that Nixon's presence on the ticket in 1956 would hurt the party's chances of victory by alienating many independents. The President was said to have listened to this without comment.

On other occasions when the opposition to Nixon within the party and among independents has been mentioned to the President, he has been quoted as having said he "didn't understand it."

Moreover, the President has made clear that he believes a presidential nominee should have the running mate he prefers, and that he has the greatest respect and admiration for Nixon.

In the light of this, the general view here is that the President would not be sympathetic to any move to drop or transfer Nixon to the position of Secretary of Defense, which is the post that is being discussed for Nixon. Charles E. Wilson is now the defense secretary.

There is strong feeling on this question, however, much stronger than has yet been placed before the President by his associates here, and particularly by some of his most powerful friends in the Republican party in New York City.

"The question," it was asserted, "is not what the President would say now, but what he will say or do later if he decides to run and is then confronted, as he will be, by the opposition within the party to Nixon."

Argument Against Nixon.

The main political argument being made against Nixon is that, if the President seeks reelection, at 66 years of age, after having had a heart attack, the campaign will center on the Vice President. It is said that this will cost the Republican ticket a great deal of support, not only among independent voters but on the liberal side of the party.

Also, the uncertainty of the President's health raises the possibility that the Vice President may have to assume the supreme leadership of the nation in the next five years. This, inevitably, would emphasize the person and character of the vice-presidential candidate in the campaign, it is stressed.

Against this is the argument that Nixon is popular among the conservatives in the party and has many influential backers among Republican political leaders. Thus, dropping the Vice President would disrupt party unity, and weaken the ticket at the important organizational level.

So strong is the feeling among some Republican leaders against a Nixon candidacy that it was even suggested that Nixon should be shifted to a regular Cabinet post before the Republican convention met at San Francisco in August.

Such a move, however, would mean that the Vice President would have to resign his present office. This would make Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, a Democrat, the next in line of succession to the presidency.

This, of course, is far removed from the normal political procedure, but it indicates how eager some Republicans are to block a second campaign by Nixon for Vice President.

What the anti-Nixon Republicans want is not that President Eisenhower should be asked to take an "unacceptable" candidate but that he should do what he did the last time—indicate to the party a list of Republicans who would be "acceptable" to him as a running mate if he decides to seek reelection.

Those being mentioned here as possible Republican vice-presidential candidates this year, if Nixon is not the nominee, are Dewey, Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts and Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts and William F. Knowland of California.

NEW HEARING SET ON HUNTSVILLE PHONE DECISION

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 17 (AP)—The State Public Service Commission decided yesterday it hadn't been given the whole story of service supplied customers of the Huntsville Telephone Co.

The commission threw out its Feb. 7 decision in the case and set it down for further hearing March 16. Earlier this month the commission told the telephone utility to repair two rural lines and quit supplying free service to Clifton Hill, Mo.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Since then, many of the customers have petitioned the commission, pleading for reconsideration of the provision that free service between the two towns be abandoned. They said they hadn't been told that was in the works and they wanted a chance to be heard.

The commission said the disgruntled patrons had a right to be heard so the new hearing date was set.

PLAZA GROUP CALLS FOR REST OF CASH PLEDGED

This Will Amount to $1,165,000—Canceled If Not Called by April 15.

The Urban Redevelopment Corp. of St. Louis, preparing to bid on the Plaza housing project, called on its subscribers today to put up the remaining 50 per cent of their debenture pledges by April 15. This will amount to $1,165,000.

When the corporation was organized five years ago, 69 civic and business leaders pledged a capital fund totaling $2,330,000 to be used for rehabilitation of blighted areas in the heart of the city. The subscribers put up 10 per cent of their pledges at the start, and an additional 40 per cent a year ago.

The remainder is not needed immediately, but under the subscription agreement that portion of pledges not called by April 15 would be automatically canceled. The funds are invested in Government securities to draw interest until the money is needed.

The city's first urban redevelopment project will be development of a public park and a private housing project in the area of eight and one-half blocks bounded roughly by Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Olive and Market streets. The municipal Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority had the area cleared last summer, and the city has graded three blocks for the park to link Aloe and Memorial Plazas.

The adjacent site for the housing project still has not been made available for sale to a private redeveloper, however. The delay has been attributed to red tape in Washington, where disposal papers must go for approval, and a dispute between the city and the Basilica of Saint John over the price of land on which the church has an option in the redevelopment area.

The Land Clearance Authority hopes to unravel these snarls and offer the tract for sale within 30 days. The sale will be advertised for 90 days, and the property will go to the bidder whose redevelopment plan is considered "most likely to succeed." This means that price offered for the ground will not be the sole consideration.

Approximately 1150 air-conditioned apartments for middle-income tenants are to be built in a move to anchor purchasing power near the downtown district, bolster property values and check spread of decay.

The Urban Redevelopment Corp., which is not seeking a profit, plans to make the apartments unusually attractive if it is selected as the redeveloper. It is thinking in terms of a rental scale ranging from $82 a month for an efficiency unit to $127 for a two-bedroom apartment.

Under the Federal Housing Act, projects of this type are carried out through co-operation of the Federal Government, the city and private capital. Federal funds are used to buy up land and clear it for sale at reduced price to a redeveloper who will rehabilitate the area. The Federal Government bears two-thirds of the "writedown" cost and the city the remainder.

The Plaza project is being carried out with a federal loan of $4,155,775 and a capital grant of $1,334,675. The city's contribution will be in the form of the park, financed by a $1,500,000 bond issue, and street improvements. The housing project will represent a private capital investment of about $17,000,000.

BONDSMAN SAM SILK'S WIFE GETS DIVORCE AND $10,000

Mrs. Dollie Steele Silk, 5966 DeGiverville avenue, obtained a divorce yesterday in Circuit Judge David J. Murphy's court from Sam Silk, a professional bondsman. A crossbill filed by Silk was dismissed.

Mrs. Silk was granted $10,000 alimony in gross and restoration of her maiden name, Steele. She charged general indignities. The Silks were married May 11, 1954, and separated Feb. 9, 1955. They had no children. The marriage was Silk's third and Mrs. Silk's first.

Do you know about the big change in rums?

Today's Puerto Rican rums are smooth, light-bodied, and very dry—different from any rums you've ever known before! They are distilled at very high proof for a revolutionary new dry taste.

Ronrico, for example, is so dry and clean-tasting, you'll enjoy drinking it straight. Or on the rocks with a twist of lemon. Or in a highball glass with a splash of any good mixer!

SAFE IN LUTHERAN HOSPITAL BROKEN OPEN; $2100 STOLEN

Business offices of Lutheran Hospital, 2639 Miami street, were entered early today by burglars who broke open a safe and stole $2123, H. M. Lohmann, hospital auditor, reported to police.

Police said the burglars apparently gained entry by climbing to the roof of a one-story section of the hospital and breaking a window of an office adjoining a room where a switchboard operator was on duty.

The burglars moved the safe to a nearby room where they hammered the combination without disturbing anyone. They overlooked envelopes containing several hundred dollars in cash, Lohmann said.

PENTAGON DATA DEMANDED IN RED TRADE HEARING

McClellan Threatens Legal Steps to Learn if U.S. Agreed to More Sales.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Senator McClellan (Dem., Ark.) today threatened "legal process steps" to compel top government officials to disclose whether this country has agreed to free world sales of war strategic materials to Russia.

McClellan demanded that the Defense Department tell him "at once" whether it will let its witnesses give such testimony before the Senate Investigations subcommittee which he heads. He was promised an answer later in the day.

Witnesses from the Defense Department in the first three days of public hearings on the subject have refused, on ground that the information is "classified," to tell whether minerals and other items essential to the production of weapons have been taken off other western nations' lists of things embargoed for sale to the Russians.

The witnesses have said they personally opposed "decontrol" of the items mentioned, but said they would be violating orders if they told the extent to which trade curbs have been relaxed.

Says He Cannot Testify.
Timothy C. May, a Defense Department expert on light metals, for instance, testified today he believes aluminum, magnesium and a list of other metals should not be sold to Russia, but that he cannot testify whether they have been removed from embargo lists because that is classified information.

McClellan interrupted the hearing to demand that Robert M. Pennoyer, a Defense Department lawyer, telephone his superiors at once and find out whether the classification could be removed.

McClellan said he has been trying to get the information "without taking legal process steps," but emphasized, "This committee is determined to get these facts."

Pennoyer made the call. McClellan demanded, and got a return call an hour later. He said he was informed that the Defense Department general counsel would take the matter up with higher authority. He expected an answer later in the day.

To Call Those Responsible.
McClellan said he was not holding May responsible, but "those responsible" for keeping the secrets will be called to testify.

Senator Symington (Dem., Missouri), said it is common knowledge that aluminum, vital in making warplanes, was taken off the embargo list in August 1954.

The witness, however, insisted that the information is classified as far as he is concerned.

The Senate Committee is inquiring into shipment of war-important materials to the Reds by free world countries. This country embargoes United States shipments of aluminum to the Soviet bloc as well as other items which Great Britain and other countries ship to Russia and its satellites.

May did tell the committee that insofar as he is personally concerned "I don't think aluminum should be shipped to any Communist country," but he pointed out that he is a technical adviser and did not participate in decisions on control or decontrol.

RUSSIA PROTESTS AGAINST AUSTRIAN RED-UNION BAR

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—Soviet Russia's trade unions have protested against Austria's ban on the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions, the official East German news service ADN said yesterday.

A statement signed by N. M. Shvernik, Soviet trade union chief, rejected an earlier Austrian explanation that the outlawed federation had interfered with the national interest of Austria.

Flashes of Life

No Appreciation.

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Thieves and cheaters have prompted city officials to abandon "courtesy fine-o-meters" for overtime parking. The city has removed the red boxes from 62 locations. They were installed eight months ago as a convenience to drivers.

The fine-o-meter permitted overtime parkers to place a quarter in an envelope to be dropped into a box within an hour after getting the parking ticket. After an hour the fine is a dollar.

City officials said many boxes had been robbed and some motorists parked all day for one 25-cent fine.

Good Practice.

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)—What began as a test run turned out to be the real thing for firefighters. One fireman smelled smoke and another spotted flames shooting from a truck in front of them. They chased the truck for several blocks along a busy highway and extinguished a fire in two blankets in the truck.

A Fine Deal.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UP)—The University of Iowa said that about 120 students can thank the campus parking problem for their education.

It said parking fines collected over the last 4½ years have provided $11,000 for aid to needy students.

CAT KILLS PIGEON, BOY CALLS DOG— HOME WRECKED

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 17 (UP)—The combination of a stray cat, a boy and his dog, wrought havoc in the four-room apartment of a Homewood district family yesterday.

Richard Watrous, 14 years old, came home from school at lunch time to find the cat had got into the cellar and killed his pet pigeon. Richard whistled up his dog, Toby, and the chase was on.

For an hour, the boy, dog and cat went "round and round" the apartment. Furniture toppled. The cat finally climbed into a compartment of the kitchen range and refused to come out.

Richard called the Animal Rescue League for help and police were sent to the home. Two patrolmen arrived, but they were unable to dislodge the now snarling cat. The animal in its struggles, disconnected a gas line.

The officers and Richard beat a retreat and shut off the gas to the apartment. The patrolmen explained their predicament to headquarters by radio.

and then returned to the apartment. The cat was gone, but the wreckage remained. Then Richard's parents came home. "I gave him a good ear-beating," Richard's mother, Mrs. Ray Watrous, said. "I never saw anything like it in my life. I was shocked. His dad thinks it's funny, but I don't."

SYMINGTON PRAISES GARDNER'S ACTION

Says Ex-Researcher for Air Force Brought 'Truth' to People.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, yesterday praised Trevor Gardner, who resigned last week as chief of research for the Air Force in a dispute with the Administration over defense economies.

Speaking at a luncheon sponsored by the Woman's National Democratic Club, Symington said Trevor showed "great courage and patriotism in resigning and bringing the people the truth."

Gardner told a House Appropriations subcommittee in secret session last Monday that the air army should have 20 billion dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1, instead of the $16,500,000,000 recommended by President Eisenhower.

Symington, a frequent critic of the defense expenditures by the Administration in the face of growing Communist military strength, said that the Eisenhower Administration was embarked on a program to balance the budget at the expense of national safety.

He chided President Eisenhower for asserting that his "experts" had informed him that "we are in superior shape" defensively.

"What experts?" Symington asked. "Trevor Gardner or that bird dog of progress—Wilson—who once told a committee that research in the development of jet missiles was no more important than research to find out why potatoes turn brown?"

This was a reference to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson who, he said, had issued a directive against the release of any information on the defense program which was not "timely."

"The Administration is proud of balancing the budget," he went on. "They did it by recommending $300,000,000 less for the Army than last year, $350,000,000 less for the Navy, $450,000,000 less for the Air Force and a billion dollars less for aircraft procurement."

Anyone who believes that we must fight for peace from a position other than strength admits that we trust the Communists," he said.

"Well, I don't," he added.

ONTARIO FREES U.S. WOMAN IN KILLING OF FISHING GUIDE

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 17 (AP)—A jury acquitted Mrs. Virginia Ricks, daughter of a former mayor of Syracuse, N.Y., yesterday in the fatal shooting of George Knapp, a fishing guide.

Knapp was shot to death Dec. 30 in Mrs. Ricks' island lodge. The crown first charged Mrs. Ricks with murder but later reduced the charge to manslaughter.

The four-times-married Mrs. Ricks testified she threatened Knapp with a pistol and he was shot accidentally as they struggled for possession. She testified he had beaten her several times.

DIRECT CHICAGO TRIPS ADEQUATE, AIRLINE SAYS

Delta President Defends
Non-Stop Service —
Tells of Expansion
Plans.

Adequacy of non-stop airline service between St. Louis and Chicago was defended today by C. E. Woolman, president of Delta Air Lines, which is planning expansion of services to St. Louis as deliveries of new aircraft are made.

In a statement submitted to the Senate aviation subcommittee, investigating airline service here, Woolman said Delta at present has 15 flights serving St. Louis. They include scheduled flights between here, Houston and Chicago.

Between St. Louis and Chicago, he said, Delta operates eight non-stop flights daily in each direction. During December, he added, only 42 per cent of the 406 available seats on these flights were used.

"These figures demonstrate a substantial unused capacity on existing flights," he said, "and the complete adequacy of St. Louis-Chicago service."

On Delta's non-stop flight from St. Louis to Memphis, he said, 35 per cent of the available seats were unused. In the last three months of last year, he said, Delta operated one flight for every 34 passengers.

In the same three months, he said, Eastern Airlines operated one flight for each 34 passengers and American Airlines operated one flight for each 104 passengers.

Woolman said demand for air travel between St. Louis and New Orleans had not yet reached the level to support non-stop service. In 1952, the St. Louis-New Orleans traffic averaged 11 passengers per day in each direction, he said. In 1954 only 15 passengers per day wanted service.

THOMAS GUILFOIL NAMED COUNSEL OF SENATE GROUP

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — Thomas J. Guilfoil of St. Louis has been appointed special counsel to the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights, Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (Dem.), St. Louis subcommittee chairman, announced yesterday.

Guilfoil, a partner in the law firm of Hartman & Guilfoil, said he expected to serve only a few weeks and would then return to the practice of law in St. Louis. He succeeds Lon Hooper, also of St. Louis, who resigned last month.

Guilfoil served in 1949 and 1950 as chief counsel to the Missouri Division of Insurance. He has specialized in corporation and administrative law. He was graduated from Washington University in 1941 and served in the Air Force in the war.

SECRECY VIOLATION CHARGED

LONDON, Feb. 17 (UP)—Geoffrey C. Palmer, a British photographer, has been charged with violating the official secrets act by trying to sell secret aircraft drawings to an American magazine, it was announced today. The magazine was not identified.

1500-MILE GROUND,
SHIP MISSILE JOBS
GO TO CHRYSLER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (UP)—Chrysler Corp. announced today it has a defense contract to produce 1500-mile ballistic missiles to be launched from ships.

The announcement indicated that the company also will be the prime contractor for production of a ground-launched 1500-mile ballistic missile.

The company said it had contracts "as prime contractor" with the Army and Navy.

The corporation will be charged with engineering tasks and development and production of weapons systems including the elements needed to handle and launch the proposed new missile, Chrysler said in an announcement handed reporters at the Pentagon.

It described the missiles as having "intermediate range." Senators have reported that Russia may launch such a weapon during this year and that the United States is lagging.

HEART REPORT WAS QUALIFIED,
DR. WHITE SAYS

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Feb. 17 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Levine of Harvard, taking issue with Dr. Paul Dudley White's life span prediction for President Eisenhower, said yesterday that "no body can accurately predict the life span of an individual" heart patient.

Dr. White, the President's medical consultant, here for a dinner in his honor, told reporters last night that his statement at the Washington press conference Tuesday that the President could continue an active life for from five to 10 years was a qualified statement.

He said that both he and Dr. Levine, clinical professor of medicine at Harvard, were "optimists" about the life expectancy of heart patients. Dr. White insisted that he and Dr. Levine were in "complete agreement" rather than at odds.

He said the White House press statement on the President's health was based on the individual record rather than a mere study of statistics.

unfortunate and ill-advised. His action will result in a penalty on both the consumer and the producer. It will mean more people who are wanting gas can't get it and those who do will pay more for it because it will make it impossible for many producers to sell their gas in interstate commerce."

Senator Price Daniel (Dem., Texas)—The President made a great mistake in mixing charges of improper influence on the part of our independent producer out of 8000 with the merits of the bill. . . . It was the President's duty to decide the bill on its merits. The reasons for his veto show that he failed to do it."

Senator Albert Gore (Dem., Tennessee)—The veto is "a notable act in the public interest."

Representative Percy Priest (Dem., Tennessee, chairman of the House Commerce Committee which approved the bill)—"I see no chance that Congress will override Mr. Eisenhower's veto and have no plans to make such an attempt. The bill represented 'three months of extremely arduous effort' by the committee and 'contained more adequate safeguards for the consumer than existing law.'"

"Purely Political," Senator Allen J. Ellender (Dem., Louisiana)—"I am very much disappointed that the President vetoed the bill. I think it was purely political." He said he thinks the veto was a sign Mr. Eisenhower has decided to run for re-election.

Senator Richard L. Neuberger (Dem., Oregon)—"I think the President of the United States has done the right thing, the courageous thing and the enlightened thing."

Representative Hale Boggs (Dem., Louisiana)—The veto was "pure politics and an announcement for re-election."

Representative Jere Cooper (Dem., Tennessee)—"I am pleased the bill was vetoed. I predict supporters cannot override the veto."

Representative Frank Ikard (Dem., Texas)—"The veto was the greatest blow ever suffered" by Texas. "It means loss of control of its great natural resources, oil and gas. I don't see how any alleged pressure for the bill affected its merits."

Ikard took the veto message as an indication the President will run for re-election.

A "Body Blow,"

Senator Mike Monroney (Dem., Oklahoma, who led in the fight for passage of the Bill, said in Oklahoma City that the veto was a "body blow to eastern gas users. Monroney said the veto denied "an increase in supply of gas so desperately needed in the non-gas producing states."

The veto means "higher prices and less gas and adds to the uncertainty and settled nothing," he said.

"The bill," he added, "has been the victim of the most consistent and unfair smear of any legislation to come up during my 18 years of service in Washington."

Texas Gov. Allan Shivers said in Austin that Mr. Eisenhower acted on bad advice.

"I am terribly disappointed," Shivers said. "I feel the President has been very badly advised. I think his action in vetoing the bill will result in less gas at higher prices."

...but this is
Old Taylor 86

How can Old Taylor 86 cost considerably less than our 100 proof bonded bourbon—and only slightly more than most other 86 proof straights?

The reasons are simple.

Old Taylor 86 is exactly the same in quality as our 100 proof bonded bourbon. It costs you less, only because of lower taxes.

Yet even in this milder, gentler proof, Old Taylor quality is unchanged—rich, mellow, and deeply satisfying.

That is why Old Taylor 86 must cost slightly more than some straight bourbons, but money can't measure the difference in taste.

RUSSIANS FREE U.S. SOLDIER HELD FOR FOUR YEARS

Georgian Fled From Guardhouse With 2
Others—Health Appears 'Good.'

BERLIN, Feb. 17 (AP)—United States Army Pvt. Sidney Ray Sparks of Tennille, Ga., was released from four years of Russian captivity today. He was turned over to Army authorities at the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin.

Sparks had escaped with two other privates Dec. 4, 1951, from a West Berlin guardhouse. He was being held to face charges of being AWOL, stealing money and assaulting a German cab driver.

Three days after the escape, East German Communist authorities said the three men had sought political asylum, but Austrian prisoners returning from Russian labor camps last June said they had seen Sparks in a Soviet camp. They said he told them the Russians arrested him in Berlin in 1951.

Sparks, who is 23 years old, was given a physical examination immediately after his release today. An Army spokesman said he would go back to the guardhouse as soon as the examination was completed. One officer said the soldier "appeared to be in good health." Sparks was wearing an odd assortment of Russian clothing, including heavy work shoes, dark blue cotton trousers, a gray shirt and a sweat shirt. He was smoking Russian cigarettes. Army spokesman said he would not be permitted to tell his story publicly until legal authorities finished with his case.

Sparks's mother, Mrs. J. W. Gladin, lives at Tennille. The two men who escaped to the East with Sparks were Ray B. Schultz of Batavia, N. Y., and Charles J. Scott, Decatur, Ill.

Schultz returned from East Germany in June 1952. He was court-martialed, given a dishonorable discharge and sentenced to five years in prison. Scott has not been heard from since his flight.

The Austrian returnees who reported seeing Sparks said he asked them with tears in his eyes to inform United States authorities he was being held at Camp Potma in eastern European Russia. They said, he was ill at the time but was forced by the Russians to work in the woods.

When Schultz returned to West Berlin he said he and his two companions had signed "defection" statements on the promise of a Soviet officer that they would be released.

Instead, Schultz testified at his court-martial, they were accused of being spies, imprisoned three months and then sent to an "Allied deserters' colony" at Bautzen in East Germany where they were put to work. Sparks was later taken to Russia.

New Terminal at Lambert Field Rushed for March 10 Dedication

Passengers' Seats Installed—Dining Facilities Virtually Complete—Many Details Unfinished.

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine.)

Seats for passengers in the main concourse waiting room of the new terminal building at Lambert-St. Louis Field have been installed in preparation for dedication ceremonies for the $5,880,000 structure March 10.

The dining room and coffee shop are virtually complete, and the unusual screen that separates the dining area from the remainder of the main concourse has been installed. The screen, designed by Harry Berio, of Barto, Pa., consists of a frame 48 feet long, eight feet high and two feet deep in which chromium-plated steel rods support vari-shaped and many-hued panels and small mobiles.

Workmen are putting the finishing touches on the branch post office in the building, and the barber shop is ready to receive its equipment, which is on hand.

Many details to complete the building remain to be accomplished, however Airport Manager David Leigh has a check list of things to be done that is 15 pages long.

"We still have a hard row to hoe but we will make it in time," said Director of Public Utilities Conway B. Briscoe, whose department has over-all supervision of the airport.

While he and Leigh are proud of the new building, they ask that sightseers restrain their natural curiosity until the terminal is opened to public inspection March 10 and 11. Visitors now are a hindrance to the workmen and supervisors in the last-minute rush to meet the dedication deadline.

One of the features of the design of the terminal is that the building can be expanded to double its present size by the addition of more of the vaulted shells. The three shells or domes plus the "fingers" that provide sheltered passages to planes were designed to handle a traffic volume of 1,200,000 passengers a year. This was the level anticipated by 1960, but is now believed the figure may be reached this year or next.

Enough concrete has been poured into the apron for planes in front of the building to pave a standard 24-foot highway 21 miles long. This is in addition to the automobile parking lot beside Natural Bridge road in which enough asphalt has gone to pave an additional 4½ miles of highway.

BRITISH HOUSE VOTES TO END DEATH PENALTY

Commons Orders Preparation of Bill to Bar Hanging — 293 For, 262 Against Measure.

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The House of Commons ordered Prime Minister Eden's Government last night to draft a bill abolishing the death penalty in Britain. Eden indicated he hoped the deputies would change their mind when voting time comes again.

The House voted 293 to 262 to direct the government to introduce legislation removing capital punishment from the statute books, either permanently or for some specified trial period to allow reconsideration.

Cheers rang through the Commons chamber when the tellers announced the vote. Women in the public galleries waved their arms.

Eden, whose government urged retention of the death penalty, assured the House there would be "no undue delay" in introduction of the necessary legislation. He added that the government would "make a considered statement of the consequences" of abolition.

3 May Be Spared.
The House action apparently spared the lives of three young condemned killers awaiting hanging. Britain's only form of capital punishment. It was understood no death penalties would be carried out before the abolition legislation is introduced.

Those now under death sentence include William C. Edmunds, 21 years old, convicted of killing a 70-year-old woman; Robert J. Boyle, 24, sentenced for the murder of a baby; and Patrick Ross, 22, convicted of killing an Indian.

Presumably their sentences will be commuted to life imprisonment. Newspaper reaction to the House vote was mixed. The pro-Labor Daily Mirror and the Laborite Daily Herald approved. The Conservative Daily Telegraph dissented.

Although the Government wanted capital punishment retained, the vote to abolish technically did not constitute a defeat for the Cabinet. All parties allowed their members a free vote on the issue, permitting them to ballot according to their consciences instead of by party orders.

The Government had expected to win by a small margin.

Instead 37 of the Conservative majority and four Liberals joined the almost solid Labor opposition to make up the winning total.

It may be many months before the death penalty is officially lifted. The present parliamentary program is so heavy that the Cabinet may not get a bill drafted for several months. Even if the Commons repeats its vote, the House of Lords could delay action for months more.

150-Year Fight.

The Commons vote climaxed a 150-year fight to end executions. Early in the nineteenth century, at the time of industrial revolution, the "bloody code" provided hanging for 220 offenses, many of them relatively trivial. Mass public hangings were occasions for general holiday merriment, drunkenness and licentiousness. The criminal code was revised over the years and public hangings stopped about the middle of the last century. The law now provides capital punishment for only four crimes—murder, treason, piracy with violence and setting fire to royal dockyards and arsenals.

In recent years, an average of about 13 convicted murderers have died on British gallows.

Opponents of hanging, long a militant group in Britain, contend the penalty is inhuman, uncivilized and not a modern deterrent to crime. Defenders of the death penalty insist its removal will be followed by an upsurge of serious violence.

The antihanging sentiment was boosted greatly by the executions of sex strangler John Christie in 1953 and of Ruth Ellis, 28-year-old mother of two children, last July.

Some Unsatisfied.
After Christie's execution, he was suspected of committing a murder for which a neighbor had been hanged three years before. A government commission which investigated said no miscarriage of justice had occurred, but some members of Parliament and many others were not satisfied.

Mrs. Ellis admitted tracking her faithless lover to a bar and shooting him down, but the combination of her sex, beauty and motherhood status produced considerable public interest and agitation.

BUYING A NEW CAR?

... it's like a 3-ring circus. Everybody, or so it seems, shouts like a barker at a side show. Personally, I'm glad we don't have to shout. Studebaker has a lot of real happy owners who know from experience that dollar-for-dollar they get a lot more car for their money.

I was talking to a customer last Saturday who traded in a '49 Champion just recently. He had driven it over 86,000 miles without spending 1c on the motor, transmission or body. It had no squeaks or rattles, and the original tires lasted nearly 61,000 miles. Gasoline averaged better than 19 miles per gallon.

If you are looking for a car that's easy on the pocketbook, flashy on the road — come in and test drive the new Studebaker. If you haven't driven one lately, you're in for a big surprise. There's no obligation, no pressure ... just real good automobile.

St. Louisans Studying Effects Of Jet Noise on Carrier Crews

Scientists From Central Institute for Deaf Working at Sea Under Contract With Navy.

Scientists from Central Institute for the Deaf are studying effects of jet noise on flight deck personnel aboard a United States Navy aircraft carrier at sea. S. Richard Silverman, director of the Institute, told the Post-Dispatch today.

The study is being carried on under a contract between the Institute and the Navy's Office of Naval Research.

Research facilities are concentrated in a specially designed 40-foot long, sound-proofed trailer which can be transferred from one aircraft carrier to another.

"We felt this was the kind of problem which ought to be studied in the field," Silverman explained. "So we had a trailer designed and constructed which could be put aboard a carrier, where our men could have the laboratory facilities to make their studies."

Dr. Hollowell Davis, director of research at the institute, described the trailer as similar to a commercial highway trailer.

low Institute scientists to carry out their tests.

They are finding out what happens to the hearing of men who must work on the carrier's flight deck, exposed to the noise of jet planes as they warm up and atk off.

Previous scientific studies of the effects of high noise levels on human beings have shown that flight deck crews of carriers are exposed to such high energy levels of noise that this duty must be described as "definitely hazardous."

Silverman and Dr. Davis said the new portable laboratory had undergone one week-long shake-down cruise before its present assignment. Best methods of testing personnel who are busily engaged in their own military duties, and means of accurately measuring the noise level on the flight deck, are being studied, they said.

The initial shake-down cruise enabled the institute's scientists to solve some of these problems, but some techniques are still being perfected, they explained. It will be some time before results from the research project are available, they said.

The work is being carried on in co-operation with technical specialists of the Naval School of Aviation Medicine at Pensacola, Fla.

Silverman said the whole problem of noise has become a major concern of the institute's highly-trained research staff, working under contracts with the Air Force, the Army, and the Navy.

Under an Air Force contract held by Washington University, institute scientists have exposed some 200 guinea pigs to intense noise for varying periods of time and studied the effect of this noise on the guinea pigs' ears, he said.

Silverman said that under another Air Force contract, held directly by the institute, its scientists are examining effects of high noise levels at various frequencies on communication between individuals.

BIG-STORE SALES LAST WEEK 12 PCT. ABOVE 1955 LEVEL

Department store sales in the St. Louis area increased 12 per cent in dollar volume last week compared with the corresponding week a year ago, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported today.

For the four-week period ended last Saturday, St. Louis area department store sales increased 3 per cent over those of the corresponding period in 1955. Cumulative sales here since Jan. 1 were up 2 per cent in dollar volume over those of the same 1955 period.

10 per cent in the Eighth Federal Reserve District as a whole last week over the similar period a year ago and 3 per cent higher in the four weeks ended Saturday over a year ago. The sharp increases last week in the Eighth District and in St. Louis were attributed to the fact that sales were adversely affected by cold weather in the comparable period last year.

The TRUMAN MEMOIRS

Mr. Truman Explains Loyalty-Security Problem . . . He Denounces Demagogues and Gossipy Congressmen for Leaks.

By HARRY S. TRUMAN

Thirty-third President of the United States.
TWENTY-FOURTH ARTICLE, VOLUME II

I have little patience with people who take the Bill of Rights for granted. The Bill of Rights, contained in the first ten amendments to the Constitution, is every American's guarantee of freedom.

Many generations had fled to this country to get away from oppression by their own governments. And it has always troubled me how some who called themselves American could themselves become oppressors.

One of the most important guarantees under the Bill of Rights is the right to claim exemption from self-incrimination. This is a fundamental basis of our liberty and is provided for in the Fifth Amendment. In this country every person is protected against persecution by the Bill of Rights.

In recent years I have been alarmed by the reckless attempts to undermine some of the guarantees in the Bill of Rights. Men like McCarthy have made it appear that any person claiming his rights under the Fifth Amendment is guilty. McCarthy has even gone so far as to brand as Fifth Amendment Communists those persons who sought to invoke their constitutional rights. He has charged these witnesses with abusing the Fifth Amendment.

The fact is that the abuse came not from the people invoking the Fifth Amendment but from those who made it appear that a man claiming his rights under it is automatically guilty without having been proved guilty.

Mr. Truman's Theory of Rights.

If the government cannot produce witnesses in court, then it cannot prosecute. And if a man cannot be prosecuted in the courts, then he should not be persecuted by a Senate or House committee. That is my theory. Of course, every government does its best to get rid of every disloyal employee. But we should not, and we did not, want to treat the remaining 99.9 per cent of government employees, who are decent and honorable, in a way to ruin their reputations.

Frequently hearsay evidence is accepted as the truth and is used to smear a government employee in such a way that he cannot defend himself. This is what the Communists do, what McCarthy did, what the so-called Un-American Activities Committee in the House did. It simply cannot be squared with the Bill of Rights.

I never believed that this government could be subverted or overturned from within by Communists. The security agencies of the government are well able to deal quietly and effectively with any Communists who sneak into the government, without invoking Gestapo methods.

The business of security is a highly specialized operation requiring skilled technicians, experts and constant vigilance. Security often requires secret action instead of public moves since open publicity may actually hurt security.

In 1939, when I was nearing the end of my first term in the Senate, a Congressman from Texas, Martin Dies, began to sound off about Communists in government. He made many wild charges and became chairman of the first House Committee on Un-American Activities. He conducted hearings in a manner which I charged from the floor of the Senate as being most un-American itself.

Witnesses before his committee were too often brow-beaten, falsely accused and given no opportunity to have either the source of charges against them revealed or a chance to disprove the accusations. In fact, people were being tried before a Congressional committee instead of a court of law.

'Dangerous Misuse of Power.'

This was a dangerous misuse of the investigatory powers of Congress which are solely for the purpose of helping in the preparation of legislation. The methods used by the Dies Committee set a precedent which has plagued the Congress ever since.

I recall Vice President Garner, that sage from Uvalde, saying to me at that time, "The Dies Committee is going to have more influence on the future of American politics than any other committee of Congress."

I did not agree with him. I was wrong, and unfortunately Jack Garner's prophecy came true.

In 1946 I directed a sweeping study of the government's loyalty procedures to tighten the security program without violating the Bill of Rights.

On November 25, 1946, I issued an executive order, 9806, creating the President's Temporary Commission on Employee Loyalty. I instructed this commission: first, to inquire into the standards and procedures for investigation of persons employed by the government or applicants for government jobs; second, to inquire into the removal or disqualification of any disloyal or subversive persons; third, to recommend improvement in existing legislative and administrative procedure in connection with loyalty investigations; fourth, to establish administrative responsibility in loyalty cases and define standards of loyalty so as to protect the government against the employment of disloyal or subversive persons; fifth, to set up standards of procedure to ensure fair hearings to persons accused.

The Commission submitted its report to me on March 20, 1947. It concluded, on the basis of a comprehensive survey of government agencies, that there was virtually no uniformity in the administrative handling of the problem. Standards of judgment differed from agency to agency as did procedures. There was also considerable difference of opinion as to the kind of program that would best accomplish the purpose.

Recommended Procedures.

The Commission said that it realized that on this whole subject of employee loyalty hysteria, emotion and irresponsible thinking could easily play havoc and that an intelligent, realistic and factual approach was needed. The Commission recommended that each department and agency should set up its own loyalty procedures but that minimum standards should be set up for all government agencies by Executive Order. All persons entering the employ of any department or agency should be investigated for loyalty, in most instances by the Civil Service Commission. All present employees' names should be checked against the FBI files for information that might adversely reflect on their loyalty.

The procedure for the determination of loyalty cases, the Commission recommended, should consist of a Loyalty Board in each agency and a Loyalty Review Board in the Civil Service Commission. This Review Board should act as a coordinator of agency policies in the field of employee loyalty, as an adviser to the President and to the agencies in these matters, and as an appeal board for cases handled by the agency Loyalty Boards except where the law gave to the agency the right to make summary dismissals.

I examined the report of the Commission with great care. In a few instances I felt that its points could be made more specific and these sections were changed in accordance with my wishes before the Executive Order incorporating the recommendations was published. For instance, the Commission suggested that intentional and unauthorized disclosure of confidential information might serve as one of the criteria of disloyalty; this struck me as open to abuse and I asked that a phrase be added to the effect that this would apply only where the circumstances indicated disloyalty to the United States. In another section where the Attorney General was to be directed to compile a list of subversive organizations, I

Step Toward Security Control

added the requirement that no organization should be placed on this list without prior investigation and formal determination of its subversive nature.

In the Executive Order (No. 9835) which I issued on March 21, 1947 I emphasized two facts that I felt should control the program:

1. That although the loyalty of by far the overwhelming majority of all government employees was beyond question, the presence in the government service of any disloyal or subversive person constituted a threat to our democratic processes, and

2. That maximum protection must be afforded the United States against infiltration of disloyal persons into the ranks of its employees, and equal protection from unfounded accusation of disloyalty must be afforded the loyal employees of the government.

By this new executive order I felt that we had tightened the precautions against subversive infiltration. But at the same time we had set up machinery to protect the individual against false charges based on rumors or unsubstantiated gossip. It was by no means a perfect instrumentality. By and large, it did give anyone who was accused as fair an opportunity to have his case adjudicated as was possible under the climate of opinion that then existed.

I selected the twenty-three members of this Review Board on the basis of their known ability and their representation of different walks of life. They came from the top ranks of executives, lawyers, businessmen and the professions.

Seth Richardson was named to head the board. He was a prominent conservative Republican and worked in close contact with the Department of Justice.

Safeguards Removed by Congress.

In 1949, Congress began to include in various appropriation bills riders giving heads of departments the power to discharge employees on security grounds without any right of appeal. In effect, the Congress was attempting to remove the safeguards of individual rights laid down in my 1947 Executive Order, for all that needed to be done was to call a loyalty case a security case and there was no longer any review outside the departments.

Some reports showed that people were being fired on false evidence. These reports were distressing to me as I was very anxious that no injustice be done to any individual and that no individual be deprived of his rights.

On August 8, 1950, I sent a message to Congress recommending that the safeguards be restored.

Nuclear Arms Called Key to Allied Defense

British 'White Paper' Says Russia Still Aims to Rule World.

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP).—BRITAIN declared today the West must count on a nuclear counter-offensive to break the back of any enemy assault. It said Soviet long-term policy still aims at world domination.

The Eden government declared Russia had shattered western hopes for an immediate easing of East-West tension, and added:

"It therefore remains necessary for the western powers to hold their own in the world by their defensive strength until such time as a true understanding of western policies can make its impact on the Soviet people."

The statement was the government's annual defense "white paper" outlining the nation's defense plans for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

It said negotiation with the Soviet Union "cannot succeed unless it is clear that the democracies have the will and the means to maintain their integrity."

The (Big Four) foreign ministers' meeting in October 1955 made it clear that, for the present at least, there is no change in Soviet long-term policy which, fundamentally, aims at world domination.

Calling on the West to be ready for big-scale retaliation against aggression, the white paper declared:

"In the deterrent must be included an effective early warning system and the ability of the forces of NATO to hold by land, sea and air until the nuclear counter-offensive has broken the back of the enemy assault."

The statement disclosed Britain plans two series of atomic tests this year in and near Australia.

"Particular emphasis is being placed on the development of the ballistic rocket as a deterrent to aggression," it said.

Poet Heine's Papers Bought.

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Feb. 17 (AP).—Mayor Josef Gockeln announced today Duesseldorf has bought Heinrich Heine documents valued at $50,000 from the Strauss banking family. This is the 100th anniversary of the death of the famed German poet, who was born in Duesseldorf. He died in Paris Feb. 17, 1856.

CHILDS

Eisenhower May Say Only That He Is 'Available' to Run

Such Strategy Would Bring Overwhelming Demand That He Be Nominated and Would Shut Out Others.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS

A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1956, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

THE CONVICTION has spread in Washington since President Eisenhower's doctors gave him a clean bill of health that he will neither announce his second term candidacy nor declare that he cannot run again. Instead he will say that having tried to be completely frank about the limitations imposed by his illness, he will nevertheless be available for further service if his party wants him to run in November.

This again suggests a parallel with the strategy leading up to the "draft" of Franklin Roosevelt for a third term in 1940. Such a declaration of availability does two things. It opens the way for the inevitable demand that will come in overwhelming volume from the party faithful that he run again.

Second, it continues to have the effect of shutting out other candidates who would like to make a try in the primaries. It is not hard to imagine the kind of statement the President will read if he takes this middle ground position, as many now close to him are certain he will. He will say, and it is a safe surmise that willing hands are already preparing tentative drafts to await his consideration on his return to the White House, that he has pointed out how he must guard himself against excessive fatigue since he can never be restored to full health and that he is conscious of fatigue as a consequence of his illness.

Right Wing Indignant. Confronted with this outlook, right wing Republicans who have never really accepted Mr. Eisenhower can barely suppress their indignation. Their hopes have been centered on Senator William F. Knowland of California, minority leader of the Senate, who had previously said that if the President did not declare himself by Feb. 15 he would become an active candidate for the Republican nomination. That deadline left him with just time enough to take necessary steps to have a slate of delegates pledged to him filed in the primary race in his native state.

Now that the deadline has come and gone, the Senator and his backers must act at once if they are to comply with what they believe is the necessity to enter a slate by March 7. There are 70 names on the slate and each must be verified as a registered Republican so that the entire slate will not be subject to challenge. At the outset, as a candidate, Knowland must, of course, demonstrate that he can carry his home state primary.

Sherman Adams a Target. The suppressed indignation of right wing Republicans bears a strong family resemblance to that of conservative Democrats 16 years ago. They know they are helpless in the face of the President's great popularity and their frustration contributes to their anger. Even privately, however, the target is not so

They know they are helpless in the face of the President's great popularity and their frustration contributes to their anger. Even privately, however, the target is not so

Confronted with this outlook, right wing Republicans who have never really accepted Mr. Eisenhower can barely suppress their indignation. Their hopes have been centered on Senator William F. Knowland of California, minority leader of the Senate, who had previously said that if the President did not declare himself by Feb. 15 he would become an active candidate for the Republican nomination. That deadline left him with just time enough to take necessary steps to have a slate of delegates pledged to him filed in the primary race in his native state.

Now that the deadline has come and gone, the Senator and his backers must act at once if they are to comply with what they believe is the necessity to enter a slate by March 7. There are 70 names on the slate and each must be verified as a registered Republican so that the entire slate will not be subject to challenge. At the outset, as a candidate, Knowland must, of course, demonstrate that he can carry his home state primary.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

He Takes Us Apart

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent editorial entitled, "McCarthy Is Still Busy," arouses my curiosity and leads me to offer a friendly suggestion.

As a daily reader of the Congressional Record, I am rather curious to know why you singled out Senator McCarthy because he had certain material inserted in the Congressional Record, but made no mention of the fact that your own two Senators, Hennings and Symington, have had similar material inserted in the Congressional Record. Such material has been quite extensive.

Both have taken more time of the Senate for speeches than Senator McCarthy as shown by the Congressional Record.

Why not a similar article giving your readers the facts as to the amount of time consumed by the speeches on the floor of the Senate by the left-wing radicals such as Senators Humphrey, Morse and Lehman? Why not give your readers some figures on the amount of space used for the insertion of letters, editorials, speeches, etc., by those Senators as well as your two Missouri Senators?

During the last session of Congress and the current session of Congress, Senator McCarthy has used comparatively little space in the Congressional Record either to insert material or for his own speeches made on the floor of the Senate which have been very few indeed.

As a matter of fact, a considerable number of Post-Dispatch editorials have been inserted in the Congressional Record by various Senators and would probably add up to almost as much space as taken up by the McCarthy material.

My curiosity was further aroused as to why you did not deal with the merits of what Senator McCarthy had said, rather than the amount of space required for insertion in the Congressional Record. Can you truthfully deny the accuracy of the statements made by Senator McCarthy in his speeches and letters?

Why single out Senator McCarthy for this obvious smear attack and this obvious attempt at character assassination?

As to School Buses

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Regarding the letter of M. J. Dostal in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, charging discrimination on school buses because of religious belief, let's stick to the truth.

A fact sometimes overlooked is that the school buses of this country are open to all and are actually used by children of all religious faiths for transportation to public schools.

It is true that public school buses are not available to children attending private schools. However, that is not discrimination because of religious belief. It is wrong to charge religious discrimination where none exists.

TRUTH SEEKER.

Maybe Reader M. J. Dostal does not know that the majority still wants church and state separated and when the time comes that majority does not carry, we to the lot of us. I imagine that public schools are as great a menace to Communism as private and parochial schools could possibly be. Keep up the good work of printing a great newspaper.

JUST ANOTHER LONELY LITTLE PETUNIA,
House Springs, Mo.

To abandon the principle of separation of church and state would indeed be disastrous. This I hope, and I believe it is the hope of thousands of your readers, will never come to pass.

However, Mr. Dostal further states: "It is the parochial or private school that is the greatest menace to Communism in this country." If parochial and private schools are a menace to Communism, then by simple deduction according to Mr. Dostal, public schools are not a menace. I protest this vigorously. Further, I defy him to prove this innuendo.

INFURIATED.

A Common Man's Thanks

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I wish personally to thank our Missouri Senators for their valiant fight to defeat the natural gas bill, especially our Fighting Tom Hennings. He may rest assured that two votes are already waiting for him when he runs again.

Thank God we don't have a McCarthy of Wisconsin or a Johnson of Texas in Washington. Of course McCarthy is obligated to this big oil company for giving him a plane to fly around the states in, so naturally he had to vote for their bill. Whom was Johnson indebted to that he had to uphold this gas swindle?

Personally I'm riled up for I use gas for heating, and I know my gas bill is going up within the year. In my humble opinion, this is one of the biggest swindles ever put over on the common people.

My thanks also to Senator Douglas of Illinois for his splendid fight, and also to Drew Pearson for his articles exposing the acts of certain persons in Washington. More power to all of you and please keep the good work going. From just a common person.

J. V. REID.

How to File the 'Memoirs'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The Truman Memoirs will eventually reach the library. Let's hope this remarkable tome is not lost to posterity by incorrect filing, but takes its rightful place on the shelves with other great works of fiction.

Man With a Tough Job

President Eisenhower has selected Edward P. Curtis, a longtime friend who is a vice president of Eastman Kodak Co., to be his Special Assistant for Aviation Facilities. The man who takes this newly created staff post on March 1 will have on his hands just about the most important and difficult of national problems—that of unsnarling the traffic jam in the sky and preparing for the advent of the jet airliner.

If this assignment had been made two or three years ago the task would have been an imposing one. Its proportions right now, in the dawn of the jet travel era, are truly staggering. A special advisory group, reporting to the Budget Bureau last Jan. 13, told of daily danger of midair collisions on the airliner routes and warned that "urgent action" was imperative. It called for a figure of national renown to carry out the three-fold mission of saving present aviation facilities from breaking down, surveying the other aviation problems and drawing up a 20-year master plan for integrating all aviation facilities.

Mr. Curtis, who is 59, was Chief of Staff of the Strategic Air Force in Europe in World War II. And while he may not have the qualification of a Jimmie Doolittle, the Defense Department and the Commerce Department, both deeply concerned with air travel, have been told to give him full co-operation.

It is, however, a little disconcerting that Senator Monroney of Oklahoma is presently conducting an inquiry into the Commerce Department's alleged hamstringing of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Senator Monroney's contention that the CAA should be removed from Commerce Department control gives some ground for wondering about the value of the aid Mr. Curtis will get from the department.

So the path ahead for Mr. Curtis is none too clear. Aviation authorities say his task will require a minimum of 18 months or so. With the first jet airliners due in 1959, it is evident that Mr. Curtis is pressed for time. In the air traffic control field alone he probably will have to devise a completely automatic system for tracking and controlling all civilian and military planes, ranging from helicopters to supersonic fighters. And presumably he will recommend just how his master plan is to be paid for—a matter of great interest to the air lines, local governments and the Federal Government.

It certainly is well past time for unsnarling the traffic jam in the sky and for preparing for the advent of the jet airliner. National aviation policy, if it can be called that, has for too long done like Topsy—"just grown" of its own accord. May Edward P. Curtis have full success in his difficult task?

Too Darn Much Literature

It was about time the Worker's Paradise quit paying authors by the page. The system has created a sort of Reader's Purgatory, and the publishers are not too happy about it, either. So in what is possibly the most notable scientific advance since the jettisoning of the Lysenko notions about genetics, the Soviet Union is saying goodbye to all that. And we would imagine the reaction would be a good hearty wew! all around.

Writers like Edgar Wallace, or Theodore Dreiser, or particularly the authors of the various soap operas that lather up the airwaves and the coastal cables, would do all right selling their product by the page, pound or cubic yard. But perfectionists like, say Sackville-West, or more particularly poets whose volumes are as shy and gossamer as a moonbeam peeping from behind a cloud, would simply suffer like blazes.

Somerset Maugham pointed out the dangers of the quantitative approach to literature quite a few years ago in a series of articles on the art of skipping. He observed that Cervantes' "Don Quixote," for example, could be sustained without undue boredom only by judicious skipping. This was so, he said, because Cervantes was paid at space rates and had frugally thrown into his manuscript all the old stuff he had hidden away in trunks, attics, windmills, etc.

It seems that the modern Muscovite rides as hot and hard after the local equivalent of the dollar as ever did the unquixotic Cervantes, and for fully as many pages. Maybe now, with the New Editorial Policy, the Soviet reader can get back to some reading intended to inform, illumine and entertain, and not merely to go on and on.

Kinloch Seizes Its Opportunity

The city of Kinloch has taken a significant first step toward better days. Kinloch lies in the northern part of St. Louis county and is in large measure a slum. But by an overwhelming vote its citizens have now made it clear they intend to do all they can to help themselves. They have approved an urban renewal program that has as its aim such facilities as sewers, highways, parks and playgrounds where none now exist. They also are asking for federal help, in the form of expert advice and grants, and they are out to build more low-rent public housing. All this will take time, of course, but the important thing is that with community approval a start has been made.

Those Propaganda Balloons

In replying to the Soviet complaints about Air Force weather balloons, Secretary Dulles drew a sharp distinction between them and the balloons carrying propaganda material which are sent up by Radio Free Europe. The latter are not under government control, he indicated, and the government therefore takes no responsibility for them.

Some day, we rather imagine, this attitude toward the activities of private propaganda groups may have to be reviewed, especially if relations between East and West improve, and if the Soviets prove willing to make a comparable concession on their side.

In all candor it must be admitted that private organizations cannot usually engage in international activities, such as bombarding the Iron Curtain countries with propaganda against their existing governments, unless they have some color of consent from some other government. The separation between our State Department and the balloon activities in Europe may be complete, as far as formalities go, but it is a fairly safe bet that the balloon activities would not take place if the State Department strongly objected to them.

Again candor compels the admission that if the Kremlin were to use a "private" organization for the purpose of sending propaganda balloons over this country, most of us would regard it as a hostile act, and would certainly hold the Soviet government responsible for it.

One question to be cleared up some time is just how much good this balloon operation really does, so far as effective propaganda is concerned. In general, this kind of word warfare would seem to be effective only when the target government was teetering on the brink of collapse for other reasons. Is that the case in Eastern Europe? Or are the balloons simply causing ill will without bringing us any compensating advantage? The answer is important.

The Law in Louisiana

White supremacy politicians are glad enough to claim the privilege of deciding what is constitutional. They are quite willing to declare that the Supreme Court decisions outlawing public school segregation need not be obeyed because they consider it "unconstitutional." But a three-man United States district court at New Orleans has issued a reminder that it is the courts, not the politicians, that make the final judgment.

All three members of this court—District Judges J. Skelly Wright and Herbert Christenberry, and Circuit Judge Wayne G. Borah—are natives of Louisiana. They must be as conversant with the South's habits and mores as anybody could be. They are also conversant with the law, and they have thrown out as constitutionally invalid the statutes hastily passed by Louisiana in 1954 in an effort to circumvent the Supreme Court's decision.

Anybody could have told Louisiana that this would happen. Anybody can now tell other states which undertake to defy or circumvent the Court decision, that in the end, their legal subterfuges too will be struck down. By unanimous decision of the Supreme Court, reinforced by one court after another and by the national conscience, the law and the Constitution clearly require the abandonment of racial discrimination in the conduct of public schools.

As the Louisiana court said, however, it will take time to put this principle into full effect, and that will require from us all "the utmost patience, understanding, generosity and forbearance." There is no doubt about that whatever.

Is it not time, then, for the reasonable, moderate and progressive citizens on both sides of this question to take the leadership away from the radicals and rabble-rousers? If such citizens will assert themselves, and put their communities on the road to compliance with the Court decision, they can undoubtedly count on support from the same kind of citizens elsewhere in resisting undue federal coercion or undue haste in carrying out a difficult social change.

Finding Water in an Idea

An imaginative idea in the industrial conservation of water, an essential resource of which the nation is growing increasingly aware, comes from Minnesota. There the M. A. Hanna Co. proposes to construct a large basin in which will be stored excess water of the Prairie River from the spring runoff and from periods of excessive rainfall. The stored water will be used in the iron ore smelting process.

To capture water that otherwise would waste away to the sea, and put it to productive use, is one of the major objectives of conservation. There is plenty of water in the United States; the shortage is in the right kind of water at the right place and the right time. In bringing about that desired conjunction, new and bold ideas may play a considerable part.

Paying for Political Campaigns

The $2500 "gift" to Senator Case in connection with the natural gas bill has opened some eyes. It has brought demands for restrictions on the political use of money even from some who used to dismiss such proposals as "unrealistic," "chimerical," a "do-gooder's whimsy" and in similar allegedly down-to-earth terms.

But The Providence Evening Bulletin, which before this has warned against the misuse of money in elections, now calls for campaigns at public expense. The reform is radical, it admits, but is needed to keep our democracy from turning into an oligarchy. Adoption of the pending Hennings bill's provisions for more responsibility and publicity for campaign contributions probably is as far as Congress now is ready to go, if that far.

Campaigns at public cost, however, are not illogical, terribly complicated or extremely expensive. They are the rule in Great Britain and continental Europe. In general, a specific allowance is made for each voter who must be reached by a candidate. Government-controlled radio and television systems, of course, can make free time available to the candidates.

Several ways have been found to prevent abuses by lunatic-fringe candidates not making a serious bid for office. In some cases, funds are allotted only to those whose parties polled a specified percentage of the vote in the previous election. In other cases, candidates must post a sum of money which the government retains if they do not get a specified number of votes.

The philosophy behind the method is sound: the cost of filling a public office is deemed a proper governmental expense just like salaries of public officials. The method makes for relatively short campaigns, but adequate to give all candidates a chance to appeal to the voters. Its adoption could do much in the United States—as it did in Britain—to dispel the prejudice that "politics is a dirty business."

The publicity proposals introduced by Senator Hennings of Missouri could be adopted immediately without detriment to any candidate other than those who are planning to spend more money than they want the voters to know about.

That February Feeling

This is the time of year when the 1954 first baseman who didn't make the grade in 1955 looks like the great sensation of 1956. In short, its cheer-up, chin-up time in Florida, and you can feel the glow clear up here.

The Road Builders Are Rolling

News that work has begun on the Express Highway's Market street cutoff ought to evoke an approving cheer from the throat of every motorist who uses this route. When the job is finished some 18 months hence, the time-consuming bottleneck at the highway's eastern end will have become only a bad memory.

The cutoff will run some nine tenths of a mile easterly from Tower Grove avenue. It will pass beneath Boyle avenue and thence above Sarah street, Clayton avenue, the Wabash Railroad tracks and Vandeventer avenue. Then it will ease down to street level, connecting with Market near Spring avenue.

What is more, by the time this project is a reality the city-bound motorist will be able to sail smoothly beneath Grand boulevard and then on downtown. The bottleneck at Grand and Market will be forced open in July when the underpass now under construction at that point is scheduled to be completed.

Step by step a modern expressway system is being fashioned in the St. Louis area. Passage of bond issues for right-of-way acquisition in city and county set the road builders to work, and they are beginning to roll. First the Grand-Market underpass, now the Market cutoff, next whole stretches of new expressway, west, northwest, southwest. St. Louis is beginning to catch up with the times.

NUMBER TWO PATIENT

Southerners on Alabama Incident

From a Symposium of Southern Editors, Reprinted From the New York Herald Tribune

By Buford Boone

Publisher
The Tuscaloosa News
Tuscaloosa, Ala.

A great majority of students at the University of Alabama would prefer that Negroes stay away. But mob violence, and mob dictation, are not condoned by most of those on the campus.

Courageous action by university authorities and law enforcement, plus an abundance of luck, kept Alabama's conscience from bearing the load of a murder. For the mob was "gone." Its members, white-faced and out of touch with reality, tried to do what a white-haired woman, perhaps mother of a student, kept shouting for them to do: "Kill her, kill her, kill her."

The reference to "courageous action" applies only to the protection given the Negro student, and not to the nambypamby policy which permitted the mob to become so strong and vicious. The thinking people of the South will pay the price of maintaining respect for law, and for bringing themselves to face the realities of the present. For white Southerners, that price is an agonizing slipping away of some customs and habits as comfortable as old garments.

But white Southerners will not submit to force and intimidation, nor to all-the-way-at-once changes in a way of life. It is silly, in some people's minds, to reverse a cow. But the Hindus do. It may not be sensible, intelligent, nor American, in the opinions of many for Southerners to think as we do about segregation.

The area of danger lies in friction between extremists. The area of hope lies with Southerners, white and black, who believe in law and order. It lies with people who are willing to think about the truth that when one American is denied justice by legal devices, it is justly his, we all are poorer.

Personally, I know that change is here. I am neither ashamed of the past, afraid of the present, or despondent about the future. I believe law and order will emerge triumphant. And if it doesn't, all is lost.

In so far as the rest of the world is concerned, I'd ask that you let us continue to have your intelligent interest in this problem. Give us your patient understanding and your prayers. Otherwise, leave us alone.

It is significant that the once solid pattern of segregation in seventeen Southern and Border states and the District of Columbia has been shattered. Border states have moved toward desegregation; deep South states are firming up resistance.

It would be a serious error to underestimate the strength and the sincerity of the resistance movement in the deep South. Yet there are many moderates in the land, and they are working quietly toward ultimate compliance. But they do not command the public platforms, and hence, they are not being heard.

Incidents like the University of Alabama demonstrations often are magnified out of proportion. The Alabama story has grabbed headlines recently; yet, by a recent estimate, nearly 2000 Negroes have been enrolled in previously all-white colleges and universities without incident.

There is an old axiom that any problem is worse where most of it is. It applies to this problem.

The problem can be solved by hard work and by the passing of time, but not by direct fiat. The University of Alabama situation, in my opinion, is a fairly accurate reflection of the majority state attitude, but not necessarily of the university itself. If outside interference is not controlled, the situation may well become more acute. The problem in the deep South states must not be confused or compared with that in the border states. It is a problem which will require all the best there is in us. South, North, East and West.

The colored co-ed at the University of Alabama was spirited off to safety from the mob, but so much cannot be said with certainty for the South. Nothing can be more clear in this difficult year than that such mob action greatly harms the hopes of the South in working out some satisfactory solutions of the desegregation problem.

There are in the North, extremists on this problem, just as there were Southern extremists, ready with violence, in Tuscaloosa. There are, however, great numbers of people in the North who deeply sympathize with the difficulties of the South as it confronts this problem, the dimensions of which they recognize. The South needs the good will and understanding of such people.

With a few exceptions, Southern communities will not accept mixture of the races in public schools. South Carolina is not an exception. The outbreak at the University of Alabama is a symptom of a general resentment against pressure by legal devices.

If the pressure grows stronger, resentment will grow in the same proportion. The problem of race is insoluble.

As might have been expected, the Northern press is in full cry over the disturbance.

That example, we agree, is disgraceful—but not for the reasons cited in the anti-Southern press. The fact is that the United States government, prodded by racial interests, has fomented race trouble where peace once reigned.

A Danish society has offered a scholarship at the University of Copenhagen to Aunette Lucy, the colored student rejected by rioters in Alabama. The Danes, living in a white man's country, have missed the point.

Would Denmark be willing to admit a majority or close to a majority of Negroes to its universities and schools? If so, perhaps a trade could be arranged.

Ignorance may be in part to blame for race pressures in the South today. We happen to believe that more sinister forces are involved. Whether it is ignorance or evil, one act stands out clearly in the United States. It is that our country is not prepared or qualified to take on the task of world policeman.

The United States Government today lacks patience and diplomacy in dealing with the South. We hope it does not attempt to use armed force.

Except for four petitions which have not yet been followed through, no effort has been made in Mississippi to enter Negro children in presently white schools. However, the situation is more tense than in the first few months after the Supreme Court's original decision. In great part, this is because of widely publicized and unpunished acts of violence against Negroes.

I see no solution in the ascertainable future, and certainly no likelihood of public school integration. The state has a variety of legal delaying tactics in addition to active or latent economic pressure and threat of violence.

Mankind's Last Stand

THE CITY AND THE STARS, by Arthur C. Clarke.
(New York, 1946, 316 pp., $3.75.)

The greatest problem in the writing of extrapolative fiction is the presentation of the illusion of reality, the securing of what Coleridge called "the willing suspension of disbelief." In science fiction it is generally agreed that Arthur C. Clarke ranks second only to Robert Heinlein in the practice of this difficult art.

The present book, an expanded and rewritten version of the author's first novel, "Against the Fall of Night," tells of the earth in an incalculably distant future when mankind has withdrawn to a womb-like existence in Diapir, the last of his great changeless cities. The young hero, Alvin, sets out to find the reason for mankind's flight from his former empire amid the stars and for his almost psychopathic fear of the world beyond the walls of his eternal city. The search for these answers yields a highly entertaining story.

This is not, however, top-drawer Clarke and those who remember "Earthlight" and "The Sands of Mars" are likely to be disappointed. "The City and the Stars," in spite of its extensive revision, still carries the youthful flavor of a first faltering effort. The more sophisticated writing of the revised sections seems oddly out of proportion to the immaturity of the basic plot. Yet, the high polish of Mr. Clarke's style, his intuitive ability to draw the most out-scenes with a draftsman's pen almost compensate for these defects.

It's a pity that the author did not expend all of this effort on a more original work. The present book, however excellent, still falls short of what Mr. Clarke's readers have come to expect from him.

Treasury of Quotations

DICTIONARY OF AMERICAN MAXIMS, edited by David Kin. (Philosophical Library, $7.50.)

An immense amount of reading must have gone into the compilation of this treasury of American quotations. At a rough estimate there must be some 10,000 of them, all unmistakably the native product and most of them highly minded enough (to quote J. Donald Adams's foreword) to "create the millennium in a jiffy." This storehouse of quotations makes good occasional reading, offering both old favorites (Emerson's "Hitch your wagon to a star" and odd surprises (Gelett Burgess's "Many people live alone and like it, but most of them live alone and look it").

This is the kind of book that invites browsing; you should read aloud from it whenever you light on a gem. For a country that is still comparatively young, we have accumulated a surprisingly large stock of maxims and aphorisms.

For the Space Traveler

200 MILES UP, by J. Gordon Vaeth. (Ronald Press, $4.)

This is a new edition of one of the pioneer books on the conquest of the upper air, written by the head of the New Weapons and Systems Division of the U.S. Navy Special Devices Center. There are no new revolutionary theories or secret projects disclosed here, but the value of the book lies in its masterly outline of what we already know about the upper atmosphere. The "200 miles up" of the title would take the space traveler through all those layers of upper atmosphere into space itself, and a final chapter of the book takes a close and detailed look at the problems that will confront the first hardy souls to venture into space. Mr. Vaeth writes in a simple, nontechnical style, and everything he says bears the mark of authority. Science-minded readers will find the facts against which to match the theories of the science-fictioners.

WALTER LIPPMANN

The President's Ordeal

IT IS REASONABLY PLAIN that the President knew in advance of his latest check-up that the signs of his recovery would be favorable. Thus, at his press conference a few days before, he said that he would probably trust his own feelings rather than the doctors' reports. This could only have meant that the favorable report of the doctors would not decide the matter.

Moreover, it stands to reason that he has heard considerably more from his doctors than the public has heard, or could have expected to hear, about what limitations he must expect to live under. The decision whether to run again has not been clarified for him by the doctors. They could have told him that he must not run again.

They could not, and did not, tell him that he could take his health for granted in making his decision. The President has made it clear that he himself is not taking his health for granted, and that—should he decide to run again—the question of his physical fitness to bear the full burden of the office will be not only a legitimate but a necessary subject of public discussion.

No one, in fact, has discussed the question of his fitness so frankly as has the President himself.

January Not Typical.

The decision which he must now make is whether he himself feels within himself that he is equal to the burden of his office, is equal to it as he has known it during the past month but in its great periods of strain and stress and crisis.

At Dr. White's press conference, Mrs. May Craig of the Portland Press Herald made a remark which, despite Mr. Hagerty's comment, everybody in Washington knows to be true—that the President has not recently had to bear the full load of the office.

No doubt he has had a reasonably full schedule. But January was a comparatively quiet period both at home and abroad, a lull before the storms that are brewing in Congress, in the election campaign, and from the gathering momentum of the Soviet challenge in Asia and Africa.

A Question of Adequacy.

The hardest question that the President has to resolve is not whether he might die in office. The doctors have given him as good an assurance on that point as they could have. Nor is it a question of his being incapacitated, though that eventually is, as he himself has said in one of his press conferences, a weak link in our constitutional system.

The doctors' report is adequately reassuring on that point. The real question is not death or disability but inadequacy, not being at his best, being able to carry on the routine of the office but not to supply the kind of energetic leadership which the world situation is certain to demand.

This, it is quite plain, is the crucial point which the President is now wrestling with.

Nixon's Role.

There is another point, second only to this, which would become of critical importance if he resolved all the other questions in favor of running. It turns on the vice presidency.

There can be no doubt at all that the President would have a very special personal obligation to consider without fear or favor, impersonally and objectively, the choice of the man who would succeed him in case of death or disability.

He will be required, if he runs again, to give the country his personal guarantee that the vice presidential candidate does in fact believe in, does not merely support politically, the principles that he himself stands for.

He can give no such guarantee for Mr. Nixon. It is not a question of whether Mr. Nixon supports the Eisenhower legislative program or whether he speaks up in defense of the Eisenhower policies. Of course he does. The question is whether he represents the central thing which Eisenhower represents, the thing which has given Eisenhower such a hold on the American people.

A Ruthless Partisan.

This central thing is that Eisenhower unites the country and heals its divisions. This precisely is what Nixon does not do. Instead of being a national leader, he is a ruthless partisan. He is a politician who divides and embitters the people.

The country has just had a spectacular demonstration of this characteristic in his speech at the Lincoln day dinner in New York. "Speaking for a unanimous Supreme Court," said the Vice President, "a great Republican Chief Justice, Earl Warren, has ordered an end to racial segregation in the nation's public schools."

A man who will exploit for partisan purposes such a decision of the Supreme Court does not have within his conscience those scruples which the country has the right to expect in the President of the United States.

The question of who would run with Eisenhower is clearly bound up with, is for all practical purposes inseparable from, the question of whether he himself will run again.

The Queen kept Prime Minister Eden and the entire cabinet waiting in the cold while she held a private reunion with her children.

Talking Stamp Machine Amuses,
Startles Post Office Patrons

Vending Device, in Washington Debut, Says 'Thank You' and Rattles Off Boost for Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Post Office Department's new experimental "thank you" stamp-vendor drew a line of curious, amused and sometimes startled patrons for its Washington debut.

"Thank you," says the machine, among other recorded messages, "I am another example of the streamlining of your postal service."

Most of the customers went away chuckling after putting their coins in the slot, manipulating buttons and dials and getting back the stamps wanted plus the right change. They seemed to like the "thank you," and they were obviously pleased at having successfully operated another gadget.

Postal officials recently told Congress the hand-built pilot models of the new automatic vendor were costing about $4000 each but that quantity output would bring this down to around $1000.

The machine will dispense 2, 3 and 6-cent stamps and make change for customers when regular stamp windows are closed. The first installation of the "thank you" machine was made last Saturday in a new post office at McLean, Va. The second here will be followed shortly by additional installations in New York City, Detroit and Flint, Mich. Postmaster General Summerfield's home town.

Flute and oboe were added for the "Seventeenth Century Dance Suite," arranged from manuscripts in the British Museum, the D Major Quintet of Johann Christian Bach and the E Minor Sinfonia of Alessandro Scarlatti. #### To the Extremes.

JIM KREBS and the Southern Methodist Mustangs are having some rare times in their drive for a second successive Southwest Conference title. . . . In one game Krebs scored 30 points; in the next, a stalling encounter between S.M.U. and Texas Christian, both teams didn't make that many points (final score 26-22).

The six-foot-eight 235-pound Krebs from Webster Groves is taking some journalism courses at S.M.U. But he "made" the headlines instead of writing them when he got that 30-point total against Texas. The Dallas Times Herald gave it a good play.

Krebs is the type of boy who never seeks individual records. Perhaps that is why his teammates were so interested in seeing him set one (against Texas). The newspaper reported in that game Krebs's teammates turned to feeding him the ball so he could set the new Southwestern Conference individual mark.

S.M.U. Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes okayed that move when victory was certain, explaining "we make no effort to glorify anybody on the team. We merely try to exploit our opponents' weakness. When a play works we keep on using it. And the (high) pass in to Krebs was working well because his guard was playing in front of it."

It was recalled that Krebs didn't get off to a very good start in conference games this season, scoring only 11 points against Rice, nine in the first game with Texas and seven against Texas A. & M.

Heading for the N.C.A.A.

SOUTHERN METHODIST'S unbeaten march (8-0) through Southwestern Conference opposition in an 18-2 season is likely to give it another shot at the N.C.A.A. championship tournament. In that event last year S.M.U. lost to Bradley in the Manhattan, Kan., regional.

This year the Southwest Conference winner first will meet the Border Conference champion on March 12 or 13 in a game to determine which will proceed to the Lawrence, Kan., regional to play the Missouri Valley Conference winner March 16. Also at Lawrence that night the Big Seven champion will oppose an at-large team.

S.M.U., which Ken Loeffler of Texas A. & M. has described as capable of playing "any team in the country, figures as a stronger N.C.A.A. possibility this time. It ranks eighth in one national rating, twelfth in another.

The latest Southwest Conference statistics show a thing or two about the Mustangs. In the percentage game of basketball they stand a 50-50 chance of sinking every shot they try from the floor—that is, in conference games. Their field goal percentage was .501 for seven league games. Their free throw percentage was .794.

Over-all, Southern Methodist has a field goal accuracy mark of 43.6, which puts it among the first-10 teams in the country in that department.

The Mustangs are not just an offensive team. They hold the opponents' scores down, too. They have averaged 73.2 points per game and have yielded 60.9 for an average spread of 12 points.

Dribbles.

SOME Missouri Valley Conference followers are wondering what Houston will do if it wins the Valley title and thus qualifies for N.C.A.A. tournament play. . . . Reason is that Don Boldebeck and Art Helms appear to be fourth-year players (both transfers) and therefore not eligible for that tournament. . . . Maybe Oklahoma A. & M. will help settle that when it plays the Cougars at Houston tomorrow night. . . . The Aggies are 4-2 in league play, Houston is 7-2 and tied for the lead with St. Louis U. . . . Houston Coach Aliden Pasche has said the Cougars are interested in a possible National Invitation Tournament bid which is expected to go to the Valley runner-up. . . . St. Louis, of course, is likely to get an N.I.T. bid if it doesn't make the N.C.A.A. grade. . . . The Bills have strong friends in New York. . . . But the N.I.T. could take two Valley teams. . . . It has done it before.

Eddie Hickey's Billikens will resume their Valley title push tomorrow night when they entertain Wichita at Kiel Auditorium. . . . Their 24-game regular schedule has five games left, including non-conference games at Drake next Tuesday and at Arkansas March 5.

Henry Armstrong Is Sued for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (AP)—Boxing's former triple crown champion, Henry Armstrong, was sued for divorce by Mrs. Milla Mae Armstrong, a seamstress. She alleged cruelty and misconduct with another woman, asked for $100 monthly alimony and all the community property. Armstrong's lawyer said he would file an answer soon, denying the charges. The couple was wed in 1934.

Armstrong now is an evangelist and night manager. He once held the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight titles.

Frank Smith's Hopes of Comeback Rise After Workout

Bull Pen Pitcher Feels No Arm Pain

By J. Roy Stockton

Post-Dispatch Sports Editor. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 17—Frank Smith, whose lame arm helped to make 1955 a woe-filled season for the Cardinals, has high hopes that this season he can make the Redbirds a little happier about the trade that brought the right-handed relief pitcher to St. Louis in exchange for Ray Jablonski and Gerry Staley.

It's too early to say that Smith's arm is sound again. It may be weeks before Manager Fred Hutchinson has the answer about the former Redleg bullpen ace. And Fred has warned Smith to take it easy. But thus far the signs are encouraging.

Smith threw to a catcher for a 10-minute stretch on Wednesday and again yesterday while he wasn't throwing hard he did let go a few times. Going to the clubhouse to change shirts after the workout—it was another hot day with the temperature around 80—Smith was grinning. And it wasn't a sheepish grin. He said he felt good, had experienced no pain or discomfort.

Oh, My Aching Muscles. In this age of the lively ball and the home run swing, with everybody trying to reach the fences, a club's bullpen is one of the most important departments. Smith, the big disappointment of last season, was one of the best relief pitchers in the business with Cincinnati. His return to active duty could be a big help to the Redbirds in their bid to become pennant contenders again.

Most muscles were creaking as the squad of nearly 50 Redbirds went through the fifth day of training in the instructional camp. Big Walk Cooper expressed the feelings of most of the players.

"I'm not sure where I hurt the most," Cooper cracked. "But I hurt everywhere except in my fingernails." It will be another few days before muscles are tuned to the rugged baseball activity, but even if it does hurt in places, there'll be a squad game tomorrow. Hutchinson and his coaches picked the squads to compete, one made up mostly of players on the Cardinals roster, the other an all-rookie group.

New Position for Lassetter. The majors will include Tom Alston and Joe Cunningham. First basemen: Don Blasingame, second: Dick Schofield and Edie Kasko, short: Ken Bover, third: Jackie Brandt, Rip Repulski and Pete Whisenant, outfielders: Hal Smith and Bob Todd, catcher, and Harry Holzman, pitcher.

For the minors the lineup will be Don Lassetter, former Georgia U. quarterback, at first base; Walter Shannon, second; Rueben Amoro, shortstop; Bill Moore, third base; Gene Green, first baseman; Mel Nelson in the outfield; Clair Trovelli, catcher, and Bob Mabe the pitcher.

The club, on recommendation of coaches and observers, has decided to convert Lassetter, who has played the outfield in the minors, into a first baseman.

"Good first basemen with power are scarce, and Lassetter has good power," General Manager Frank Lane explained. "Also his arm will be more adequate at first base. We want to salvage his batting power." Bill Kunkle, who has been a shortstop, is another rookie who is to be converted. The coaches decided his arm would be more adequate at third. He also has shown power with minor league clubs.

Outfielders Russell Rac and Allie Clark were due in camp for today's workout. Rac is the fourth-year player (both transfers) and therefore not eligible for that tournament. . . . Maybe Oklahoma A. & M. will help settle that when it plays the Cougars at Houston tomorrow night. . . . The Aggies are 4-2 in league play, Houston is 7-2 and tied for the lead with St. Louis U. . . . Houston Coach Aliden Pasche has said the Cougars are interested in a possible National Invitation Tournament bid which is expected to go to the Valley runner-up. . . . St. Louis, of course, is likely to get an N.I.T. bid if it doesn't make the N.C.A.A. grade. . . . The Bills have strong friends in New York. . . . But the N.I.T. could take two Valley teams. . . . It has done it before.

Simmons's Arm Appears Strong In Workout at Training Camp

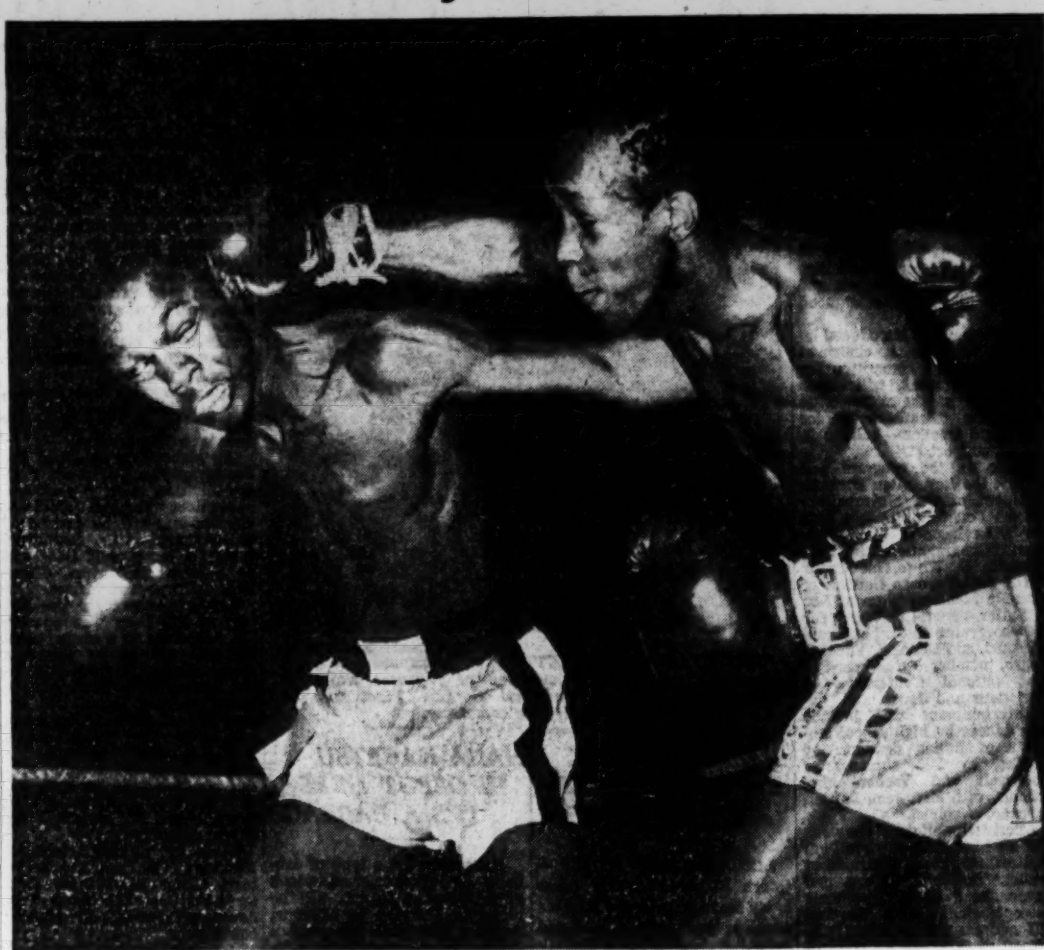

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 17 (UP)—The Philadelphia Phillies were heartened by the showing of southpaw Curt Simmons yesterday. Simmons, handicapped with a sore arm most of last year, threw about 15 minutes at three-quarter speed and reported his arm seemed sound again.

Even though Simmons wasn't bearing down, Whitlaw Wyatt, the Phils' pitching coach, said the left-hander's pitches were "swooping, rising and veering." The Phils also announced yesterday that Robin Roberts, 20-game winner for the past five years, had signed a contract at $50,000 plus.

Shortstop Johnny Logan, whom Manager Charlie Grimm describes "as the most underrated player in the league," signed his contract with the Milwaukee Braves. Logan batted .297 in 54 games last year, driving in 83 runs and hitting 13 homers.

Relief pitcher Bill Henry, who won two games and lost four for Boston last season, signed with the Red Sox, while the Giants signed their "new" pitching

Half of the Eddington Firm Crashes Through

Twins, Dan and Don Eddington, Among Golden Gloves Champions

By Neal Russo

Opponents of the St. Louis Golden Gloves team at Chicago the last three days of February will be seeing double, courtesy of Dan and Don Eddington, twins who qualified for the Western tournament by taking Open division titles last night at Kiel Auditorium.

It was Daniel of Mullaphy Center who sprang the big surprise by upsetting Tommy Reynolds. Favored Tommy of the Rock Athletic Club had moved to the 118-pound class after losing the 112-pound crown here and in Chicago (both the western and national Gloves meets) and winning three of four bouts in Europe. Reynolds bowed on a split decision.

Brother Don, who accomplished the unusual feat of 113-pound championships in the Western and Nationals as well as a similar 3-1 record in Europe after grabbing the 112-pound novice trophy here, all last year, made the Chicago-bound team directly this time by winning the 112-pound open crown.

Donald's victim was Gerald Moore of Jackson, Tenn., who was fortunate to escape being floored by his rival's quick, hard punches.

With featherweight Willie White and lightweight Wardell Bolden having preceded Reynolds in the upset-loss department, only Leon Brooks of four 1955 Open defending champions came through in the Globe-Democrat's twenty-first annual tournament. Hard-punching Welterweight Brooks of Vashon Center didn't waste time, using a long left hook and a right cross to knock out lanky Wiley Johnson of Jackson, Tenn., just before the bell ending the first round.

Condition Wins It.

Several other Open matches, including the slambang decision for Hammerin' Brown McGhee of Jackson over Jimmy Carter of Carr Center at 126 pounds, gave the 8173 customers more than their $15.12 worth. But it remained for a novice scrap, next-to-last bout on the 34-fight four-and-one-half hour show, to pull the fans out of their seats.

And, next to Jack McCracken and his family, probably the most pleased fan of all was little Joe Weber, the likable former South Broadway A.C. coach, who recalled that Butcher Boy Jack was the last boy he trained before illness two years ago ended his 28-year stay as South Broadway coach. "Condition, condition, condition," that's what did it," Weber yelled after McCracken was awarded the unanimous decision over William Foster of the East St. Louis Youth Organization in the 160-pound novice class.

In what observers called the best fight in many a Golden Gloves tourney, McCracken, who works in his father's butcher shop, pulled victory out of the old fire in the final round. Foster, who had played the butcher himself by kayaking all four of his previous foes, had McCracken in a bad way in the first round. Then the S.B.A.C. showed his great stamina by battering Foster in a corner as the round ended.

Although whacked hard himself, McCracken had the better of the second round in which he caught Foster against the ropes. However, it looked as if the Butcher Boy had run out of gas early in the third round as Foster staggered him with thundering rights. Then McCracken suddenly came to life, cornering Foster and battering him furiously for a decisive knockdown.

Shaw Finishes Strong. Joe Shaw of Vashon, who had upset Bolden, finished strong after finding it difficult to solve lefty Cornelius Fowler of Buder Center, and took the 135-pound open title on a decision.

William Anderson, Tandy

175 POUNDS—William Williams, Pruitt Homes, 1-11.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Richard Merrill, Jackson, Tenn., stopped Robert Howard, East St. Louis, 1-11.

1-11 first round.

Center middleweight, scored the other Open KO, flooring Vernie Sanders of Centralia, Ill. V.F.W., with a right hook to the jaw at 1:21 of the first round. It went down as a TKO, but it took far more than 10 seconds to revive Sanders.

Other Open victors, on decisions, were Ben Bankhead, Tandy heavyweight, over Lucius Tate of East St. Louis and William Clemens of East St. Louis over Milton Tate, Mullaphy.

Reynolds' wide-open style was made to order for Dan Eddington's long overhand rights countering Tommy's right-hand leads. One such blow shook up Reynolds after Tommy had opened the third round in great style. Eddington seldom let his harder-punching rival get set.

Bolo-punching Carter got off to a rousing start with a whirlwind attack, but busy-beaver McGhee wore him down by staying close the rest of the way.

Golden Gloves Notes.

The Eddingtons' victories gave Coach Nelson Minter's Mullaphy squad the team city title with 49 points to 44 for Vashon, winner the last two years. Jackson, Tenn., easily ran off with the visiting team trophy.

The prized individual award—the Knights of the Cauliflower Ear Trophy to the outstanding boy in the meet—was announced, with the other awards, before the finals, and it turned out to be a good omen for Dan Eddington, the recipient.

Other awards: Biz Kinney award to coach showing outstanding sportsmanship on the part of his boxers—Gene McGovern and Jack Bogosian of Granite City Lincoln A.C.

Griffin Ivey award, to outstanding sportsman in 135-pound open class (there were 19 entries)—Joe Shaw.

Herb Kranz Memorial award, to visiting team with most points—Jackson, Tenn.

Brotherhood award—to Sam Westbrooks, Vashon coach.

Bob Dana trophy, to open class boxer for sportsmanship and skill—Bob Lynn of Bangert A.C.

There have been complaints by players of both the home club and visitors for spring exhibition games here about the background in center field. Among those saying something to Lane was Yogi Berra of the Yankees. So Lane had a few extra palm trees planted behind the center field wall to fill a gap or two in the background. A player who has trained here before this spring and is here now was asked about the difference, after two days of batting against the new "solid" background.

"Where?" he replied. "Is there a hole in the background? Was there a hole? When are they going to fix it? I guess I haven't batted since they planted the trees."

McBride Kickers Win. McBride High soccer team defeated Ladue yesterday, the varsity score 4-0, the B team score 3-0.

Doctor Is Awarded $5000 in His Suit Against Campanella

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Roy Campanella, the National League's most valuable player whose big bat did much to lead Brooklyn to its first world baseball championship in 1955, dropped a decision in court yesterday.

Fullmer Choice To Beat Turner Mosconi Sets Billiard Mark

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (UP)—Middleweights Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, and Gil Turner of Philadelphia, meet tonight at Madison Square Garden in a TV-radio "rubber match" that should be a beauty. (The fight will be televised by KSD-TV.)

Those two aggressive, fast-action lads tangled twice before and each won a decision. This one will be the decider. Fullmer is favored at 9-5 because he is rated number six among contenders and because he increased his aggressiveness with a plunging, headlong attack in his last two bouts.

Philadelphia Gil gave Fullmer an unexpected trouncing in their lively first fight at Brooklyn last April 4. It was Gene's first defeat after 29 straight victories. But Gene turned the tables on Turner and won a close decision in their second melee at Salt Lake City, June 20.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Willie Mosconi, pocket billiard champion, set a world mark and tied another last night in trouncing challenger Jimmy Caras.

Willie defeated Caras 150 to minus 1 in two innings, setting a record when he ran 151 in the second inning to break his own previous mark of 150 in championship play.

The record he matched was a two-inning game which had been done previously by Mosconi and George Chenier of Canada.

Both players scratched in the first inning and each owed one point. Mosconi then ran 151 and Caras didn't get another turn. Mosconi has won all six blocks of the challenge match thus far, leads in points 900-385, and has the remarkable average of 23.7 points per inning. The match ends Saturday night.

Miss Albright Gains Lead in Figure Skating

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 17 (UP)—Tenley Albright, the defending champion, fought off a strong challenge from Carol Heiss today to take a narrow lead after four of the six compulsory figures in the women's division of the world figure skating championships.

Carol, the pretty, 16-year-old New Yorker who has been runner-up to Tenley of Newton, Mass., in every major championship during the past two years, led after the first three figures.

But the 20-year-old champion rallied to win honors in the fourth for a narrow over-all lead. The field of 22 will do the final two compulsory figures tomorrow morning and settle the championship in tomorrow night's free skating phase.

The compulsory figures count 60 per cent and the free skating 40 in deciding the winner. Hayes Alan Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., is heavily favored to win his fourth straight men's world title tonight. Jenkins, making his last appearance in a major international event, boasted a 20.6 point lead over Ronnie Robertson of Long Beach, Calif. after

No official point totals will be released before completion of the women's six compulsory figures. But Miss Albright was unofficially credited with 631.3 points and Miss Heiss with 629.9.

Edwardsville Five Can Clinch Tie for Title

One of the district's highest scorers, 6-foot-2 Manny Jackson of Edwardsville, will again be the chief problem for Collinsville tonight when the teams meet in a Southwestern Illinois Conference game that could clinch at least a championship tie for Edwardsville or keep alive the Kahoks' hope for getting a piece of the title. The game will be at Collinsville at 8:30.

Edwardsville, ranked No. 8 in the state in a recent poll, will carry a 7-1 conference record and an over-all mark of 17 and 5 into tonight's game. Collinsville has won seven league games and lost three. Each team has one league contest after this. In between the two in the Southwestern standings is Alton (7-2), which will entertain Belleville in a conference game.

Jackson, with a 25.1 average for Edwardsville's 22 games, could break the all-time one season scoring record for the Tigers tonight. The high-jumping Negro star has flipped in 553 points so far, and needs just 13 more to tie the record set by Bob Gregor in the 1953-54 season. Gregor is now a sophomore at Vanderbilt.

Edwardsville defeated Collinsville, 83-74, when they met on the Tigers' court, Jan. 13. Collinsville led, 40-36, at the half, but a basket spree by Jackson, Harold Patton, Governor Vaughn and Ken Shaw put Edwardsville in front. Jackson equaled his season average in the game with 25 points. Vaughn had 18, Patton and Shaw 16 apiece.

Terry Bethel, 6-foot-6 center, is Collinsville's heavy scorer. He was effective against Edwardsville, too, getting 34 points in their January game. Tommy Jackson, 6-4, had 18 in the match and has been a consistent scorer lately.

Collinsville concludes its league campaign at Wood River tomorrow night, while Alton has Granite City as its guest. Alton will play at East St. Louis Wednesday.

why Ancient Age can say:

"IF YOU CAN FIND A BETTER BOURBON ...BUY IT!"

All we distill is Kentucky straight bourbon.

We know that bourbon of the finest quality requires choice grains. That's all we use. We know it calls for the greatest skill in distilling. The men who guide the making of Ancient Age are the most experienced in the industry. And it takes lots of time. That's why we wait six full years for careful aging to bring the quality ingredients to their peak of maturity.

And to safeguard the uniform quality of Ancient Age, we distill it at one place only... at the Ancient Age distillery in Frankfort, Kentucky... the heart of the bourbon country.

Nothing has been spared to make Ancient Age the greatest bourbon of them all. We invite you to try it tonight. After one taste, you'll understand why we can make the challenge: "If you can find a better bourbon... buy it!"

Saxton's Share Of Purse Equal To Champion's

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Welterweight Champion Carmen Basilio and Challenger Johnny Saxton have signed a contract for a 30-30 split of the proceeds for their 15-round title bout in Chicago Stadium March 14.

The bout originally was scheduled for Feb. 15, but was postponed when the champion became ill with a virus infection. The signing ceremony was in a gala ceremony for the benefit of cameramen, photographers and sports writers. Basilio and Joe Netro, co-manager with John DeJohn, signed the agreement.

Saxton, of Philadelphia, signed alone since his manager, Frank (Blinky) Palermo, is under Illinois suspension.

The equal 30 per cent split of the net and an expected take of about $50,000-$60,000 from TV-radio is unusual. Usually the champion gets 40 per cent and the challenger 20. But Saxton twice stepped out of a scheduled rematch with Tony DeMarco last year to let Basilio fight him. For this consideration, the 30-30 arrangement was mutually agreed upon.

Saxton, who will remain in Chicago until the fight, took a 10-round verdict over Tiger Jones Nov. 9 in his last start.

Basilio's last outing was a successful title defense against DeMarco at Boston Nov. 30, when he kayoed the former titlist.

DeMarco won the 147-pound title from Saxton with a fourth-round T.K.O. on April 11, 1955. He lost it to Basilio June 10 on a 12-round T.K.O.

"I won't predict a knock-out over Saxton," said Basilio, who left for Syracuse, N.Y., to resume training before coming to Chicago March 7. "He is a good defensive fighter and I won't know how I can beat him until after the first round."

Saxton was equally as cautious.

"I know Basilio can punch," he said. "I'd be foolish to fight him in his own style, so I'll box him and try to win in 15 rounds. If I get a chance to belt him out, so much the better."

Big Ten To Allow Use Of Freshman Boxers

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 17 (AP)—Athletic directors of the Big Ten Conference have voted to permit the use of freshman boxers in intercollegiate competition this season.

Prof. George H. Young of the University of Wisconsin faculty athletic board, announced the result of the poll but did not disclose the vote.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association approved participation by freshmen in the N.C.A.A. boxing tournament but it was left up to the Big Ten to decide if first year men could be used in dual matches preceding the tournament.

Wisconsin and Michigan State are the only Big Ten schools engaging in intercollegiate boxing. Wisconsin has at least five boxers who will be able to compete in dual matches this season under the new rule. The Badgers meet Syracuse here Saturday.

Jaycees Win.

Lee, Colorado Basket Coach, New Kansas State Athletic Director

MANHATTAN, Kan., Feb. 17 (UP)—H. B. (Bebe) Lee, basketball coach at the University of Colorado since 1950, today was named athletic director at Kansas State College to succeed Larry (Moon) Mullins, who resigned.

Lee was expected to assume his new duties about April 1. Mullins resigned Jan. 21 to become athletic director at Marquette University.

Dr. James A. McCain, K-State president who announced Lee's appointment, said "he was the unanimous and enthusiastic choice of the college athletic council."

There is every indication that he has to an abundant degree the administrative and leadership ability and the integrity which the position calls for," McCain added.

Lee, 39, a native of Dallas, Tex., leaves a highly successful coaching record at Colorado. The Buffs were mired in the second division when he took over. Last year they won the Big Seven championship after tying Kansas for the crown in 1954.

During his college days, Lee played on three successive Pacific Coast Conference championship teams at Stanford. He was an assistant coach at Stanford for three years before becoming head coach at Utah State in 1941.

Lee remained at Utah State three seasons, then went into private business for a year. He was head coach at Colorado A. and M. for one season before moving on to Colorado University.

Buff Donelli Resigns.

BOSTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Aldo Greevey was knocked out of the meet in startling upsets. Kickham lost the first and third games to Jack Briscoe, 21-13, 7-21, 21-17, while McGreevey bowed to Art Sickle, 21-5, 20-21, 21-19. Harold Srenco won his quarterfinal match from Earl Baker, 13-21, 21-19, 21-11.

Tonight, Dreyfus opposes Baker at 7:30 and Srenco faces Sickle at 8:30. The final will be tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Magic Number For Two Bear Stars Is Four

Ninety-six is a number that two of Washington's Bears will keep in mind tomorrow when they play Indiana State here in their last Saturday basketball game of the season.

Bud Crista's 96 is on the end of 900, leaving him only four short of his coveted goal of 1000 points. The University City star, however, has played four years, whereas most athletes have only three years of varsity competition.

Jim Barton's 96 is on the tail-end of 300 and puts the Edwinstown marksman in excellent position to reach 400, a fast pace to travel in a span of 20-odd games. After Indiana State the Bears have only two games left — Drake here next Friday and Beloit there Feb. 29 — to complete their 22-game program.

When they thumped Missouri Mines Tuesday, 85-63, the Bears ran their current winning streak to three straight and increased their season's record to 14-5, a far cry from a year ago when the Bruins floundered with a final 8-14 mark.

Indiana State was one of the conquerors of the Bears last year, winning 75-70.

Indiana State lost to Evansville, 80-73, last night.

Two Stars Upset in Ozark Handball Event

Only one of the four seeded players in the Ozark A.A.U. handball championship tournament reached the semifinal round. Defending Champion Harry Dreyfus came through with a straight set victory over Nat Dubman, 21-2, 21-3.

Two outstanding performers, Larry Kickham and Bill McGreevey, were upset.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—Walter L. Hass, athletic director at Carleton College of Northfield, Minn., was named to succeed Nelson Metcalf as University of Chicago athletic director on July 1.

Metcalf, 65, will retire at that time after serving as director at Chicago since 1933.

Hass will be director with the rank of professor, following the university's policy instituted with the appointment of A. A. Staggs in 1891.

Little Change In Football TV Plan of NCAA

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 17 (AP)—The N.C.A.A. has come up with the 1956 version of its football television plan, and in all essentials it looks just about like last year's offering.

There are to be eight national "game-of-the-week" telecasts and five district TV showings.

The 56 format was disclosed yesterday by Walt Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It represents the plans of the N.C.A.A.'s television committee, and ratification by the membership is expected to be mere formality.

Following closely the outlines of last year's television setup, the 1956 plan specifies four dates—Sept. 22, Oct. 6, Dec. 1 and Thanksgiving day, Nov. 22—for national telecasts.

An additional four dates are left open, to be selected by sponsors of the program. The remaining five Saturdays are set aside for intradistrict telecasting. Member institutions will again be allowed to make their own arrangements.

Once again a member will be limited to appear once on a national and once on a district telecast—or twice, on district showings.

Last year, N.C.A.A. refusal to permit telecast by certain stations of the sellout Notre Dame-Iowa and Oklahoma-Texas games caused an uproar. Under the 1956 plan, again these telecasts would be banned.

Differences in the '56 setup compared with the previous year include:

1. A game played more than 400 miles away from the visiting team's home may be telecast back to the team's home TV area.

2. Sellout games may be telecast to the home TV area of the home and visiting teams in the TV locale of the game—it is played off-campus.

3. A team may participate twice in a telecast not released in its home N.C.A.A. district and these telecasts will not be counted as appearances.

Small colleges will be exempt from all appearance restrictions.

Howard Grubbs, commissioner of the Southwest Conference and chairman of the N.C.A.A.'s TV committee, said last year's plan proved "successful" and after thorough study the group concluded that the 1956 plan should be continued in "virtually the same form."

The new proposal also deals with the case of the colleges that have transferred their N.C.A.A. membership to another district from the one in which it is located geographically.

In such instances the member in the "displaced" category would be released for telecast not only in the district of its affiliation but also throughout the state in which it is located.

Byers said 10 schools are in the "displaced" group with changed affiliation: Navy, Iowa, Colorado, Houston, Detroit, Bradley, West Virginia, Marshall (Huntington, W. Va.), New Mexico and Idaho State.

Connie Mack's Will Probated; Estate Is

Valued at $30,000

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Baseball's Connie Mack, who died eight days ago at the age of 93, left an estate listed for probate purposes at $30,000.

Mack was manager of the Philadelphia Athletics for 50 years and owner of the club for nearly that long before it was sold by him and two of his sons to Arnold Johnson who transferred the franchise to Kansas City.

His will was signed with his legal signature of Cornelius J. McGillicuddy. He shortened his name to Mack so it would fit into baseball box scores printed in newspapers.

Mack left one third of his possessions to his widow, Katherine A. McGillicuddy. Gifts of $5000 were left to Robert and Cornelius McGillicuddy, sons of his late daughter, Margaret. J. Channing Ellery, an attorney who represented Mack and the Athletics for years, and Soughton Sterling, an accountant who audited the club's books for a long time.

The rest was left to four of "Mr. Baseball's" daughters—Mrs. Mary Schurr, Mrs. Ruth Cunningham, Mrs. Rita Breedlove and Mrs. Elizabeth Nolen. Attorneys said that Mack's estate probably wouldn't exceed the $30,000, which was listed as personal property only. After the Athletics were sold Mack paid his taxes and set up a trust fund for the benefit of his wife and daughters.

Mack has three living sons—Earle, Roy and Connie Jr.—but they were not included in the trust fund or will. Earle and Roy received about $600,000 from the sale of the Athletics and Connie Jr. had sold his interest in the club previously to his two brothers.

Miss Quast and Brown Play Jane Nelson and Hyndman in Golf Final

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 17 (UP)—Anne Quast and J. Walcott Brown, rapidly becoming specialists at back-nine rallies, met Jane Nelson of Indianapolis, Ind., and William Hyndman of Philadelphia today in the 18-hole final round of the Palm Beach mixed foursome golf tournament.

Miss Quast, 18-year-old University of Washington student, and Brown, 53-year-old Massachusetts J.J. banker, reached the final by coming from behind for the third straight time to win in yesterday's semifinals.

After tying their match on the ninth hole, Miss Quast and Brown won the twelfth with a birdie, the fifteenth with Miss Brown's good pitch, lost the seventeenth, and halved the eighteenth to beat Barbara Little of Milwaukee, Wis., and W. B. Merry of West Palm Beach, one up.

In the other semi-final, Miss Nelson and Hyndman downed Beverly Gammon of St. Paul, Minn., and Robert Knowles of Alken, S. C., 2 and 1.

The TRUMAN MEMOIRS

mending legislation to remedy certain defects in the laws concerning employees' loyalty and security.

I reminded the Congress what my basic attitude in this matter had always been:

"I am determined that the United States shall be secure. I am equally determined that we shall keep our historic liberties."

But Congress, in an atmosphere of emotion and excitement, chose to go along with the advocates of extreme measures.

On September 23, 1950, Congress enacted the Subversive Activities Control Act. This bill was passed over my veto within twenty-four hours. I had disapproved of this bill because the Department of Justice, the Department of Defense, the Central Intelligence Agency and the Department of State advised me that the bill would seriously damage the security and the intelligence operations for which they were responsible.

I believed, too, that this bill would give government officials vast powers to harass all of our citizens in the exercise of their right of free speech.

One of the bad results of the Act soon came to pass. The Communists now began to scurry underground. Through many devices such as changes of name, of physical appearance, of occupations, and residence they made it more difficult for our agents to keep track of them.

But since this Act was now the law of the land, I set up the Subversive Activities Control Board and appointed Seth Richardson as Chairman. To take his place as Chairman of the Loyalty Review Board, I named another Republican, former Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut.

'One of the Tragedies of Our Time.'

It is one of the tragedies of our time that the security program of the United States has been wickedly used by demagogues and sensational newspapers in an attempt to frighten and mislead the American people.

The McCarrans, the McCarrans, the Jenners, the Parnell Thomases, the Veldes have waged a relentless attack raising doubts in the minds of people about the loyalty of most employees in government.

Demagogic attacks on the loyalty of government employees greatly hamper the task of conducting government efficiently. Many good people quit government rather than work in an atmosphere of harassment. And these reckless attacks have made it doubly difficult to attract good people to government service.

In such an atmosphere of fear, government employees tend to become mentally paralyzed. They are afraid to express honest judgments, as it is their duty to do, because later, under a changed atmosphere and different circumstances, they may be charged with disloyalty by those who disagree with them. Our nation can not afford or permit such a mental blackout.

The issue of world Communism and its inroads is a national and not a partisan issue. I deplore the fact that the work of running down Communists within the country and meeting their threat around the world should have been made a political issue.

There never should have been competition on the anti-Communist issue between Congress and the Executive, and between the Democrats and the Republicans. I never considered it a partisan issue. As a matter of fact, I appointed prominent Republicans to head the Loyalty Review programs and did my part to keep it from becoming a political matter.

'We Maintained Constant Vigilance.'

We maintained a constant vigilance against the new technique of infiltration and betrayal by the agents and dupes of the Communists. But those of us who had faith in the institutions of this country never acted out of a sense of panic or fear that these enemies could ever succeed.

The United States was the prime but not the only target of Soviet espionage. Our vigilance had to go beyond our frontiers as we cooperated with our allies and other nations menaced by Communist imperialism.

The demagogues, crackpots and professional patriots had a field day pumping fear into the American people. They launched a campaign of poison pen letters. No man in public life was safe from their invectives and attacks.

So widespread was this campaign that it seemed no one would be safe from attack. This was the tragedy and shame of our time.

The country had reason to be proud of and have confidence in our security agencies. They had kept us almost totally free of sabotage and espionage during the war. All the foreign agents that were caught had been run down by the established intelligence agencies of the government. Those suspected of being spies or subversives were under continued surveillance by these agencies.

Ironically enough, some of our secrets got out because certain good citizens did not realize what they were doing.

'Dangerous Leaks Developed.'

A number of dangerous leaks affecting national security resulted from news stories by people whose patriotism or loyalty could not be questioned.

For instance, a certain columnist wrote an article for a national weekly publication which gave locations of our atomic installations. Our intelligence would have liked as easy a way to learn the locations of Russian atomic installations from Russian sources. Atomic installations will be the first targets in a possible war. Yet such vital information was made available to the Russians in one of our magazines.

A whole series of air photographs of our principal cities—Washington, New York, Detroit, Chicago and others—was printed as page one news by one of the newspaper chains.

In an effort to put a stop to some of these defense leaks, Secretary of Defense Forrestal had called in a group of newspaper publishers—about six or eight, as I recall it—to see if they could not be persuaded to work out a voluntary censorship arrangement. The publishers told Forrestal, "It is your responsibility to stop your own people from giving information to the press." Certain publishers seem to forget that the responsibility belongs to them as well as to the government and the destruction of the country would destroy them also.

In another instance a trade magazine published information about one of our top secret air developments. I directed the head of the C.I.A. to find out from the editor how he came to publish such information. It was clear from the report I received that the information was given to this editor by a top official in one of the military services. The editor said, "You can't expect us to be more careful than your own people." Further investigation disclosed this leak was committed by this official in order to help get a certain budget through the Congress.

The rivalry for the attention and the support of Congress was, in part, responsible for many news leaks. "Potomac fever," too, creates a great desire on the part of people to see their names in print.

This competition for attention reached a point where some of the services even wanted to boast openly of their top secret achievements.

Central Information Clearing House.

I found it necessary to issue orders restricting the sources of information by setting up a central clearing house to determine what information it was safe to release. The press and radio broadcast this action as a form of censorship and even charged that it was done to cover up wrong-doings, which of course was not true.

Congressional committee hearings were also a fertile source of security information. One of our top military leaders was so upset by leaks, after he had testified on secret matters in executive sessions of Congressional committees, that he threatened to refuse to appear before these committees.

I ordered a study made by our intelligence people to see how much vital information was actually being made available to foreign countries by speeches and statements published in the Congressional Record. The percentage was disturbingly high.

This was not information given out by the fuzzy dupes or Communist sympathizers. None of these could get such information because they had no access to classified material. This information was being given out by gossip politicians who, because of rivalry, were blinded to what they were doing. In this respect, Washington politicians and newspaper and magazine publishers are in the same class.

MOSCOW SHIFTS VIRGIN ACREAGE BETWEEN SOVIETS

LONDON, Feb. 17 (UP)—The Moscow radio said today that the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet has approved the transfer of 2,500,000 acres of virgin land from Kazakhstan to the Uzbek Soviet republic.

The decision was made, the broadcast said, "so that both republics can jointly cultivate the extensive and fertile virgin lands" and so provide the country with increased quantities of high quality and cheap cotton.

Presumably it was made because the Uzbek republic is in a better position to carry out Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev's demands for boosting production through cultivation of marginal agricultural lands deep in the Asiatic steppes.

KEFAUVER IN FLORIDA BACKS INTEGRATION

However, He Says Issue Should Not Stand in Way of U.S. School Aid.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem., Tennessee), making a stump tour of Florida, took time out today to fly to Baltimore for a luncheon address, but he will be back in Winter Haven tonight.

After visiting Jacksonville and Miami yesterday, Kefauver, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, boarded a plane for Baltimore.

In Miami, he said the racial integration issue should not stand in the way of federal aid to public school construction.

He pointed out that Representative Adam Clayton Powell (Dem.), New York, a Negro, has indicated he may try to amend federal aid bills for schools to deny funds in states which have not completely desegregated public schools.

"Children should not be penalized by having federal aid cut off," Kefauver said in an interview.

He told a Jacksonville audience he was "quite confident" the Democrats would win whether President Eisenhower is a candidate or not.

On the subject of integrated schools he said, "I don't know anything that can be done but to make provisions to comply with the Supreme Court decision."

At the Miami stop, he added that he felt desegregation "is the Supreme Court decision and therefore the law of the land."

Different sections of the country, he said, might have to go about implementing this law in different ways, but, "Passions and prejudices must be avoided," he said.

The use of federal troops to enforce desegregation would be "unthinkable," he said, and "could only result in setting back progress."

EISENHOWER MAY ANNOUNCE THAT HE IS 'AVAILABLE'

much Mr. Eisenhower as the men around him, and primarily Sherman Adams, assistant to the President.

Adams is the villain denounced in terms reminiscent of the days when Harry L. Hopkins was supposed to be F.D.R.'s Svengali, calling the turns for a distracted President. In a group of conservatives, one venerable Republican remarked the other day that, while he was strong for Mr. Eisenhower, he nevertheless opposed a second term because it would make Sherman Adams a dictator. The rejoinder from one of the group was as follows: "Make him a dictator! What do you think he is now?"

Darkest Suspicion.

The darkest suspicion of those on the right is that, having declared himself available despite his limitations, the President will, before the convention in August, find that his health does not after all permit him to run again. Then an Eisenhower legate will be put in nomination by the White House strategists and at that eleventh hour his choice will be inevitable, since no rivals will have been built up. But this plot is so Machiavellian that it strains the credulity of all but the most prejudiced of the right wing faction.

Whether the President is aware of the intensity of this feeling is doubtful. "Sherm" Adams is a veteran player on the Eisenhower team whom the President calls "boss." He has taken over a degree of authority that may well be unprecedented in White House history. And he has done so not only with the approval but the gratitude of his good friend, the President of the United States.

BLAST AT GRAHAM BY ARCHBISHOP OF YORK DENOUNCED

LONDON, Feb. 17 (UP)—The organ called the Church of England newspaper today denounced the Archbishop of York for an attack on American Evangelist Billy Graham.

The unofficial church newspaper, which criticized the appointment of Dr. Arthur M. Ramsey as Archbishop of York last month, said he accused Graham of teaching "the grossest doctrines."

The paper said Ramsey "has used very strong language in an unsparing denunciation." "Does this mean that . . . the Archbishop will institute legal proceedings against clergymen . . . who have assisted Dr. Graham in disseminating these 'grossest doctrines' and lent him their churches?" the paper asked.

The newspaper said "many of us who hold the strongest reservations about the preaching of Dr. Graham would nevertheless go far in defense of the right of his converts and colleagues to teach and preach with the Church of England."

LAST OF ELEVATED REMOVED

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Two pillars and a cross piece,

About 3000 persons looked on as the 78-year-old El vanished into memory. Demolition began last Aug. 3.

ANTARCTIC AIRMEN'S STRUGGLE DESCRIBED

7 in Plane Crash Walked 3 Days Before Rescue—Food Rationed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Navy told yesterday how seven men whose airplane crashed near the South Pole early this month struggled to save themselves before they were rescued.

A delayed message from one of the United States ships taking part in the expedition to the Antarctic reported the men walked and pulled a sled nearly one-third of the 125 miles from the mountainside where they crashed to the seacoast of Little America before they were rescued by helicopters on Feb. 9.

The pilot of the downed plane, Lt. Comdr. Glen H. Lathrop Jr., of Costa Mesa, Calif., told the Navy that heavy ice on the wings of his single engine Otter plane forced him off his planned course and into the snow and ice of the mountain. Lathrop said, in his report to the Navy, that soon after the men recovered from the initial shock of a surprisingly gentle crash they collected usable equipment from the plane and made plans to save themselves.

No one was injured in the crash landing, except the copilot, Lt. Paul R. Streich of Casper, Wyo., who suffered "slight facial lacerations."

The seven men cranked their emergency radio which automatically sent out distress signals. Some of the signals were heard at the base at Little America and aboard ships, but reception was too poor to get accurate bearings on the location of the downed airplane.

Lathrop said the men lived for four days beside their crippled plane. "Some of us stayed inside the plane, and the rest were in a tent we made from parachutes," the pilot related.

Lathrop said he knew they were down at a point that was far off the course previously set for the day's operations and "we thought this might mean a long time finding us. We had minimum rations to keep us about 12 days."

Lathrop said they planned a route that would take them to Okuma bay in the Ross ice barrier. There they hoped they would be able to find seals to augment their food supply. The march was started with the two biggest men in the party in the pulling harness of a 300-lb. sled which had been salvaged from the downed Otter. Trail-breakers went ahead.

The pilot said they averaged 15 miles a day, most of it uphill, in the three days they were on the trail.

For shelter at night, they fixed their tent of parachutes and crawled into sleeping bags. Their food was rationed to keep them alive at least 12 day.

MACLEAN KNEW SECRETS OF U.S., BRUCKER INSISTS

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (UP)—Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said today that the British turncoat diplomat Donald Maclean knew American secrets "of priceless value to the Communist conspiracy." Maclean and his colleague Guy Burgess turned up in Moscow Saturday after having disappeared mysteriously in 1951. Brucker, in a speech to the Executive Club of Chicago, called Maclean and Burgess "two prize pieces of evidence of the deceit and treachery" which characterize Communist tactics. Brucker said Maclean "knew about some of our most closely guarded secrets—secrets of priceless value to the Communist conspiracy." Maclean served in the British Embassy in Washington from 1944 to 1948. He headed the American desk of the British Foreign Office in London from late 1950 until May 1951. While here, he was the chief British representative on a combined board dealing with procurement of atomic materials and classification of releasable information. Officials have denied that a pass he had to the Atomic Energy Commission headquarters gave him any access to American files or secrets.

FOOD SHORTAGES DUE TO COLD SPELL THREATEN EUROPE

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Frozen Europe, counting 611 dead from its prolonged cold spell, faced the problem of food shortages today. Crops worth hundreds of millions of dollars already were ruined. Floods ravaged Yugoslavia and Turkey, covering farm lands. Ice packs trapped fuel-carrying ships in the northern seas. Rain, snow and winds swept the usually sunny Spanish peninsula and North Africa. The French government estimated crops worth more than half a billion dollars were lost in France, most of it wheat. The Italian Ministry of Agriculture warned that Italy's crop damage "will be tremendous." With the cold wave in its eighteenth day, these were the known deaths attributed to the weather: France 147, Turkey 72, Italy 72, Yugoslavia 67, Britain 50, Denmark 33, Greece 30, Germany 29, Austria 19, The Netherlands 16, Spain 19, Portugal 17, Switzerland 12, Belgium 10, Sweden 6, Poland four, Norway three, Libya two and Spanish Morocco three.

'MOST WANTED' MAN CAUGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (UP)—FBI agents captured escaped convict Thurman Arthur Green, one of the nation's 10 most wanted fugitives, early today at Nashville, Tenn. The FBI announced the 35-year-old fugitive surrendered quietly when arrested at his apartment. Green escaped from Washington state penitentiary at Walla Walla May 21, 1954. The FBI said his record included convictions for robbery, burglary, possessing a concealed weapon and assault with intent to murder.

DOMINICAN ENVOY CALLED HOME ON CUBA ARMS CHARGE

HAVANA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Dominican Ambassador Federico Llaverrias flew to Ciudad Trujillo today for consultations with his government on its charges that Cuban arms were delivered to Dominican revolutionary plotters. The Dominican government called Llaverrias home after charging that Gen. Francisco Tabernilla, Cuban army chief, was involved in the arms delivery. Tabernilla denied the charge.

FRENCH MISSILE MAY MEAN END OF HEAVY TANKS

Guided Weapon Said to Have Great Accuracy, Power — Americans Praise Other Arms.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The development of an anti-tank guided missile by French scientists is forcing a reconsideration of the concept of armor development, according to a United States officer associated with military research and development in France.

The American research and development experts said last night that the production of the "S.S. 10" had made France "pre-eminent in the field of anti-tank warfare."

The officers explained that the accuracy and firepower of this "ground-to-ground" missile raised the question of the end of the heavy tank. "They said it no longer is practical to hang more armor on a tank each time a potential enemy steps up the power of his anti-tank guns."

Light, Fast Vehicle. Thanks to the French development of the S.S. 10 and its terrific destructive power, the tank of the future might well be a comparatively lightweight vehicle whose chief defense would be speed and maneuverability, the American officers said.

The Americans also praised France for being the only European member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to have in production an air-to-air guided missile.

The American experts said the French armed forces also are "pre-eminent in certain aspects of radar and radar-jamming that still are top secrets."

However, secrecy has been lifted from other aspects of France's protective weapons. One of these is the air-to-air guided missile—launched from another aircraft to destroy another.

Anti-Aircraft Missile. Among the "very significant successes" with which the United States experts credit the French military engineers also are ground-to-air guided missiles for anti-aircraft defenses such as the 1000-mile-an-hour "Parca" for destroying bombers at heights between 30,000 and 60,000 feet.

Another weapon, product of the Colomb-Bechar proving ground in North Africa, is the Sud-Est 4200. Its performance is rated along with that of the United States "Nike" which flies at 1500 miles an hour and has a range of 60 airborne miles.

France also has developed and put into production the Sud-Est 4200, a guided rocket similar to the United States "Corporal." The ground-to-ground weapon has a speed of about 650 miles an hour and a range of about 60 miles.

FOUR KIRKWOOD FIREMEN BURNED BY BLAZING GREASE

Four Kirkwood firemen were burned when grease in a restaurant at 10854 Manchester road flared up while they were using an extinguisher to put out flames in a deep fat fryer last night.

The firemen were Capt. Arnold B. Clement, Lt. Clarence

ADVERTISMENT

Dandruff-Scalp Discomfort She Says Baker's Best

TROY, Ill.—Mrs. A. J. Shearlock, Box 545, says: "Baker's Hair Tonic is the best product there is for dandruff and itchy scalp. I ought to know, as I spent 19 years searching for something that would give me relief. Baker's brought relief, and I use it about twice a month now to make sure there is no return of this misery."

The Maker's Guarantee: Baker's Hair Tonic will do the job on dandruff and itchy scalp. Baker's Lathering Shampoo will make your hair look better or Money Back.

L. Martin and Pipemen Arthur G. Ash and Russell J. Flieg, all of whom were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital. The fire, which was confined to the fryer, caused only minor damage.

SUSMAN'S
St. Louis, Missouri
1114 North Market
Saturday, Jan. 28, 1956

Dear Neighbor:
Less than a decade ago there sprang up all over America a group of stores doing business on a revolutionary new merchandising principle. They located tremendous showrooms in low rental areas . . . bypassed the trimmings of window displays, carpeted floors, fancy fixtures, and the like . . . and sold their merchandise at lower than retail list prices on a volume basis.

Five years ago, we at Susman's opened such a store here in St. Louis. We converted much of our huge warehouse space at 1114 North Market to showrooms and the people began pouring in.

In appreciation of this patronage which mushroomed our business into a tremendous savings center for the entire St. Louis area, we are holding our 5th Anniversary Sale. Here are examples of some of the values you'll find at Susman's. We cordially invite you and your friends to visit us. No discount card needed. Our low prices are plainly marked. Come in and find out what it means to "Save at Susman's".

Cordially yours,

EGYPT AGREES TO TAKE BIDS ON ASWAN DAM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Egypt has dropped its insistence that it select the contractors for its billion dollar Aswan dam on the upper Nile river without advertising for competitive bids.

Officials close to the project said yesterday that Egypt agreed to go along with World Bank procedure when Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser signed an agreement in principle this month with Eugene Black, head of the bank.

The World Bank plan calls for bids from any qualified builder. In awarding a contract, the bank selects the apparent low bidder who is best qualified, in the bank's judgment, of capabilities, to give the best performance.

Thus, a bidder who was lowest bidder would not necessarily get the contract. Another bidder might get it if the bank considered he was more capable of doing the best work.

Egypt had been insisting that a group of West European contractors get the Aswan dam contract without letting other bidders submit bids.

EAST SIDE DETECTIVE'S SON ACCUSED IN CAR THEFT

Four teen-age East St. Louis youths, one of them the son of an East St. Louis detective, were charged with larceny of a motor vehicle in warrants issued yesterday at Belleville after they were arrested near Chicago in a machine stolen early Wednesday in Belleville.

The youths, accompanied by two girls 14 and 15 years old, were out riding last Monday evening in an automobile owned by the parents of one of them when the machine became mired in the mud of a side road on the outskirts of Belleville. At some time during the next 24 hours, another automobile was stolen and the six started for Chicago, police said.

The girls were released without charges. The boys gave their names as Ronnie Hill, 17, son of Detective Elmer Hill, 547 North Twelfth street; Billy G. Barakken, 18, 538 North Fourteenth street; Charles R. Ballard, 17, 1004 North Forty-seventh street, and Earl F. Simpson, 18, 28 Roosevelt Homes, all in East St. Louis.

EX-CONVICT GETS 20 YEARS FOR LOAN HOLDUP ATTEMPT

Edsel Lloyd Rivers, a former convict, was sentenced to 20 years in a federal penitentiary by United States District Judge George H. Moore today on Rivers' plea of guilty of attempting to hold up the Home Federal Savings & Loan Association in Kansas City last Dec. 13.

Judge Moore said the sentence would run concurrently with a 15-year sentence against Rivers which was imposed Jan. 26 by United States District Judge Ruben M. Hulen in the $1164 robbery last Jan. 4 of the Lafayette Federal Savings & Loan Association, 715 Chestnut street.

Most of the money taken in the holdup here was recovered after Rivers was arrested. In the Kansas City attempted robbery, Rivers fled after a teller told him that the association's funds were locked up. In both cases, the pistol he displayed was not loaded, Rivers said. Rivers, 26 years old, served a prison sentence in Illinois for robbery.

TORNADO STRIKES MISSISSIPPI TOWN

One Killed, 35 Hurt — 4 Stores and 20 Homes Demolished.

ABERDEEN, Miss., Feb. 17 (AP)—A tornado struck a four-block area in this northeast Mississippi town last night, killing at least one man and injuring 35 others.

The twister touched lightly on a white neighborhood before moving into a Negro section and demolishing four stores and about 20 homes. Many others were damaged and volunteer workers searched the ruins today for possible dead or survivors.

Damage estimates ran as high as $750,000, the State Highway Patrol said.

The dead man was identified as Israel Hayes, 50-year-old Negro. Five persons were still hospitalized today.

About half of the telephones in the town of 5300 were out of order and electric power failed in the storm.

Roy Steinfert, publisher of the weekly Aberdeen Examiner, said the tornado lasted "only about 30 seconds and sounded like four freight trains rumbling through the town."

He said heavy rains preceded the twister. He said the rains left six inches of water in his front yard.

Steinfert said the tornado first roared over a new white housing area, with little damage, and then hit the Negro neighborhood, where most of the houses were flimsily constructed.

Members of the Mississippi National Guard patrolled the town's business section to prevent looting.

Mayor A. G. Bright said the tornado left about 100 persons homeless, but emergency headquarters were established in a high school gymnasium.

MICHIGAN STATE OFFICIAL FREED OF DRIVING CHARGE

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 17 (AP)—Thomas M. Kavanagh, Michigan's Attorney General, was acquitted yesterday of a charge of unsafe driving.

Kavanagh and Roy Armstrong, a Michigan State University student, were involved in a collision in downtown Lansing last Dec. 17. Both were charged with unsafe driving. Municipal Court Judge Earl E. McDonald found both innocent.

Kavanagh, a Democrat, had been placed on probation by the driver's section of the Secretary of State's office after it was found he had five moving violations, four of them for speeding.

CARL W. HELFRICH FUNERAL PUT OFF UNTIL TOMORROW

Funeral services for Carl W. Helfrich have been postponed until 2:30 p.m. tomorrow, it was announced today. The services were to be conducted today but a delay in shipping the body from Mexico necessitated the postponement, it was reported by the Burke undertaking establishment, 330 State street, East St. Louis, where the funeral is to be held.

Helfrich, former East St. Louis gambler and coal dealer, was shot to death last Friday at Acapulco where he was in business. He fled to Mexico in 1951 shortly after Internal Revenue agents began investigating his income tax returns. He was later indicted for evasion of taxes.

WORK ON BETSY BLAIR'S SPANISH MOVIE HALTED

MADRID, Feb. 17 (AP)—Production of a Spanish film starring American actress Betsy Blair has been halted. Its director is reported in jail on suspicion of having leftist tendencies.

Informants said director Jose Antonio Bardem was arrested as an aftermath of last week's riots against Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Falange party. Police declined to confirm or deny the report.

Miss Blair, who played the female lead in the prize-winning American film "Marty," heads the cast of the Suva film production described as a sociological drama of the life of a spinster in a traditional Spanish town. Bardem was co-director of a controversial picture, "Welcome Mr. Marshall," which satirized the Marshall Plan.

3 HIGH SCHOOLS LOOTED, $10, RING, BULLETS STOLEN

Cash, jewelry and ammunition were taken by burglars who broke into three St. Louis public high schools in the past two days, school authorities reported to police today.

Southwest High School, 3125 South Kingshighway, was entered Wednesday night. The intruders smashed nine panes of glass in breaking into locked offices but they failed to open a safe from which they knocked the combination.

Missing were $10 in cash, a box of about 100 rounds of .22

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

caliber bullets used by the school's rifle team, and 37 sample class rings and other sample jewelry belonging to the Monti and Cuquet jewelry companies. Offices also were ransacked and windows broken last night at Roosevelt High School, 3220 Hartford street, and Cleveland High School, 4352 Louisiana avenue, but it was not learned immediately if anything was taken.

CLOSING BULLING RUSH IN STOCKS PUTS TAPE BACK

Gains Run 1 to 5 Points, Wiping Out Most Losses on Veto of Natural Gas Bill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—A vigorous late advance today boosted stock market prices far above their highs for the session and erased most losses sustained by stocks affected by President Eisenhower's veto of the natural gas bill.

Gains of from 1 to around 5 points were scored in leading issues as the trading rush in the last quarter hour delayed the ticked tape, which reports transactions by three minutes.

Steels, rails and coppers rose, and gains spread to all major divisions.

(The United States said "bears took fright today over President Eisenhower's keen eye in bagging the limit in quail and returning his game of golf. They leaped pell mell into the market to cover commitments just before closing time. Their demand was such that tickers ran as much as 3 minutes late.")

Volume for the day was 2,840,000 shares compared with 1,750,000 yesterday.

Ford Motor stock was quoted at 62 1/2 bid, 62 3/4 asked in over-the-counter trading compared with 61 1/2 bid late yesterday.

Last period turnover of stock amounted to 1,150,000 shares.

The rise in the value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange was estimated at almost three billion dollars.

The advance came toward the end of a session which was well ahead throughout but which faltered slightly when news came of the veto message.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $2.80 to $177.30 with the industrials up $4.40, the rails $2.70 and the utilities .04 of a point to 64.90.

Of 1163 issues traded, 742 rose and 223 fell. There were 25 new 1955-56 highs and seven new lows.

Natural gas stocks were lower early this week in anticipation of a veto but today most of them had joined in the general rise which boosted key stocks from fractions to around 2 points.

Fanhandle Eastern Pipe Line dropped 3 points then recovered a point. Lone Star Gas was off nearly a point. Chicago Corp. investing firm with gas interests, dropped a point or more.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) was off, too, but bounced back to the upside. Texas Co. lost fractionally. Northern Natural Gas inched off then recovered. Phillips Petroleum dropped 2 points then came back.

Long-Bell Lumber continued strong on its reported international Paper Co. merger talk, staying ahead over 4 points. Du Pont was up around 5. Union Carbide around a point and Southern Railway 2 points.

ST. LOUIS BANK CLEARINGS
Feb. 17 were $50,200,000 compared with $74,400,000 a year ago.

NEW IMPROVED 1956 FILTER-FLO

G-E Automatic Washer Cleans and Recleans Your Wash Water to Give You Cleaner Clothes

Here's how the Filter-Flo Washing System works... Wash water circulates and filters at the rate of six gallons a minute to give you clean, bright clothes. As the washbasket continuously overflows, soap scum floats away. Sand settles out at the bottom of the washbasket. Lint is trapped in the filter which lets only cleansed, sudsy water flow back into the washbasket.

Your choice of Five G-E Mix-or-Match Colors... See the new General Electric Automatic washers in Canary Yellow, Turquoise Green, Petal Pink, Cadet Blue and Woodtone Brown. Also in white.

PROGRESS AT AIRPORT TERMINAL

Two views of new terminal building at Lambert-St. Louis Field indicate progress being made on structure which is to be dedicated March 10. View at top is from dining area into part of huge main concourse, with unusual mobile screen at right dividing the two areas. At bottom, seats in main concourse have protective covering as workmen proceed with late-stage construction details. Major work on the $5,880,000 building is completed but Airport Manager David Leigh has 15-page check list of such items as lighting fixtures and painting touch-ups to be attended to before formal opening ceremonies.

Return to Missouri U. Warm Welcome Back By a Foster Mother

By Hal Boyle

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 17.

I CAME again to the old white frame house a block off the University of Missouri campus and knocked at a well-remembered door.

The door opened, and I saw before me the same woman who had opened that same door to me when I had first knocked upon it a quarter of a century ago as a brash young student.

The graying old woman looked hesitantly for a moment at the graying middle-aged man before her, and then her mind peeled away the ravaging changes time had made in him, and she said in a real pleased voice: "Why, Harold!" And then I put my arms around her and pressed my face against her cheek—and knew myself at home.

GOING BACK to his old college is a spiritual ordeal to any man. So many of the landmarks of his youth have vanished and been replaced by the new landmarks for a new generation that he feels himself a stranger from a lost time.

But Mrs. E. E. Tydings, my foster mother, hadn't changed.

"Why, Harold, come right in," she said, and shut the door against the winter chill.

We went into the kitchen, and as Mrs. Tydings placidly busied herself at the stove, I sat in the old straight-back chair she had received as a wedding present around the turn of the century. We talked of old times, and it was almost as if I had never been away.

"My mind often goes back . . ." said Mrs. Tydings.

EVERY COLLEGE CAMPUS has its Mrs. Tydings. They are the motherly women who take in lonely college boys and give them a home away from home.

Over the years Mrs. Tydings and her husband, Dr. Tydings, a dentist, now dead, must have sheltered and fed a hundred or more students—and lost a lot of money doing it.

"I just don't know how many boys have stayed with us," said Mrs. Tydings. "I've never bothered to count them."

"How do the college boys of today compare to those who were in school when I was here?" I asked, rather hoping, I must admit, for a bit of personal recognition.

"Why, Harold," said Mrs. Tydings, "there's been a wonderful change. Maybe I am just getting more tolerant, but I do think the boys today are better behaved around the house. They aren't quite so boisterous. They seem to study harder, and I do believe they go to church more often."

SOMEWHAT CRESTFALLEN, I mumbled, "excuse me," and started for the stairs. Without glancing up from the sink Mrs. Tydings said, "The bathroom's in the same place, Harold."

But it wasn't the bathroom I was seeking. It was my old room. It had changed less than I. The February sun threw a slanting warmth at the old desk where I had once studied. What a wonderful room it had been, and what wonderful roommates I had known there. Among them were John Keats, Samuel Johnson, Jonathan Swift, Thomas Hardy, and a lady named Emily Dickinson.

I walked back downstairs, slowly, leaving their ghosts behind to cheer other boys.

MRS. TYDINGS made me stay for an old-fashioned chicken dinner ("I don't make gravy so much anymore now that everyone's on a diet," she said), and during the meal filled me in with what had happened to her foster sons. Some had become well-known lawyers, engineers and farm leaders. One, who used to wash dishes to pay for his meals, had run for Governor.

"Many of them write me often," she said gently, and I felt bad. I haven't written her in 75 next summer, still rooms six college boys but no longer feels up to the shore of cooking for them. But she has to feed something, so she keeps two feeding stations for birds. She went to the window to show me one, and there was a flash of feathered fire as a redbird flew away.

"Some flickers and cardinals and chickadees come," said Mrs. Tydings, "but I do wish I had a bluebird. They're so pretty."

But Mrs. Tydings doesn't really need a bluebird. She has had one in her heart all her long busy life spent mostly in being kind to others.

Test of Maturity

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

MARRIAGE provides unique opportunities for us to grow to the realization of our fullest selves. Unfortunately, some people do not take advantage of these opportunities. They grow backward, so to speak, rather than forward. After a quarter of a century they may be merely caricatures of the fine persons they should have been. Mrs. M. wants nothing but the best.

A GROUP of Methodist ministers made up a test for maturity in the Christian family. As far as I can see it, it would do just as well for any other religion—or for no religion at all. I have adapted this for you, Mrs. M., as follows:

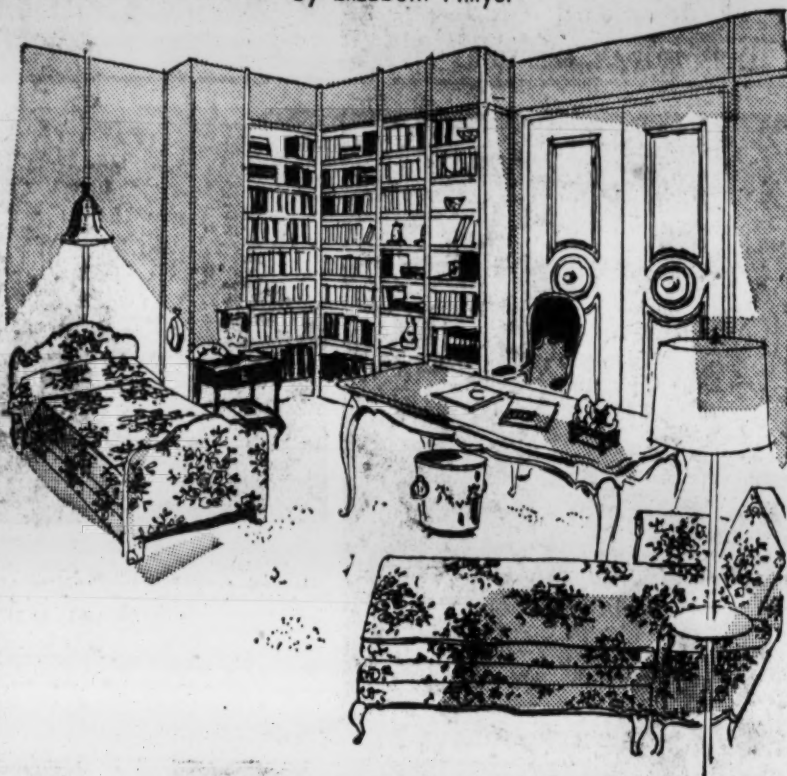

1. I accept the present worth of my partner with recognition of the fact that we can both be something better. 0 1 2
2. I meet my partner's need for affection in our love life. 0 1 2
3. I express sincere appreciation for little attentions. 0 1 2
4. I feel that I am accepted and loved. 0 1 2
5. I am building good social contacts for us all. 0 1 2
6. I am providing good leisure-time activities for the family. 0 1 2
7. I am growing in intellectual interests. 0 1 2
8. I am encouraging all other members of the family to develop individual interests and abilities. 0 1 2
9. I am able to carry any accepted responsibility through to completion. 0 1 2

SCORE YOURSELF by letting zeros represent "not at all," while 1 stands for "to some extent," and 2 means "a great deal." If you are really growing, you will give yourself an honest score well above 10. You ought to check yourself on this test every six or eight months. If you are low in any one point, bring it up to a more respectable level. If you can keep the score above 15, you will find life richly worthwhile.

Designing Woman

A Room All Her Own

By Elizabeth Hillier

DESIGNED BY EVERETT BROWN FOR ARLENE FRANCIS

A ROOM of your own really belongs to you if it reflects your taste and meets your needs. But they must be your real tastes and requirements beyond those which might be anyone's in the same four walls.

It's important to analyze them searchingly, to see what lies deep behind them. A bedroom in your favorite color which is comfortable to sleep in and handy for dressing hasn't progressed far enough. Not when there are so many ways to create special atmosphere to suit the living in it and to fit the room for extra duty.

TO SEE how this can be done, let's look at a room that a well-known interior designer created for an outstanding person who's well-known to you from her daily television appearances, Everett Brown's design for Arlene Francis of the "Home Show." It is one of the Englewood celebrity rooms which were shown at the recent, the bed, the bedspread, and the chaise longue. The only other fabric on furniture is the deep blue denim on the tall cane-backed chair, but the walls are felt-covered for decorative effect and to add quiet. White bamboo strips panel them.

It's a room where I can work," which Miss Francis requested. The long desk table permits spreading out the scripts she must study for the next day and the bookshelves put material she needs close by as well as bedtime reading material. At right, not sketched, is a huge French chest which contains a radio and television cabinet, and there's a smaller dresser chest and a big mirror.

Brown is a creator of fashions in interiors, but he makes it clear that the best of them are created for individuals to live in.

Send today for Elizabeth Hillier's booklet "What's Wrong With That Room?"—a quick check list of room faults and how to correct them. For your copy, address Miss Hillier at the Post-Dispatch and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents with your request.

Chimney Fires.

IF sometime you look up at your house chimney and see flames and sparks along with a good deal of smoke coming out you'll probably guess that you have what is known as a chimney fire.

A chimney fire is caused by the inside of the chimney becoming coated with soot. When you get enough soot and when the soot gets hot enough, it will ignite and start to burn.

The chief danger of chimney fires is that some of the sparks may ignite the house roof or some adjoining roof. Another danger is that if the chimney is not properly constructed or has a leak in it, the fire inside may get to the house structure. When this happens you don't have a chimney fire anymore, you have a house fire.

The best way to prevent chimney fires is to be sure that your heating equipment is properly adjusted so that it produces little soot and also to have your chimney inspected and cleaned at regular intervals.

Chimney fires occurring in fireplace chimneys can often be put out by tossing salt on the fire in the fireplace or hanging a damp cloth over the fireplace opening. This cuts off the air to the fire and when the fire doesn't get any air, it goes out. Salt can also be used to put out fires in chimneys connected to hand fired coal burning heating equipment. Closing the smoke pipe damper is also helpful because it reduces the amount of air reaching the fire. Of course you also want to give a yell to your fire department.

Sleeveless Sheath A sleeveless sheath combining wool and linen is typical of the fabric combinations used extensively this season. The wool is a homespun type in a shade of spice brown while the linen is natural toned. Yoke of the bodice and skirt pocket trimming is of the linen.

Secrets of Charm— Wedding Gifts

YOU CAN REGISTER YOUR GIFT PREFERENCES.

YEARS ago wedding gifts often would multiply ad infinitum—four electric toasters, three silver pitchers, 10 clocks—enough to make the poor bride's head swim. She would worry and try to figure out how all would fit into that new home because she had to keep all . . . whether duplicates, triplicates or more were received.

Fortunately, today there is a practical way to handle such problems. Before the wedding invitations are out, the bride-to-be and her fiancé sit down and list the things they would like, need, and can logically hope to be given. In silver, china, and crystal, they list their pattern preferences. The completed list is then taken to the store bridal consultant for discussions and perhaps, for other suggestions as to what items they might have overlooked. Their preferences are then registered with the gift wedding service of the store.

The day a wedding present arrives, the bride should immediately list it in a notebook. This record should include the name and address of the donor; the date received; a description of the gifts (this information will prove helpful later when gracious and charming thank-you notes, the name of place the gift was purchased (useful if exchange is necessary), and the date the gift was acknowledged. The bride should write her personal note of thanks as soon as possible after gift is received (should be acknowledged within the week received).

Child Who Is Rude to A Visitor

By Frances Ilg, M.D., and Louise Ames, Ph.D.

Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development

"I WONDER if you can advise me on a problem I have with my older son who will soon be four," a mother writes. "He resents the presence in our household of any visitor. My mother stayed with us for a year and whenever my husband and I were away from the house he would allow Granny to do things for him. However, if one of us was around, he would be rude to her if she attempted to feed him meals, bathe or help to dress him. With a new baby in the house, only eight months old, extra help with Joey was and is desirable. We now have visiting us a young girl from Holland who came shortly after Granny's departure. She speaks only a little English, but is sweet with children.

"JOEY IS JUST as rude if not more so with her than with his grandmother. I don't like you," and "Go away," are typical remarks to her. I have explained to her that he was this way with his grandmother, and she must not feel hurt but ignore it, and try to be pleasant to him, hoping he will stop. "Joey observes a ritual on Daddy's daily departure. He must stand at the door and wave. If Daddy inadvertently leaves while Joey is busy in his room or elsewhere and not standing at the door, he does this latter action indicate?"

"Will you please advise me how to handle his rudeness to our visitor who will be with us for some time?"

THIS KIND of behavior, making such specific demands of certain people, is probably related more to your son's personality than to his age. However, so far as it may be an age factor, it is more characteristic of the 2½ to 3 year old age zone than of his own. Also his ritual when his father leaves the house is more the kind of thing that a 2½-year-old would do.

Therefore it is important for you to think of Joey as a younger child so far as emotional and interpersonal behavior is concerned. And to treat him as a younger child.

For the time being it might work out best if Joey feels that you are the person to take care of him, and that your visitor takes care of the baby. Hold to this as much as you reasonably can. But you can elicit his sympathy and friendliness toward her by having him help her with the language, or help by showing her how we do certain things. Also arrange that she does certain things along with him.

You can hope for a marked improvement if you can just tide over the next few months. Usually this extreme ritualism, and extreme demand that just one certain person wait on the child and help him with his daily activities, doesn't last much more than six months or so.

THIS Father: "I expect even soldiers cry sometimes. After we get this bandage on, we will wash your eyes and I'll read you a story."

Popular for Spring Full-skirted dresses with very brief jackets are characteristic of a popular style for spring. Some of the jackets fasten at the back. Most are very brief to follow the Empire silhouette. One dress of black and white printed silk has a wide cummerbund of black taffeta. The jacket also is edged with the taffeta.

Jackets With Papiplums Jackets with brief papiplums that flare at the back give a new line to spring suits. One designer features the papiplum on dresses, ending his jackets at the waistline. Another has a cut-away line at the front so that the jacket has a "bell-hop" effect. The papiplum extends across the back and is pleated for added flare.

Skiing at Aspen, Colo., Favored by St. Louisans

By Marilee Chadeayne Martin

WHEN the ski season at Aspen, Colo., reaches its peak in the next few weeks a large number of St. Louisans will be scaling the peaks of its nearby slopes in attempts to zip, slide and schuss down some 3000 feet into the the village terminus of its ski runs. Experts and beginners alike prefer the skiing prospects of Aspen, which nestles at an 11,300-foot altitude at the base of Aspen Mountain, with the face of Red Mountain far in the distance across the floor of Roaring Fork Valley. The chair lift up Aspen Mountain is one of the longest in the world and its slope down provides a flight favored by ski experts the world over. Farther down the mountainside is Little Nell, a slope which caters to the uninitiated and unsure, and where ski lessons for beginners are conducted every morning.

Leaving St. Louis today for the winter resort will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leighton Morrill, 917 South Warsaw road, Clayton, and Mr. Morrill's brother, C. Ford Morrill. Seasoned skiers, they will be guests at the Prospector Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Day, 206 West Big Bend road, will depart Wednesday for Aspen and spend nearly three weeks at the Glory Hole Motel. The Days are also familiar troupeurs of Aspen.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Day at the Glory Hole March 2 will be a group of six St. Louisans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parsons Pettus, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford N. McDonnell and Dr. and Mrs. James T. Chamness. The Chamnesses, who are newcomers to the skiing sport, will be away about a week. But the Pettuses and the McDonnells, after a week's skiing at Aspen, will continue on to Alta, Utah, for another week on the slopes.

A foursome will leave here March 10 for the Colorado ski spot, Dr. and Mrs. Paul H. Painter, 945 Beverly avenue, Glendale, and Dr. and Mrs. M. Remsen Behrer, 224 Edwin avenue, Glendale. They also expect to be gone approximately a week and will stay at the Alpine Lodge. Feb. 24 is the departure date of Mr. and Mrs. Bourne Bean, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Whitelaw, the Joseph Griesediecks and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Morris II, who will be away two weeks.

Reason for Statement on Civil Rights

By Eleanor Roosevelt

CHICAGO. WE had a good trip from New York to Rochester and were met and driven as quickly as possible to Genesee. But, as always happens when one is in a hurry, the one place where the road crossed the railroad tracks a freight train was stopped, so this took 15 minutes off what was, in any case, a rather close connection. On arrival in Genesee, Mr. and Mrs. Revedy Wadsworth greeted us, and we had a short but most delicious supper before going to the State Teachers' College where I spoke in the new auditorium there.

It was the first time the auditorium had been used and the community is justifiably proud of it. It seats 1008 people and all seats were filled.

THE AUDIENCE was a very nice mixture of students intending to be teachers and townspeople. Most of the townspeople in that area are Republicans but that did not seem to affect the warmth of their welcome.

I was pleased to have Mrs. Wadsworth, my distant cousin, tell me that she was devoted to my uncle, David Gray, and that they hoped to see him in Saratoga this spring, which I am sure will give him a great deal of pleasure.

The Wadsworths got up early that morning to see us off by plane, and we had a very good trip here.

I HAD TALKED by telephone with Adlai Stevenson the day before about the various statements made on civil rights. And, on my arrival in Chicago and getting settled in the Hotel Blackstone, we took a taxi over to the Stevenson for President headquarters.

We met Barry Bingham, Archibald Alexander and Don Pryor, and I wrote a statement which I felt important to make in view of the curious misunderstandings that came up in regard to Mr. Stevenson's position during the past few days.

People have such short memories, and actions are not enough to insure understanding. You have to remind people what the record is. I understand better than ever why the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith, in campaign speeches, would always say, "Let's look at the record." The record is a very important thing to examine and it should speak more loudly than words because it was created not only by words but by deeds.

I HAVE LET President Lincoln's birthday go by without mention because it seemed to me that everywhere we were being reminded of it. He is, however, one of the people I admire most in the history of our great country.

At this point when the South is again facing a difficult step it eventually must accept, it is work tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Martin Miller, 11 Arbor road, Olivette. Mrs. Isaac Young is president of the group.

Alpha Delta Pi Junior Alumnae Association will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Mayfield, 5662 Rosedale avenue, Normandy. Mrs. A. P. Bennett Jr. will give a demonstration of hat making.

Mrs. Max D. Tunnelcliffe of Birmingham, Mich., national vice president of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, is here for a two-day visit. She is staying at the Congress Hotel. Today Mrs. Paul J. Neff was hostess at a luncheon at the St. Louis Woman's Club. Guests were alumnae and members of the active chapter at Washington University.

Returning recently from a holiday at the Sea Ranch, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Conrad Jr., 608 East Monroe avenue. With Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Mill, 343 Papin avenue, Webster Groves, and a group of friends they spent two weeks at the resort.

Miss Marie Brown, a member of the faculty of McKinley High School, will show color slides of her summer trip to Scandinavian countries and Mrs. Fred Dasbach will discuss plans for a European trip she will make next summer.

good to remember Lincoln's kindness, his courage, his patience, his insistence on fundamentals which could not be compromised, but his willingness to try every method to bring people to reasonable decisions. Today he would be urging patience, clear thinking and a belief in the ultimate good will of our citizens.

Martha Carr's

OPINION

Today's column is devoted to teen-agers who are invited to submit their problems to Martha Carr.

Dear Martha:

I AM a girl 14 years old and have been going with a boy the same age. His cousin was very jealous of us so she told him I was going steady with two other boys who are only good friends. He believes her so I broke up with him. And now a few days later another boy whom I like very much has asked me to go steady with him. My sister says I shouldn't because it's not right to go from one to another so soon. But we really like each other. If I don't accept, he will think I'm trying to be smart and that he isn't well liked. So please tell me what to do. DEPRESSED.

If your sister is older, she probably knows the customs in your school and whether or not going from one boy friend to another is frowned upon. If that's the case, listen to her advice. However, I'm not altogether sure that going steady is always the best idea and I think that's something your parents should help you decide. If they ask you not to go steady, you can certainly tell the boy that without making it sound as if you didn't like him. Anyway, you don't have to worry about whether he thinks he's popular. Naturally, if you like him, you want him to know it, but do you have to date him exclusively to tell him you enjoy his company?

Dear Martha:

I AM 13, nearly 14, and in the eighth grade. I go with some girls who like to go to the drug store after school. My mother won't let me go because she says I'm "bumming." I think that's unfair because I pay for my refreshments myself and if I don't go, I feel left out. G.S.

Your mother isn't alone in her objections to a group of teen-agers just sitting around a public place. They can't help but be noisy. Sometimes they offend adults by their thoughtlessness and their screechy chatter. Now before you jump down my throat, let me say that adults can be just about as noisy, but usually they don't go in such crowds so the over-all effect isn't the same. Let me also say that I don't blame boys and girls for wanting to relax at the drug store after school. It's fun. They meet their friends there. And, like you, they feel left out of the crowd if they don't. However, I can't tell you to go against your mother's wishes and I hope you won't let yourself be too unhappy about it. Instead, ask her if you can't bring the girls home occasionally, or maybe you can go to someone else's home after school. The crowd would still be together but not, as your mother says, "bumming around."

Teen-agers, send today for Martha Carr's leaflet written especially for you, "E for Etiquette." Be sure to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Husband Trouble

By Ruth Millett

THE wife who begins to put her children ahead of her husband is just plain asking for husband trouble. No matter how much a man loves his children, he doesn't want to play second fiddle to them.

So it's a big mistake for a wife: To chase all over town running errands for the children and then decide that she hasn't the time or energy to do the one thing her husband asked her to do.

To let the kids and their friends completely take over the house without any regard to whether or not it is an evening when the man of the house is dog tired and in need of some peace and quiet.

To side with the children when their father puts his foot down.

TO BE MORE INTERESTED in the children's activities than in her husband's business affairs.

To let the children do things their father disapproves of because she decides that he is too strict or just doesn't understand and that the children must be kept happy at all costs.

To see how important it is for the kids to have the things they want but not to be able to see that maybe the man who pays the bills really can't afford to indulge their every wish.

To help the children keep secrets from Dad because he "wouldn't understand."

TO WORRY OUT LOUD about the children every time she and her husband leave them.

To be more concerned about the health of her children than her husband's.

To ignore her husband's suggestions about the children's upbringing.

All of these things tell a man his wife is more interested in the children than she is in him.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

READER writes: "My husband has his own business here in town. His best customer, whom both of us know quite well through business dealings, is a very charming person and one we would like to have as a friend. His wife, however, is a complete stranger to us. My husband and I are planning several dinner and bridge parties in the near future and I would like to know if it would be proper to include them as guests at one of these parties?"

It would be well I think to ask him first whether his wife would like to come, and if so, you of course invite them both.

DEAR MRS. POST: On occasion, I have noted that some people, before drinking a toast, clink glasses. Is this correct, and what is the reason for doing this?

Answer: This custom dates back to long ago and is today not incorrect but neither is it obligatory, and should never be noisily done.

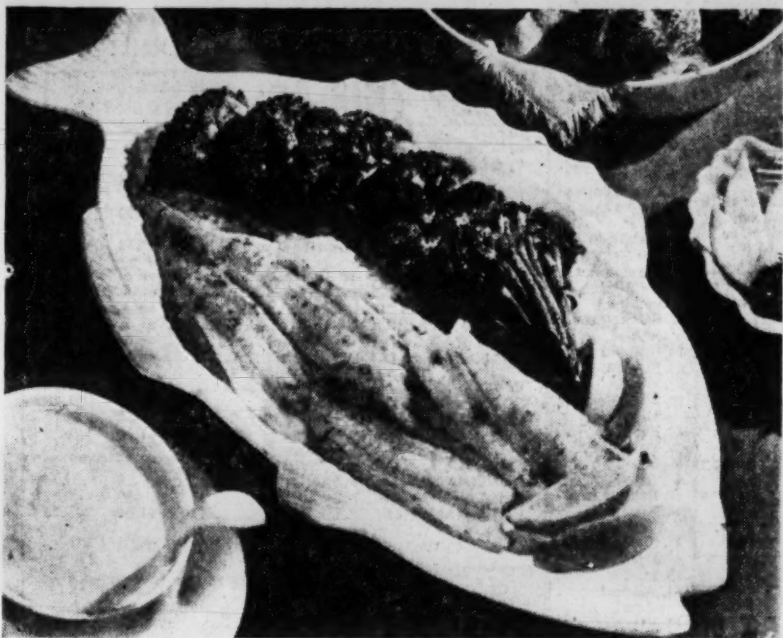

DEAR MRS. POST: Would it be wrong for me to speak to an attractive and respectable-looking young man whom I meet almost every day on my way to work? We both stare awkwardly at each other, but have no way of becoming acquainted, and so say nothing. May I speak to him and if so, how should I go about it, or should I wait for him to speak first?

Answer: You will have to speak first—he can't. You could say good morning to him when you meet and little by little you say more to each other and quite possibly, if you have interests in common, become friends.

Broiled Fish With Easy Sauce

By Edith M. Barber

BOTH FISH AND BROCCOLI CAN BE SERVED WITH A DELICIOUS DOUBLE-DUTY SAUCE THAT WILL MAKE AN INTERESTING MEAL QUICKER AND EASIER.

I AM convinced that the use of fresh fish has increased largely in the past few years. That may be the case only in big cities where so many seafood restaurants seem to have sprung up and achieved high popularity.

Patrons learned that good-quality fish, prepared to order, could indeed be delicious. Of course we can have just as good fish dishes prepared in the home kitchen if we can persuade the family to gather at the same moment, or to wait a few moments while the fish is cooked at the last minute.

For quick preparation we generally choose fillets, fresh or frozen, but ready for the pan. Broiling is an easy and good method of cooking. After the fillets have been dipped in melted butter or salad oil and seasoned, they should be laid on the greased rack of the broiler that has, of course, been preheated.

Cooking on one side is all that is necessary. Fish is so fragile that we usually get into trouble if we try to turn the thin pieces. They may be basted with extra fat during the cooking that will take no longer than five to eight minutes, depending of course upon the thickness.

A tart sauce is often chosen for service with fish. This may be a real hollandaise or a quick hollandaise in which some flour is used for thickening. This type of sauce does not need to be served as soon as it is finished.

Instead of the lemon juice, herb vinegar may be used for seasoning, if you like. Minced olives or pickles may also be added. A sauce is almost as important for fish as it is for pudding, if it is to meet the general taste of the family or the public.

Broiled Fish Strips. Cut two pounds of fillets into strips. Melt one-quarter cup butter or margarine. Add juice of half a lemon. Preheat broiler and grease rack. Lay fillets on rack, season and brush with lemon butter. Broil five to eight minutes, depending on thickness of fish, or until fish flakes easily when tested with fork. Do not turn. Baste once during the broiling.

Quick Hollandaise Sauce. Three tablespoons butter or margarine, two tablespoons flour, one cup hot water, one-half teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne pepper, one tablespoon lemon juice, yolks of two eggs. Melt butter in double boiler. Add flour and blend well. Add hot water gradually. Stir continuously until thickened. Add salt, cayenne and lemon juice. Leave sauce in double boiler over slow heat until ready to serve. Then pour over well-beaten egg yolks, stir thoroughly, reheat quickly and serve at once.

Sheer Crepe Dresses. Dark sheer crepe dresses are appearing in many sizes and in a variety of price groups. Many of them are completely lined with marquisette or other sheer materials. The crepe dress with white accents is featured extensively. White soutache braid trims several dresses. Others have bands of white at neckline and sleeves, or add ruffled collar and cuffs.

Tenseness Can Keep You Awake

By Josephine Lowman

MOST people who have trouble sleeping are too tense. This does not mean that if you live a busy life you are necessarily full of tensions or have difficulty wowing some shut-eye. It means that you have not learned to work and live in a relaxed manner. This is an art and requires thought and practice.

Some of the world's most tense people are those who have too much leisure. If you have too much time on your hands or too little responsibility, unless you have a tremendous drive or great mental curiosity or a vibrant love of life or keen individual interests, you are apt to retreat into yourself.

Then you worry about unimportant things dwell on personal disappointments, frustrations and failures in the past or present, lose the big perspective of life in general and develop all sorts of physical disability and fatigue, and probably insomnia. A big swift necessity to do or die often pulls such people out of the doldrums and revitalizes them.

BUT, thinking of the man or woman who has many responsibilities so that every day is brimming full of meaningful activity, of the man or woman who really has more to do than should be expected of anyone, learning to live and work in a relaxed mood can be the answer.

When we think of all that we must accomplish during a given day, week or month we are apt to tense up, even without knowing it. We tense up emotionally and we also increase the residual tension in our muscles and heaven knows what this all does to our glandular systems.

The important thing is to try to remember this all through each living day. You can rush sitting down in a taxi or while waiting for an appointment. BUT you could take these and many similar things each day to relax.

Also, you will accomplish much more each day with much less fatigue if you work in a relaxed way. Do you remember the old saying, "Haste makes waste?" I often have mentioned the fact that it is practically impossible to feel tense if your tongue is relaxed. Your eyes are also a source of fatigue.

SO, WHEN you go to bed at night, if you have trouble getting to sleep, try these simple measures. Place cool cotton pads over

Answers To Date Queries

By Elinor Williams

DATES and doubts . . . they seem to go together, because the mail brings date-questions galore. Perhaps today's queries match your own. Let's see.

Q—"I would like to know if a girl should meet her boyfriend's parents or should he meet hers first?"

A—A girl should always introduce her parents and boys she dates—on the very first date. It needn't be a prolonged, embarrassing session, but her parents should meet her date when he calls for her, so they'll know whom she's with, where they're going and a definite time-to-come-home should be understood by all . . . the girl, the boy and her parents.

A girl doesn't usually meet a boy's parents until they've been dating regularly for quite a while and his parents invite her to dinner, to Sunday night supper, a movie or something similar . . . or if the boy has a party at his home. In some communities, a girl is not invited to meet a boy's parents until they're engaged or planning to be. Then being invited to the boy's home has special meaning—a "serious" romance.

Q—"I'm a 14-year-old girl and a little bit overweight—I need to reduce my thighs, especially. I thought I might have more dates if I'm not overweight. What do you suggest?"

A—Some girls' figures are always heavier in some places, such as thighs, no matter how much they weigh. If you're not heavy elsewhere, easy exercises are better than a diet for "spot" reducing.

If you are really overweight, however, don't skip meals. Instead, omit fattening "trimmings" from your meals, leaving plenty of health-building food in your daily diet. Omit gravy, mayonnaise, whipped cream, gooey desserts and between-meal snacks, eating fruit and drinking fruit juice instead. Don't eat bread and potato in the same meal . . . one or the other. Avoid fried, greasy foods as much as possible. Drink fruit juice at the soda fountain.

Eggs Benedict start with poached eggs atop toasted English muffins and sliced ham. For a change serve Eggs Juneau with smoked salmon replacing the ham. Both are covered with Hollandaise sauce.

CHAPTER TWENTY

BEFORE, there had been defeat after defeat; now there were victories: Union Gen. George Thomas had destroyed Confederate Gen. Hood's army in Nashville that it could never again be effective. A telegram arrived on Christmas night from Gen. Sherman, saying, "I beg to present you, as a Christmas gift, Savannah."

Abraham Lincoln's greatest drive now was to replace his own emergency war measure with an amendment to the United States Constitution which would make Emancipation the permanent law of the land, and on Jan. 31 the Thirteenth Amendment passed the House. A 100-gun salute was fired over Washington. A procession came to the White House to serenade and thank President Lincoln. Abraham stood with Mary on the portico, waving to the crowd. During a lull in the music he turned to her and said matter-of-factly: "As affairs have turned out, it is the central act of my Administration and the great event of the nineteenth century."

Back inside he paced the library. "You know, Mary, I've always believed that all our states share in the responsibility for slavery. If the South would end the hostilities tomorrow, and voluntarily abolish slavery, I think the Federal Government should indemnify the owners. I've figured out the sum roughly: some $400,000,000 would do the job."

She said without looking up, "It would give the people of the South money to get on their feet again. . . . start working their plantations with employed labor. But with the war so nearly over, would the North be that magnanimous?"

"I'm going to propose it to the Cabinet in the morning."

He came to their sitting room the next day, after his Cabinet meeting, crestfallen. "Not a chance; they voted unanimously against the idea. We could have saved more battles and bloodshed; done much to eradicate the hatreds. . . . They were so bitterly opposed that I asked them to say nothing of my proposal."

Colder, Occasional Snow

Colder weather is in prospect for St. Louis tomorrow, with temperatures dropping even lower Sunday, Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren said today. He forecast occasional snow beginning late today and continuing into tomorrow when the high reading is expected to reach only the freezing mark. During a 24-hour period ended early today the area had 1.1 of an inch of rainfall accompanied by dense fog. Most of the country measured some precipitation during this period in the form of light rain, snow or freezing drizzle.

The freezing line this morning stretched across southwestern Arizona, northern New Mexico, the Texas panhandle and into Oklahoma. Zero readings extended into northwestern Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado. Maximum temperatures over the state yesterday ranged from 32 at Kirksville to 54 at Springfield and Malden. The nationwide range was from 5 below zero at Williston, N.D., to 83 at Dallas, Tex. The high reading in St. Louis was 46 just before midnight.

Low readings this morning for the state varied from 17 at St. Joseph to 49 at Malden. Over the nation the readings were from 32 below zero at Jamestown, N.D., to 71 at Miami and Key West, Fla.

Charles Forbes, who drove with the family so often to the theater, had permission to sit at the back of the box.

They had seen the play before, but Abraham was amused by the English description of Americans as 17 feet tall, with black hair reaching down to their heels, carrying tomahawks and scalping knives. Between acts they chatted without leaving the box.

After the opening of the third act it grew cold and drafty. Mary suggested that Abraham put on his overcoat. He rose, put on the coat, then sat down again in the horsehair rocker. Mary rested her elbow on his knee, gazing at him with a smile.

What will Miss Harris think of my hanging on you so?" Abraham smiled indulgently. "She won't think a thing about it, Mary."

There was a loud noise behind them, like an explosion. The box filled with white smoke. She saw Abraham's eyelids close, as though he were falling asleep. The affectionate smile faded into weariness as he swayed backward. The rocking chair, which had been leaning forward in intimacy as they whispered to each other, moved away from her.

A scream was wrenched from her throat. For the first time she was aware of another man in the box: black hair, black suit, the face familiar, the eyes

THE art of printing was known in Europe before the end of the Middle Ages. It was developed shortly before the year Christopher Columbus was born.

Q. If printing was invented in China more than a thousand years ago, why did it take so much time before it became known in Europe?

A. There is doubt about the right answer to that question, but in that period Asia was cut off from Europe to a large extent.

There is a theory that knowledge of printing was obtained by Crusaders who talked with Muslims in Palestine. This is hardly likely because too much time passed after the last Crusade before the first known printing was performed in Europe.

Other theories suggest that the Moors passed on knowledge of printing to the Christians in Spain, or that the Mongol armies of Genghis Khan transferred facts about printing to Europe during the thirteenth century.

None of those theories would seem to have much reason behind it. For the present, at least, we should admit that there is mystery about the way the knowledge of printing reached Europe.

Q. Was Gutenberg the first printer in Europe?

A. Sometimes an assertion like that is made, but most scholars agree that block books were printed in Europe a quarter of a century or more before Gutenberg set up a print shop. Most of the block printing in Europe was concerned with making copies of pictures. Usually a few words were carved under a picture to tell what it was about.

The letters in the words were carved in reverse. This was hard for anyone to learn to do, but it was necessary to make the printing come out right.

One early example of block printing in Europe is a picture of St. Christopher carrying the infant Jesus on his shoulders. This picture carries a date which shows that it was printed 533 years ago.

Maj. Rathbone hurried from his chair, struggled with the dark stranger so close to her she could feel the violence of their movements. She rose, hands pressed to her heart. There was the gleam of a knife, a slashing movement, a groan from Rathbone.

The dark man pushed between her and Abraham, jumped up on the railing of the box. Rathbone lunged past her, grappling for a hold. There was another slash of the long knife, then the dark man jumped to the stage below. Rathbone shouted:

"Stop that man! Stop him!" She fell to her knees in front of Abraham, reached up, took his face in her hands.

"Abraham, where are you hurt? What is it? Tell me!" His head fell forward into her hands. He did not speak or open his eyes. She felt his body begin to sag and she held him to her breast so that he could not fall. She heard Rathbone calling for a surgeon.

"Abraham, speak to me, tell me where you've been hurt." She could scarcely feel his breathing.

The door to the box was opened. A man in uniform rushed to her side. "Mrs. Lincoln, I'm Dr. Leale, surgeon from the General Hospital."

"Doctor, take charge of him," Dr. Leale and Rathbone, who was bleeding profusely from an arm wound, lifted Abraham from the chair and laid him on the carpeted floor. She stood above them her heart pounding. . . . clot of blood on shoulder . . . may be a stab wound . . . slit the coat and shirt . . .

The box filled with people: Laura Keane, trying to comfort her, young Dr. Charles Sabin Taft, still more doctors. She watched Dr. Leale trying to breathe air into Abraham's lungs, pour a little brandy down his throat.

"Can't we take him home?" she pleaded.

"I'm afraid not, Mrs. Lincoln; the President would die before we got him to the White House."

"Die! Abraham die?" She sank to her knees, put an arm under Abraham's head, raised him to her. Where her right hand held his head firmly against her, she felt something wet and sticky. She brought it up slowly, saw a bluish blood. She stared at it in silence, uncomprehending, then raised her eyes to the doctors who were watching her. After a pause Dr. Leale said:

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Lincoln. The President was shot . . . in the back of the head."
